Economic development summit

The first annual Northeast Oregon Workforce/Economic Development Summit has been planned for Monday, February 4, from 5-7 p.m. at the Milton-Freewater Community Building, 505 Ward, Milton-Freewater.

Umatilla and Morrow counties elected officials, Chamber of Commerce members, leaders of the work force, business owners and economic development personnel are invited to attend.

According to a news release, the goal of the meeting is to learn what economic development/work force resources are available, discuss regional problem solving approaches and to meet with others involved in economic development and work force issues.

Guest speakers will be Jill A. Miles, Oregon State economic and community development regional officer, and Bill Demestihias, executive director of the Oregon Consortium and the Oregon Workforce Alliance.

Dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. Those planning to attend are asked to RSVP to 541-276-9050, extension 230.

Those wishing to send written materials about their organizations may mail them to D. Schneek, R12WIB 408 S.E. 7th Street, Pendleton, OR 97801, to be received by January 25. The information will be placed in a notebook for all attendees. A display table will also be available for additional handouts and business cards.

Economic group lays out goals

The Willow Creek Valley Economic Development Group has spelled out its goals for the year 2002, and they include, among other things, continued efforts to attract new businesses to the area.

Those efforts will include helping the Port of Morrow find tenants for the South Morrow Industrial Park; completing the marketing plan that targets light manufacturing companies that may be enticed to move here; targeting for recruitment businesses in Oregon and Washington; researching the opportunity to purchase for relocation a business that provides employment and to try and capitalize on North Morrow County development to maximize "spin-off" opportunities in the area.

In the area of business retention the group wants to work to improve business opportunities and provide educational opportunities to existing businesses in the area through the BMCC Small Business Development Center.

To help with housing the group plans to research expansion of the urban growth boundary and relaxing of zoning regulations, to encourage land development possibilities for site-built and manufactured housing; pave the way for people to build and develop overnight facilities in South Morrow County, including motel and bed and breakfast opportunities, and, through the cooperative efforts of local commuters, market south county housing opportunities to employees of north Morrow County and West Umatilla County.

The group also pledged to work on better communications with other economic development groups and cities in the area, start a quarterly newsletter, issue more press releases on the group's activities and monitor websites for accuracy and timeliness.

A membership drive is also planned for next year. The group wishes to increase membership by 25 percent.

Anyone who wishes to become a member of Willow Creek Valley Economic Development Group may contact Marsha Kemp. Dues are $25 per year.

An annual meeting of WCVEDG is scheduled for Jan. 23 at noon at John's Other Place in Heppner. Everyone is invited to attend.
