

Lewis and Clark show Friday

Daniel Slosburg will perform as member of Lewis and Clark expedition.

The music of the Lewis and Clark Expedition will come to life this Friday, Oct. 19, at 1 p.m. at the Heppner Elementary School Gym. Professional musician and actor, Daniel Slosburg, will perform his one-man show about the life of Pierre Cruzatte, a member of the expedition. Playing fiddle, jew's harp, bones, spoons and other instruments of the Lewis and Clark Expedition,

Slosburg "takes his audience on a musical journey that includes humorous and exciting stories about the adventures Cruzatte had while on the trail."

Slosburg performs his program at school assemblies and community programs around the country.

Admission is $1 for students and $2 for adults. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Heppner Junior High Ponies overcome Pilot Rock, 32-20

By Rick Paullus

The Heppner Ponies survived some big scoring plays by the visiting Pilot Rock Rockets to win 32-20 on Thursday, Oct. 11, to improve to 3-1-1 on the year.

The Ponies will play their final game on Friday, Oct. 19, at Athena-Weston at 3 p.m.

The Ponies got on the board in the first quarter when Matthew Van Cleave blocked a punt which was recovered at the Rocket eight-yard line. Kyle Carlson scored from five yards out and Peter Geer kicked the extra point to make it 7-0.

On the Ponies' next possession, Riley Wight caught a pass from Quinn Peck and ran 40 yards before being brought down, but the drive stalled. When the Ponies got the ball back, Carlson scored again on a 25-yard run and Geer kicked the extra point to make it 14-0 at halftime.

The Ponies took the second half kick-off and drove down the field on good running by Carlson, Matt Kenny and Nathan Kennedy, with Carlson capping the drive with a one-yard run. The kick was no good and the Ponies now led 20-0.

The Rockets got on the board quickly as they returned the ensuing kick-off 70 yards for a touchdown and converted the two-point conversion to get within 20-8.

On the Ponies' next possession, a fumble was returned 55 yards for a touchdown by the Rockets. After the conversion try was stopped, the score was 20-14.

The Ponies scored again early in the fourth on a seven-yard run by Kody Lovgren to make it 26-14.

The Rockets weren't done though, as they ran a fake punt 57 yards for another touchdown. Casey Maben made a good tackle on the conversion try to keep the score at 26-20 midway through the fourth quarter.

Carlson scored his fourth touchdown on a fourth down run of 47 yards as time ran out, making the final score 32-20.

Van Cleave, Geer, Sam Martin and Maben had good games at defense for the Ponies.

HES students to donate to Red Cross

The students at Heppner Elementary School are joining with students around America to show their concern and compassion for those Americans most severely touched by the terrorist tragedy.

Each HES child has been asked to bring one dollar to donate to the Red Cross. The young people are encouraged to donate their own dollars, not to ask for one from a parent. Some students are digging into piggy banks or returning 20 cans to the store for that dollar or raking leaves in a neighbor's yard.

A challenge has been made to Heppner High School to see which student body can raise the most dollars by Nov. 1.

Donation cans have been decorated and placed in businesses in Heppner and Lexington. The cans carry the slogan: "Help make a change in America!" Townspeople are encouraged to donate spare change which will be donated to the relief effort. In addition to the cans, there is a large jar at Heppner Elementary for the same purpose.

Several students have taken on the chore of fund-raising outside of the school setting. A can drive is being organized by several fifth and sixth grade students. Other students are organizing a bake sale, and still others a raffle. Watch for posters giving details of these upcoming events.

The staffs of Heppner Elementary and Heppner High are donating new gloves to be sent to a homeless shelter in New York City. "Hopefully the gloves will help ward off the winter cold winds of New York," said organizer Jannie Allen. Anyone who would like to donate a pair of gloves, may drop them off at either HES or HHS.

Eastern Oregon receives OLCC monies

Nine eastern Oregon counties and the 55 cities in those counties received $123,847 as their share of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission's August 2001 revenue disbursement.

The OLCC's total statewide allocation - based on population - was $8.48 million for August; $4.44 million went to the state general fund, $792,148 to Oregon's 36 counties, and $1.58 million was distributed among its 239 cities. The state Dept. of Administrative Services' city revenue sharing account received $1.11 million.

Fifty percent of the taxes collected on wine and malt beverages, $542,089, went to alcohol and drug-use prevention and treatment activities funded by the state Office of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Programs. The Oregon Wine Advisory Board received $14,445 from a special base of two cents of the 67 cents a gallon tax on all wines made or imported into the state.

The OLCC generates revenue through the sale of distilled spirits at its 237 stores, privilege taxes on beer and wine, license fees, and fines for liquor law violations.

The county allocations are: Baker, pop. 16,750, $3,861; Grant, 7,950, $1,832; Harney, 7,600, $1,752; Lake, 7,450, $1,717; Malheur, 31,750, $7,318; Morrow, 11,100, $2,558; Umatilla, 70,850, $16,330; Union, 24,550, $5,659; and Wallowa, 7,250, $1,671.

In Morrow County, Boardman received $2,006.70; Heppner, $961.97; Ione, $224.12; Irrigon, $1,199.88; Lexington, $182.74.
