Morrow County FFA member awarded at Oregon FFA Convention

Patrick Barron receives his Oregon State FFA Sheep Proficiency Award from National FFA President Beau Williamson at the Oregon FFA State Convention in Corvallis.

On Sunday night March 25, 2007 Morrow County FFA Chapter Member Patrick Barron was awarded the Oregon State FFA Sheep Proficiency after competing at the Oregon FFA Convention held in Corvallis, Oregon March 24 thru 27. Patrick was selected from a field of District FFA Sheep Proficiency winners throughout Oregon.

Barron's supervised agricultural experience sheep project actually started in 1998 from two ewes he raised while participating in the 4-H program. When he became a freshman at Irigun High School he rolled his 4-H project into the FFA. His FFA project has grown to 34 Suffolk ewes, one Suffolk ram and two guard Llamas. From its humble beginnings his FFA sheep project earned a net worth of over $12,000. Barron's SAE project also includes experience areas in beef production, home and farm improvement and work experience.

Barron, a sophomore is the current president of his FFA chapter and is active in livestock judging, leadership and shop skills. At school he has a 3.28 grade point average and competes on the Irrigon Knight's Basketball team. He is very active in community service through the Irrigon Knight's Booster Club.

Barron is involved in the Morrow County 4-H program as a 4-H Ambassador and shows sheep in both 4-H and FFA. At home he is busy with his sheep flock which produced 60 lambs in February. He sells part of his lambs as 4-H and FFA project lambs and markets the rest as feeder lambs to a commercial broker in June. Barron's FFA Sheep Proficiency Application will be forwarded onto the FFA regional contest and if selected will compete at the National level. "Patrick is a leader and a rising star in the FFA he has accomplished a lot in his short tenure with the program. I expect great things from this young man in the future," said Lenn Greer, FFA Advisor, Morrow County FFA.

Bill would allow larger race facility

does not pass the Oregon legislature, there will be no NASCAR type track at Boardman, only a smaller racing course facility.

If the bill passes and the project is expanded it will require more property and the Boardman Airport may have to be relocated, he added.
