Time to nominate citizen of the year

The Heppner Chamber of Commerce announces the time has arrived to nominate the man, woman, business and educator of the year for 1998. Applications are available at the offices of Kuhn, Spicer, and Mills, at the Heppner Chamber of Commerce, or call the Chamber at 676-5536.

"Take a moment and you will see them-men, women, educators, business-going that extra step because they care," said Chamber manager Claudia Hughes. "They're behind the scenes pulling events together, helping people and organizations, keeping our community looking good, going the extra mile. There are many wonderful people in south Morrow County who deserve to be recognized. Now is the time to act before holiday activities fill your time," added Hughes.

The Chamber of Commerce awards will be given during the annual Town and Country event, Thursday, January 14, 1999.

Chamber Chatter
By Claudia Hughes, Chamber Manager

"The times, they are a changing." Just look around at the new faces and places. Kuhn, Spicer, Mills and Morrow County Abstract have undergone a facelift. Looks great. Then there's Corbin's Bowl ... what a spot for a sixties party. The restaurant has taken on a new look. The only thing missing is the juke box. Check it out.

New managers at the motel; TKO is expanding with Ruggs Ranch Bed and Breakfast; new owners at Green Feed; fix up those boots or have some custom made at Wall's custom leather goods; new faces at the BP station. Sure will miss having my car cleaned inside when it went to Cal for attention. We appreciate you, Cal, for great customer service. We can all learn from you. We're not happy to be losing Miller's Mini-Mart and have put on our thinking caps... If you're a new business in town, stop by the Chamber office and introduce yourself-helps keep us on our toes. Welcome and here's to your future in Heppner.

Valuable lessons may be learned from the long-timers in Heppner. Chamber is proud to have Jim Farley, Frank Anderson and Irv Rauch still on the membership roster. They were active in the beginnings of the Chamber some 50 years ago and are still behind the organization. What changes they have seen. Randall Peterson takes the honor of being in business the longest and a great business it is.

It's both a treat and learning experience to take time to visit with our very important "long-timers".

Looking back... looking forward. That's what it's all about. We have much to be thankful for as Thanksgiving Day approaches and we move toward year end. The Chamber and retailers are working on the second best ever light parade in Heppner, to be held on Thursday, Dec. 3. Get ready, get set to celebrate together and have community fun.

Marks from page one who resigned the post in early December to go to work for the Cow Creek Band of the Umpqua Indian Tribe.

Prior to that time, Marks had been city manager of Heppner, the county seat of Morrow County, for seven years.

Marks starting salary was $62,868 per year plus a car allowance and $2,000 for moving expenses.

Artifactory set this Saturday, Nov. 21

The Artifactory, the annual holiday gift and craft fair, sponsored by the Soroptimist International of Heppner, will be held this Saturday, November 21, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Morrow County Fair Pavilion in Heppner.

Besides homemade crafts, gifts and baked goods, the fair will feature door prizes, a children's activity corner and lunch served by the Soroptimists.

The $2 admission will go toward youth scholarships.

New 4-H dairy club organized

Are you interested in raising a dairy calf? Why not consider joining a new 4-h dairy cattle club?

An organizational meeting is being planned for next month. The club will elect officers and plan the next year's agenda.

All members of the club will raise and prepare a dairy animal for show at the Morrow County Fair. Unlike market animals which are sold at fair, a dairy heifer may be shown for several years consecutively or raised as a dairy replacement, said organizer Faith Healy.

4-H is available to anyone in Morrow County in grades four through 12.

For more information call Healy, 676-5762, or Bill Broderick at the 4-H Extension office, 676-9642.
