Shamrockettes announce raffle winners

The Shamrockettes Dance Team would like to announce that Jake VanDoom and Sue Gibbs were winners of the blanket raffle.

Blankets will be delivered to the winners.

Cardinals win against Redsides

Due to their strong teamwork, the Cardinals pulled out the win on their home court against the Redsides Friday, Oct. 28. South Wasco is on the West side of the Big Sky Conference, which made Friday's game a great chance for the Cardinals to see what they are to expect at the District Tournament on Saturday, November 5.

Ione took the first game 25-12 giving them confidence for the next game. By the end of the second game the crowd was holding onto their seats when they lost 20-25. Luckily, they won the third game 25-23 taking them to yet a fourth game. The match was taken back into the Redsides' hands in the fourth game 14-25. At last, the Cardinals took the match 15-8 in the last game.

Helping the Cardinals to their victory was junior Stephanie Holland who made every one of her 25 serves over. Sophomore Teonna Vandever rotated in several times throughout the match as a strong front row player. The Cardinals had defeated the Condon Blue Devils earlier in the week to force a playoff game between Ione and Condon to finalize District Tournament positions "The key to our wins against both Condon and South Wasco this week was our team effort and communication," said Ione coach Brandi Orem.

Annual family & community education held

By Marlene Currin Family & Community Education District VII Director

The Annual Meeting of Family & Community Education was held in Portland, October 35, 2005. Marlene Currin of Heppner and Lucille Staughan of Pendleton both attended the Annual Meeting. President Bonnie Teeple from Klamath Falls conducted the meeting, and installed President Elect Edgel Sudul from Boring to serve as the new 2006 President of FCE. Lucille Straughan nominated Marlene Currin to serve as District VII Director for a term of three years expiring Dec. 31, 2008.

Marlene Currin and Marylee Plitt of Chiloquin wrote a lesson this summer and presented it to 72 members on Wednesday morning all about Finland. Finland is the country of study this year because the Associated Women of the World will hold their 2006 Triennial Meeting there.

The Family and Community Education of Oregon Board develop and write various lessons for the Oregon Study Groups in various counties. In October, Mrs. Currin delivered the 2006 lessons to the County Councils of Union County at LaGrande and Umatilla/Morrow County at Pendleton, and informed the members of the Annual Meeting program. These lessons include Container Gardening, Finland, Surviving in a World of Hurt, Foundation for Character, Faces of Depression and Oregon Rocks and Gems.

There are several active study groups from Milton-Freewater, Athena, Pendleton, two in LaGrande, and Heppner's Pine City. For more information about attending call Marlene Currin, 676-9711.

St. Patrick's senior center news

Heppner Christian Church volunteers are hosting the noon meal at the senior center, Nov. 9.

The board expresses gratitude to Central Red Apple Market for two boxes of bananas donated earlier in October. A word of appreciation to John Edmundson for digging out the puncture vine in the center's parking lot. He attended to safety as well as beauty by taking note of this noxious weed, and disposing of it.

The senior bus is taking passengers to the Columbia Basin Electric Coop's Annual Meeting in Fossil on Thursday, November 3. Ed Baker announced that departure from the Senior Center is 2:30 p.m. Registration will take place after they arrive. Be sure to call the center office if you want to go.

Flu shots will be offered again on November 12, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Morrow County Health Dept. staff will be conducting the immunizations. Registration will be in the common room, and shots are given in the center office.

The next regular center board meeting will be November 16, 12:30 p.m. in the center office. Planning for a meaningful annual meeting will be one of the agenda items.

Vaccine available for Ione students

By Bryn Browning

The Morrow County Health Department will be offering to Ione Community School students (ages 11-18), a combination Tetanus and Pertussis booster (Tdap). These vaccinations will be available at the November 9th Flu clinic, being held at the Ione Fire Hall. This vaccine is recommended to all 11-18 year olds, but is only being offered to Ione students at this time. It will later be made available to all others of this age group when vaccine supplies are available. Ione students have been given priority as a result of the recent suspect Pertussis cases in the community.

I appreciate the Morrow County Health Department and Jennifer Jaca for assistance regarding suspect cases of Pertussis (whooping cough) in our school. With their help we have been able to inform our parents and students on how the disease is spread and have taken precautions in the school to avoid additional cases. For more information on Pertussis, you can log onto the Center for Disease Control at www.cdc.gov

A VIEW FROM THE HILL

by Doris Brosnan

The staff and residents of Willow Creek Terrace view a birthday as one of the most important reasons for a celebration, and they have had several such celebrations during these past two months. The "baby" of the group, Fred Painter, was 79 in September, and Nina Harshman and Murl "Stubby" Rogers also celebrated their birthdays with their neighbors in September. In October, birthday girls Verna Brinda and Cleo Edwards were pleased to share their special days with friends. And, typical of a month at the Terrace, November will bring another birthday celebration, for George Jefferies.

A typical week at Willow Creek Terrace includes exercises on weekday mornings, a movie matinee on the weekend, Bingo or crafts with Duane Jones and other Nazarene Church members on Mondays, card games with Joe Bursleson and Arnie Appleton on Tuesdays, the afternoon reading of the Gazette Times with Suzanne Jepsen, Melissa Monaco, Betty Carlson, or Sharon Woodside on Wednesdays and an afternoon of games with St. Patrick Catholic Church members on Fridays.

A typical week at the Terrace will also include several other lively activities that complete a wide variety of pleasures. In Sept, residents enjoyed a piano performance on the 10, followed by music of the Ol' Time Fiddlers on the 11. They were pleased to visit with the Episcopal/Lutheran Youth Group at dinner on the 18, and enjoyed preparations for the Appreciation BBQ they hosted for volunteers on Sept. 25, an event relished by guests and hosts alike.

October brought Cindy Sumner's Tumbling Class for a demonstration, on the day before Halloween decorating on the 3. It was then that they started planning their costuming for this year's spook night. While those plans took shape, residents were delighted to have the Has-Been-Wanna-Be's back for a performance, with a little bit of dancing, on the 19th. And the Ol' Time Fiddlers returned on the 23rd for more toe-tapping music and an Ice Cream Social. That combination was such a hit that residents think it should happen every time the fiddlers come.

On Halloween, Duane Jones held a special "trick-or-treat" bingo session, and the staff and residents put in considerable time preparing for trick-or-treaters who might pay them a visit. Everyone who did stop by was in for a real treat because the staff members had dressed up like the people they will become in another thirty or forty years and the residents had turned into "punk rockers."

November will find some of the residents attending the Veterans Day Celebration at Heppner High School on the 10 and later enjoying a drive for a look at the fall colors and the abundance of wildlife in the country. The families of the residents will be invited to join in holiday preparations and dinners. Those special Nov. and Dec. dinners will feel even more festive this year, as Melba Quackenbush's grandchildren will serve them on two new sets of holiday tablecloths, memorial gifts to Willow Creek Terrace. The "decking of the halls" party will be on December 3 this year, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Volunteers will be heartily greeted, and finger foods will keep everyone's energy up for the decorating.

And so the pace continues. Boredom does not reside at the Terrace, but sixteen vivacious residents do, and they view that pace as one of the best things about living on the hill.
