Centennial Exchange underway

The Heppner Junior High-Centennial Middle School eighth-grade exchange is underway this week.

During the exchange Heppner eighth-graders spend a week living in the Portland area and attending Centennial Middle School and Centennial eighth-graders live in the Heppner-Lexington area and attend school at Heppner Junior High. The Centennial students are hosted mostly by HJH seventh-graders and their families.

The week's activities include: a Wheat League presentation at Starvation Farms; a Kinzua history exhibit and video at the Heppner library; a visit to the Morrow County Museum and flood video; a Kinzua lumber tour; a Forest Service presentation; a hot dog feed at Anson Wright Park; a tour of the Rietmann ranch; lunch at the fairgrounds by the Livestock Growers Association; a rodeo presentation; a tour of north Morrow County and lunch at the Boardman Marina; a potluck dinner with hosting families; and a dance Friday night.

Lexington.

"We are privileged to have many talented people in south Morrow County who use and share their abilities so others can enjoy as well," said Pastor Anderson. "When it comes to the Singpiration it is full of talent for us to enjoy and sing along with. If you have talent or the desire to share with the group please come prepared to do so. If you don't have the talent but just enjoy music come on in and join the crowd. We mix the special numbers with the audience's choices out of the regular hymn book, country western hymnal or the chorus on overheads. It is our desire to provide the people of the area with the opportunity to get together with others' religious preferences without showing preference. We take the time after the Singpiration to share with others a few kind words and a few cookies. Hope to see you there."
