

Caledonian Games planned

The 100th anniversary of the Athena Caledonian Games July 10-11 means that ancient traditions of the Scottish heritage have been preserved, honored and recreated annually.

Traditions of the tartan, caber toss, the Scottish dances are all the same as they were hundreds of years ago. People came together at Highland games to share, worship and compete in friendly feats of strength.

1898 saw the creation of a Umatilla County Caledonian Society for the purpose of preserving Athena's Scottish tradition. Special trains were chartered to bring people to Athena where they participated in the first picnic and games held in 1899. The Highland games continued in Athena annually until 1914.

In the manner of the Highland games of 100 years ago, Athena's festivities of 1999 begin with a parade on Saturday morning, to be followed by dancing, piping and Scottish athletic heavy events competitions.

Sheep dog trials with about 48 dogs working the sheep throughout a difficult course show the working relationship between dogs and handler. Pipe bands march to show off their talents on the field while playing traditional tunes. There is a 5K race, horseshoe tournaments, Celtic harp performances, golf, Scottish stories and an afternoon of fiddling on stage by Nolan Murray and the fiddling group the Reel Fling. There is a full lineup of music for the Scottish clansman or the spectator. "Anyone can enter the athletic events, so step right up and try the rolling pin toss and the caber toss," said a news release.

A Friday night outdoor-concert will kick-off the festival. The Celtic band called Raven from Portland will perform. Raven blends fiddle, voices, guitars and bagpipes in both traditional Scottish and a contemporary sound. This is a command performance for Athena's Caledonian Games as they are returning the second year. "You will enjoy their humor and their musicianship Friday, July 9, at 8:00 p.m. in the athletic field of the Athena high school," said the release. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $8.

"The mellow sound of Rob Barrick's bagpipes and Laurie Byers' smooth presence and singing style will lull you and cajole you," said organizer Sue Friese of Athena. "You'll love hearing this group."

The Caledonian Games festival is family-oriented and colorful, with all the beautiful tartans. It accentuates youth in dancing and piping competitions. It is free and open to the public until the Saturday evening Tattoo at 6:30 p.m. Admission for the Tattoo is $3 per person.

Commemorative coverlets depicting the essence of the Blue Mountains, the sheepdog and a Scottish piper and dancer are featured on a 100 percent cotton coverlet. It measures about 50" x 70" and may be purchased at the Caledonian Games souvenir booth.

Maryhill free to Morrow County residents

Maryhill Museum of Art invites residents of Morrow Grant Gilliam and Wheeler counties to visit free during July.

Persons who reside in those counties need only present their driver's license to receive complimentary admission during July.

This is the seventh year the museum has offered this incentive to its neighbors. "Summer is a great time to visit the museum and the Columbia Gorge," said Josie De Falla, director. "This is our way of adding to the fun and pleasure of a family outing."

Visitors in July can view A Gathering: Native American Art from the Pamplin Collection. Exhibited publicly for the first time, this collection surveys 200 years of Plateau and Crow artifacts that represent American Indian horse cultures of the greater west and includes many historic photographs from the museum's collection.

Also of special note is Beauty In The Beast, an exhibit that examines the changing views of animals as expressed in paintings and sculptures.

"Animals were most likely the first images represented in art," said De Falla. "Their appeal has fascinated artists in every age and culture."

The exhibit consists of works from the museum's permanent collection as well as by contemporary artists, including Deborah Butterfield and Andy Warhol.

Additionally during July, visitors can view Quiet Cadence: American Portraits. The portraits, all of women of varying ages and from diverse walks of life, share a unifying meditative mood.

The Contemporary Northwest Artists Series for July includes an outdoor sculpture exhibit featuring large scale works by Michael Dennis, British Columbia, Devin L. Field and Lee Imonen, both Oregon, James Lee Hansen, Ann Morris, Jeff Tangen and Ana Rosa Verlaine, all Washington.

In addition there are four pure white peacocks in the museum's flock of over 30 roaming about the grounds.

This year's permanent collection highlights include Theatre de la Mode Favoritis featuring French haute couture of 1946. These fashion mannequins are posed within dramatic theatrical sets. There are four sets with over 50 dresses on display.

Maryhill Museum, a castle-like mansion overlooking the Columbia River Gorge, is located 100 miles east of Portland on Washington Scenic Route 14 and is open daily, including holidays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Cafe Maryhill serves gourmet coffee, deli food and desserts. A gift shop features original Native American jewelry, books, post cards, posters, t-shirts, gifts and memorabilia.

Ione reading program underway

The Ione Public Library will be having their summer reading program again this summer. The theme this year is "Reading is a Magic Trip."

The program will be for all ages of children, including pre-readers who can earn a certificate for reading together with an adult.

The program will start on June 30 and run for six weeks. The first day will be a dress-up party when the children can come to the library dressed as a favorite book character. In the past they have had Pippi Longstockings, Amelia Earhart and Blackbeard the Pirate at the parties.

The day's activities start at 2 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Even if children cannot be at the first party they are welcome to take part in the rest of the program.

Those planning to participate may stop by the library on any regular day and pick up the reading forms. At the end of the summer prizes will be given to all the children who complete the program.

The library is open Monday and Wednesday from 3-5 and Saturday from 1-4.
