

MCHS holds annual meeting

By Delpha Jones

The Morrow County Historical Society (MCHS) met at the Lexington Grange Hall on Sept. 30 for their annual meeting. A potluck turkey dinner was held, followed by the business meeting and program.

The meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Clarence Buchanan, and the opening prayer, by Don Eppenbaugh. The minutes of the last year's annual meeting were read. Reports were heard considering the "Chronicles" published each year, which are available for sale at various places.

It was announced that there are several century farms in the county, but the owners have not applied for the recognition and plaque. Many in the group hope that these farms will be recognized. Information is available at the courthouse and from Jean Nelson, a member of the committee.

Marsha Sweek reported on activities at the Morrow County Museum.

The state of cemetery headstones was discussed. Some of the ornate stones at the cemeteries are falling over and have become damaged. The county court has offered to help set these up again, but the stones are the property of the families and cannot be set again without the consent of the family. Anyone who knows of the families or heirs to these people is asked to contact the MCHS and perhaps they can be reset.

A report was given on the bus trip to Newport and other various other places where the group traveled. The group attended a parade, saw Keiko and hear Barbara Mandrell sing at a casino.

Don Eppenbaugh gave a report on the boat at the port which is on display and a report on the Lewis and Clark bicentennial, with plans and other work underway.

The steel bridge has a new deck and the dates have been have been repainted by the Morrow County road crew.

Margaret Rutledge of The Dalles won the prize for being the oldest woman at the meeting.

The nominating committee recommended that Barbara Bloodworth and Kathryn Hoskins be reelected and the member from north Morrow County be appointed by the board of directors.

Music for the afternoon was provided by Steve Ferebee of Irrigon, who entertained with western songs.

Speaker for the afternoon was Fritz Cramer, who showed slides of Celilo Falls before the dams and gave the pointers on the new Discovery Center in The Dalles. He was accompanied from The Dalles with his wife, and former Morrow County resident Paul Tewes.

Marriage Licenses

The Morrow County Clerk's office at the courthouse in Heppner reports issuing the following marriage license during the past week:

Oct. 1: William Earl Steach, 35, Oak Harbor, WA.; and Deana Kay Jones, 34, Irrigon.
