Weed Board invites project applications

The Oregon State Weed Board (OSWB) is seeking applicants to apply for funding for noxious weed control projects related to watershed enhancement.

This is the third and final grant cycle for the 1999-01 biennium. The OSWB will have approximately $400,000 to allocate in this funding cycle. The next application deadline is Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Applications must be received by the OSWB at 635 Capitol St. NE, Salem, Oregon 97301-2532 by 5 p.m. on Jan. 16.

E-mail submissions will not be accepted since original signatures are required. However, applications may be faxed to (503) 986-4737, but must be immediately followed up with an original.

Applications should be for projects that begin no sooner than March 1, 2001, and have significant project progress made by June 30, 2001. Final project reports will be due by September 30, 2001.

Applicants need to use the new grant application, which is now available on OSWB's website: http://www.oda.state.or.us/Plant/weed_control/OSWB_grant_app.pdf. The grant application can be downloaded, filled out and printed. Hard copies of the application is also available upon request.

For questions about how to apply for OSWB grant funds or whether projects fit the OSWB criteria, contact Dawn Zielinski, program assistant, at (503) 986-4621 or e-mail at: dzielinski@oda.state.or.us.

Ag producers seminar planned

Blue Mountain Community College will offer an "Excel for Agricultural Producers Seminar" in Heppner on Tuesday and Thursday, January 16 and 18, from 4-7 p.m. at the Heppner High School.

This short course is designed for the ag producer who wants to learn how to use and manipulate spreadsheets. "Electronic spreadsheets are an essential tool for today's agri-businesses that allow a personalized approach to recording and analyzing data for accurate business decisions," said a spokesperson.

This hands-on computer lab course will start with basic computer and spreadsheet operation and continue to formatting spreadsheets for personal use. Existing templates that are available for farm and ranch use will also be examined.

Cost of the course is $30. Class fees will be reduced for enrolled BMCC farm business management students.

Enrollment is limited to 12 students, so pre-registration is required. Contact Anne Morter, BMCC coordinator for South Morrow County, 422-7040, for more information.

School report cards out Jan. 18

Oregon's second annual school and district report cards will be released by Superintendent of Public Instruction Stan Bunn on January 18, according to an Oregon School Boards Association news release.

All reports will be issued on Jan. 18, according to the release. Each school will receive ratings of exception, strong, satisfactory, low or unacceptable. The reports note student performance on state tests, student attendance and dropout rates, SAT scores and teacher education.

District report cards include a list of each school's overall rating; student performance district-wide, information on ethnicity and staff characteristics. The Oregon Department of Education was required to issue the reports by the 1999 Legislature starting last year.
