Sunflower Junction opened its doors to an excited lone on July 15. Partners and co-owners, Lynn Dee Ramos and Shilo Svetich, offer a variety of services to Morrow County in their business located in the newly finished Wheatland Building.

The new shop features a hair salon, waxing and tanning, as well as a gift shop with Mylar and latex balloons. The ladies serve coffee drinks, Italian sodas and other drinks in their Espresso Shop and offer Tillamook ice cream.

Another service Ramos and Svetich provide is light bookkeeping. "We do accounts payable and receivable, general ledger, any light bookkeeping...but no taxes!" said Ramos.

Crew's goal is 60 percent recycling

Phil Hilton of McCormack Construction, the construction company contracted to demolish the old Heppner High School building, says that some community members have expressed concerns over the proper way to dispose the material from the demolition. According to Hilton, all construction debris is to be tub-ground and hauled to an approved DEQ dumpsite. Clean-fill material such as concrete, brick and aged asphalt is going to various ranch sites to be used as clean-fill material at no charge to the ranchers or to the community. All salvageable items are being recycled. Torgeson Trucking, the company responsible for hauling away the debris, and McCormack Construction have a joint goal of reusing and recycling 60 percent of the material.

Heppner's Mural Society has 200 limited edition prints of Main Street to be given as gifts to those who would like to make a donation to the Mural Committee in care of the Farm Foundation. The smaller prints will be given to individuals or businesses that donate $200 and larger prints will be given for $300 donations.

The donations will fund the painting of a mural of the same scene on the Agricultural Museum building in Heppner. The mural will be 17' by 100'. Robert Walton, a well-known artist from Levinworth, WA, used pictures from the Morrow County Museum to recreate a Main Street scene from 1903. From the original painting, 200 prints were made, all with their own print number, matte and frame. The original, framed painting will be given to the first individual or business to make a $6,000 donation. The Morrow County Arts and Crafts group raised the money to have the prints made.

Four buildings in the painting are still standing today: the building where Klamath First bank is now was once the First National Bank; the Murray's Drug building was The Rock, a tavern; Gardener's Men's Wear was the post office and the IOOF building was just that in 1903.

The Mural Society will display the prints at a booth by the museum during Celebrate Historic Heppner on Friday, July 26.

Attention all cooks

Fair is fast approaching. Now is the time to be thinking about entering baked goods in the fair.

There are categories for breads, cakes, cookies, pies, candy, doughnuts, party desserts and baking with honey. Food items should be on a paper plate and placed in a plastic bag. Pies will be refrigerated and may be taken home after judging. One slice will be placed on a paper plate for display. Cakes do not have to be baked in a nine-inch cake pan. However the exhibit will consist of 1/2 of a whole cake.

Gift baskets may also be entered. Each basket must contain at least five homemade items; at least three must be food items, decorated in a container or basket.

Men have their own division and are encouraged to enter. Youth may also enter under Young Adults (ages 14-17) or Juniors (7-13).

There are four "Oregon's Best" categories: The County's Best Shrimp Salad, Hurst's Summer Blueberry Cupcakes, Bob's Best Home Baked Bread and Super Muffins with Santiam. See the premium fair book, pages 50-52, for rules and special prizes that will be awarded for each.

Shamrock will be ready for fair

All others will be "green with envy" when the Shamrock at the intersection of Main and Willow Streets receives a fresh coat of paint this Thursday, July 24. Craig Canham, public works director, said the city of Heppner plans to paint the Shamrock between 6 a.m. and 2 p.m., depending on the weather. The first person to drive or walk across the newly painted, (and dried), clover will have good luck the rest of the year.

"Thanks for clearing the air at work, Oregon."

I can remember days where I could see the smoke in my office hanging near the ceiling tiles. But with the Oregon Smokefree Workplace Law, it's a thing of the past. No more dirty ashtrays. No more butts in the sink. And no more secondhand smoke.

Because now smoking doesn't work in Oregon. And I'm breathing a lot easier.
