Scholarships available continued from page one

"Students with leadership abilities and an interest in agriculture are needed to fill a variety of positions in our industry," said Annette Degnan, scholarship committee chairperson. "The Careers in Agriculture scholarship program helps promising students gain the education they need to secure these positions."

Since its formation 13 years ago, the Careers in Agriculture scholarship program has awarded more than $350,000 in scholarships to rural youth.

To qualify for the program, students must meet the following criteria: be a high school senior planning to enroll in a two- or four-year livestock- or agronomy-related curriculum in the fall of 2003; demonstrate both leadership abilities and academic performance; and write an essay describing why he or she is interested in an agricultural career.

Applications are available from participating local cooperatives or on the Agrilience web site (www.agrilience.com) in the Careers section or the Land O' Lakes Feed web site (www.lolfeed.com). All applications must be postmarked by March 3, 2003. Winners will be notified in May. For more information or to request an application, call 800-232-3639, ext. 4584.

Agrilience, LLC, St. Paul, Minn., is an agronomy marketing joint ventured formed by Land O' Lakes, Inc., CHS Cooperatives, and Farmland Industries, Inc. Agrilience markets crop nutrients, crop protection products, seed (through Croplan Genetics), information management, and crop technical services to farmers and ranchers through local cooperatives and independent dealers in all 50 states, Canada and Mexico.

Croplan Genetics is a full-line seed company serving Agrilience, LLC. Seed is marketed in 32 states, primarily in the northern half of the United States and Canada.

Land O' Lakes Feed, LLC is a national farmer-owned agricultural cooperative serving more than one million producers and their families through 2,800 community cooperatives throughout the United States.

One-man show coming to Condon

Pierre Cruzatte: A Musical Journey Along The Lewis & Clark Trail is a one-man show by Daniel Slosberg, presented by LBArts, CoArts and The American Legion Post #25 Thursday, Oct. 17, at the Condon High School multi-purpose room. Admission is $2 per person, $5 for a family of three or more. Refreshments will be served.

Slosberg portrays the true-life adventures of Pierre Cruzatte, the main boatman and fiddler of the Lewis and Clark expedition, highlighting the crucial role that Cruzatte's music played in the success of the expedition.

Slosberg takes his play to schools, libraries, theatres, museums and historical sites throughout the United States. In 1997, Ken Burns' Lewis and Clark documentary aired on PBS and Slosberg's life changed forever. Upon learning that Lewis and Clark had a fiddle player, he embarked upon his own "Voyage of Discovery", learning everything he could about Pierre Cruzatte. He was particularly struck with the importance of music, song and dance, both as entertainment for the explorers and as a diplomatic tool with the many Indian nations the expedition met along the trail. He plays fiddle, jews harp, bones, spoons and drums.

Joining Slosberg in Condon will be students of Pendleton fiddle teacher Peg Willis. Morrow, Umatilla and Gilliam county fiddlers will be playing. The audience is invited to come at 6:45 p.m. to hear the students perform prior to Slosberg's 7 p.m. show.

Local businesses donate for school books

Darrell Raver of the Bank of Eastern Oregon presents a check for $350 to Darcey Robinson toward purchase of school books.

The Bank of Eastern Oregon along with five other local businesses, donated money to the Heppner Parent Teacher Club for the purchase of school books this year.

Book Fair chairperson Kay Fowler said the donations from the businesses allowed the book fair to make 60 percent on sales instead of 50 percent which "made a big difference in the amount we have to spend," Fowler said. She said local teachers will have $3,000 to spend on books when they go to Portland to buy.

In addition to the Bank which gave $350 to the program, Morrow County Grain Growers gave $100 and Les Schwab, Columbia Basin Electric, Klamath First Bank and Wheatland/Kahl Insurance all gave $50.

Lexington woman selected as alternate delegate to American Angus Association meeting

Virginia Grieb of Lexington has been elected as an alternate delegate to the 119th annual meeting of the American Angus Association to be held Nov. 18 in Louisville, Kentucky.

Grieb, a member of the American Angus Association with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri, is one of 321 Angus breeders who have been elected by fellow members to serve as an alternate state representative at the annual meeting. Representing 45 states, the District of Columbia and Canada, the state delegates will participate in the business meeting and elect a new president, vice president and five directors to the American Angus Association board.

The annual meeting is held in conjunction with the annual banquet, and the Super Point Roll of Victory Angus show, Nov. 16-19, during the North American International Livestock Exposition.

The American Angus Association has more than 36,000 active members and is the largest beef breed organization in the world.

4-H celebrates its Centennial in 2002

The 4-H youth development movement celebrates its Centennial in 2002 as America's premier youth development organization. After a century of inclusion and collaboration, 4-H spans the nation from family farms to urban environments. 4-H brings together youth and adults to build a nation of stronger communities.

Over six and a half million youth ages five to 19 are involved in 4-H programs from aerospace to zoology. 4-H is co-ed and family friendly. 4-H members are still rooted in the historic base of rural America but to the surprise of many, nearly 35 percent of today's 4-H youth live in major urban centers and suburbs. In Morrow County, there are 356 youth involved in 4-H.

4-H in Oregon is based at the land-grant university, Oregon State University. This longstanding relationship brings academic excellence to youth development as strategies and curriculum are created for the coming century. The unique capacity of 4-H to embrace both youth development experts and thousands of youth in the state makes possible the promise of youth who are confident, capable, and caring citizens.

For a century, 4-H has been reinvesting in youth. 4-H has a strong commitment to community roots and to strengthening young people's skills and experiences in teamwork, leadership, and citizenship. 4-H members and about 60 million 4-H alumni are celebrating the Centennial of the 4-H youth development movement.

"4-H provides a positive environment, a relationship with caring adults, and exciting educational experiences for today's youth," said a press release. To find out more about 4-H, call 676-9642.
