Munkers comes home as biggest winner at recent National Barrel Horse Association finals

Mary Ann Munkers, of Lexington, a professional barrel racer and horse trainer, and her 14-year-old mare named "Samantha" were the biggest winners of the weekend at the National Barrel Horse Association finals held July 7-9. She came home with over $6000 in cash and prizes, including two custom crafted saddles and several Noble Arena Panels. The duo won both goes and the average in the SR 1D category, as well as the champion of the 2D Open division. There were over 1000 runs made during the three-day period. The National Barrel Horse Association is the largest barrel racing organization in the United States. Munkers is also currently leading the State of Oregon in points for the Barrel Racers National 4D Association, which is the third largest organization in the U.S.

Munkers and her husband Barry own and operate Munkers Farms, a nationally-known quarter horse breeding and training operation where they stand four stallions and run approximately 25 head of registered quarter horses, all of which are either sons, daughters, grandsons or granddaughters of world champions and/or National Finals Rodeo Champions. They specialize in breeding the ultimate barrel racing horse by combining world champion speed with bloodlines of world champion rodeo horses. "Our stallions and their offspring are the results of years of development of a specialized breeding program to produce champions." Morrow County Fair and Rodeo court participate in Fort Dalles Rodeo parade

This weekend the Morrow County Fair and OPR Court had an eventful time getting to The Fort Dalles parade, but once they arrived they had fun. Before reaching Arlington one of the parents' cars broke down, so the girls piled into one vehicle. The horses and Pennant Bearer Jarreid Miller arrived ahead of everyone and saddled up all four horses and waited for the rest. We appreciate Jarreid and Reid Miller and Jack Meligan for having the horses ready.

Queen Heather Yocom, Princess Josie Miller and Pennant Bearer Jessica Hamilton arrived just in time to change and line-up for the parade. They did not get judged but had fun waving to the many kids along the way. Hamilton's mom arrived just as the court was lining-up for the parade.

Afterwards, Queen Heather and Princess Josie, with their chaperone, were greeted very warmly by Queen Tessa of The Fort Dalles Rodeo Association at her luncheon after the parade.

Following the luncheon, Queen Heather and Princess Josie, with chaperone, joined the rest of the bunch at Pennant Bearer Jessica's grandparents' house. Some of the relatives wanted to see and pet the horses, so Jessica and Queen Heather took their horses out of the trailer for the kids to see.

The trip home went very well. The group was tired but relaxed after the long day.
