

Historical Society holds meeting

By Delpha Jones

Morrow County Historical Society meeting was held recently at the Lexington Grange Hall.

After the turkey dinner, a business meeting was held. Harold Peck was voted in by the directors as an honorary member. New directors elected were Diane Kincaid and Fran Barnett of Ione.

The next board meeting will be held in the north end of the county.

The county court members present were introduced and thanked for their courtesies over the past year and those running for office were introduced.

A report was heard on the trip last year to the coast and a visit to see Keiko. Memberships were available for both local and state. A report on the wagon trail was heard and plans for the planned celebration of the Lewis and Clark trail in 2003 was discussed.

Reports were heard on the museum and on the unmarked grave sites. The committee for this project is Louis Carlson and Jean Nelson.

Recognized as the oldest member present was Mrs. T.E. Messenger. Traveling farthest were Don Campbell at 190 miles and field service representative Rick Read from Portland at 210 miles. Century Farm awards, both state and local, were presented to Tony and Martha Doherty, and the Oscar Peterson Farm.

The program was presented by Joy Christianson, who had an interesting program and diaries from one-room schoolhouse teachers. She also entertained with mouth harp musical selections and told stories of early cowgirls and life in a log cabin and dugouts. Sage, her dog, was introduced.

EOU students volunteer in community

Fifteen Eastern Oregon University (EOU) students donated a day's labor to a local community support service during orientation week exercises--instead of bicycling, hiking or attending a geology field trip.

The opportunity to do community volunteer work was offered to incoming EOU students as an optional activity for Monday, Sept. 21. Twelve new students and three EOU student ambassadors, who assist with new student recruitment, signed up for the option and helped at La Grande's "Shelter from the Storm", which assists victims of domestic violence.

Those who volunteered included Tina Chinen of Heppner and Jaime Ford of Irrigon.

Students helped "Shelter From the Storm" move to new offices--cleaning, organizing and moving furniture--and also helped a needy client with yard work.

John Mollahan in good condition after undetermined illness campaign team, initial fears of a heart attack or a neck injury were not substantiated. Mollahan, who is undergoing tests at OHSU, is reported to be doing well and his prognosis good. Kemp said Tuesday that Mollahan is expected to be back in Morrow County shortly and is planning to continue his

In the Service

Navy Seaman Don H. Huffman, son of Donald and LuAnn Huffman of Boardman, recently graduated from the Basic Enlisted Submarine Course at the Naval Submarine School in Groton, Conn.

During the five-week course, Huffman learned the basic theory, construction, and operation of nuclear-powered submarines. Huffman also learned shipboard organization, damage control and submarine safety and escape procedures.

Huffman participated in hands-on training with reality simulators, practicing fire-fighting and flood control on board a submarine. Huffman also learned about a submarine's basic hydraulic, water and air systems and practiced escaping from a simulated sinking submarine.

With nearly 50 percent of the Navy's ships and submarines deployed at any given time, Huffman will spend roughly a quarter of his first enlistment at sea.

The 1997 graduate of Riverside High School joined the Navy in May 1998.
