

Fair underway this week

Piggyback

Most of us have heard the story of Charlotte's Web, about Charlotte, the spider, and her close relationship with Wilbur, the "terrific" fair pig. . . but a pig and a dog? Walter, the dog, sits piggyback on her own terrific fair pig during the 1998 Morrow County Fair. Allison Halvorsen of Lone is owner of both Walter and the pig.

Council approves neighborhood enhancement

Library considers making a move

By Becky Breazeale
The Heppner City Council, at its August 9 meeting, approved a new neighborhood enhancement program.

The program is being established to enhance public improvements and further beautification within the city. One example of how this project would work is the repair of damaged sidewalks.

Damage is often a result of overgrown tree roots or normal wear and tear. If a property owner is found to have a damaged sidewalk, he or she will be able to have this repaired with the help of volunteers and city equipment.

The homeowners would be responsible for obtaining the material needed to do the work, but the city will provide the equipment required and volunteers will do the actual replacement of the sidewalk. Also, the volunteers will be trained to use city equipment and the city will provide liability and worker's compensation insurance for all those that help.

"Any repair work needed to the sidewalks is the responsibility of the adjacent property owner. By utilizing this program, property owners can now have their sidewalks repaired for a modest cost," said Heppner City Manager Jerry Breazeale.

For more information, call city hall at 676-9618.

Gilbert Chavez, director of the Oregon Trail Library District, was present at the meeting to discuss the issue of moving the library to a larger facility. The prospect of building a new facility on the vacant lot located next to the Shoe Box was discussed. This property is presently owned by the city of Heppner.

One idea was that this piece of property would house a two-story building that would be used by both the library and city hall. The current city hall is in need of costly repairs and the city of Heppner is weighing its options as to whether it would be more cost effective to upgrade the current facility or to build a new one.

Chavez gave the council an estimated cost for this project at roughly $700,000 which would be financed through a combination of grants, gifts and loans. The estimated time frame for this project would be approximately three years.

BEO co-sponsors leadership workshop

Over 600 student leaders from around the state attended the Oregon Association of Student Council's Summer Leadership Workshops in late July, with the help of the Independent Community Banks of Oregon. This is the seventh year that ICBO has co-sponsored the workshops, which have provided leadership training to high school and middle school students for over 20 years.

The Bank of Eastern Oregon, an ICBO member, helped co-sponsor. The two high school workshops, held at Willamette University in Salem, offered sessions on communication, organization and time management, ethical decision-making, goal setting and project planning. Students planned and presented projects that they can take back to their schools and communities.

ICBO President, Dallas Enger, CEO of Linn-Benton Bank in Albany, attended one of the workshop banquets, where he gave a brief address to the students.

The middle school workshop, held at Aldersgate Conference Center, near Salem, offers activity-based sessions for beginning leaders. They also had a variety of guest speakers.

ICBO has 49 member banks around the state serving their local communities.

Carl: I bet I've driven a rig full of chickens through every town in Oregon.

Pelican: Guess somebody has to show those flightless fowls the sights.

Carl: And y'know, everywhere I go I see you and your friendly bank.

Pelican: Yep, we've landed in a lot of places besides Klamath Falls lately.

Carl: Maybe I'll look you up when I head to Garibaldi next week.

Pelican: Til then, fly low and avoid the radar.

After more than 60 years of serving Oregonians like you, we've got a pretty good idea of the challenges, hopes and dreams people have around here. We've learned that having a trusted banking relationship at the right place and the right time can go a long way in helping you realize your dreams. That's why you'll find Klamath First Federal in 35 locations throughout the state. Visit the one in your neighborhood today.

We'd be honored.
