

Boardman Tillicum Club awards three scholarships

Three Riverside High School seniors have received $250 each in scholarships from the Boardman Tillicum Club. The awards were given based on community service involvement.

The students are Aaron Hendricks, Heather Hancock and Juan Calvillo, all of Boardman.

Aaron Hendricks is a member of the National Honor Society. In 2006 he was awarded the Riverside High School Renaissance Award and is an Eagle Scout with Full Complement of Palms. His community service involved building and installing benches along Boardman's Main Street and the river walkway, Red Cross blood drives, displaying American flags on Main Street for holidays, assisting with the Community Breakfast at the Fourth of July Celebration, and assisting with the Kids Club wrestling and track programs. Hendricks has been accepted into Oregon State University's pre-engineering program.

Heather Hancock served as ASB activities director her senior year and was the senior representative to the Boardman City Youth Advisory Council. She has been involved in 4H, softball, and volleyball. Her community service involved coaching Little League, Cycle Oregon volunteer, and keeping stats for the Riverside High School basketball team. Hancock plans to attend Lewis-Clark State College to obtain a degree in nursing.

Juan Calvillo was involved in soccer and wrestling. His community service includes being a Cycle Oregon volunteer, canned food drives, city-wide clean up, and spent more than 30 hours helping neighbors clear farming areas. Calvillo plans to attend Troutdale Lake JCC trade school to receive a certificate in auto body paint and repair.

The Boardman Tillicum Club is Boardman's oldest service club and annually gives scholarship awards to graduating Riverside High School students with an emphasis on community service. Applications for 2008 high school graduates may be obtained at the councilor's office at Riverside High School.

OSU to bestow nearly 4,600 degrees on June 17

Oregon State University will graduate the largest class in its history this Sunday, June 17, during its 138th-annual commencement. The ceremony, which will be broadcast live over Oregon Public Broadcasting, begins at 2 p.m. in Reser Stadium. Students from Morrow County who will be graduating are:

Boardman: Sara M. Fritz, Bachelor of Science, Health Promotion and Education; Adriana Zuniga, Bachelor of Arts, Spanish.

Heppner: Mitchell S. Mathews, Bachelor of Science, Business Administration; Travis S. Wilhelm, Bachelor of Science, Mechanical Engineering; Harley B. Young, Bachelor of Science, Construction Engineering Management.

Ione: Cameron L. Krebs, Bachelor of Science, Agricultural Business Management; Cayle H. Krebs, Bachelor of Science, General Agriculture.

Irrigon: Kyle R. Carson, Bachelor of Science, Exercise and Sport Science; Justin R. Garcia, Bachelor of Science, Business Administration; Angela S. Sabuco, Bachelor of Science, Business Administration; Jesse N. Steele, Bachelor of Science, Environmental Science; Rocky A. Turner, Bachelor of Science, Recreation Resource Management.

Ambassador Mary Carlin Yates, political adviser to the United States European Command and an OSU graduate, will give the commencement address.

OSU President Ed Ray and the academic deans will hand out diplomas to graduating students. Oregon State is one of the few major universities of its size to present actual diplomas to its graduates during commencement.

An estimated 4,313 students are expected to receive 4,497 degrees this year, with about half of those students expected to attend the commencement ceremony. The number of degrees easily surpasses last year's record totals when 4,178 students received 4,334 degrees.

Family and friends of graduating students won't need a ticket to gain access to the ceremony at Reser Stadium this year, according to Kavinda Arthenayake, chair of the university's commencement committee.

"The new side of Reser Stadium can accommodate more than 18,000 people and last year we had about 14,000 guests," Arthenayake said. "Now students won't have to worry about who should or should not be invited to the ceremony due to a limited number of tickets."

Previously, the university allocated eight tickets per student - a tradition established when commencement was held in Gill Coliseum, which had a smaller capacity.

Among the special awards to be presented during commencement will be the university's 2007 Distinguished Service Award, which goes to Rollin G. "Rollie" Sears, one of the world's leading wheat breeding experts who launched his career after earning a Ph.D. from OSU in 1979. Sears has developed more than 30 different wheat varieties that have been grown on more than 100 million acres since 1988, producing grain valued at more than $14 billion.

Ambassador Yates and noted screenwriter Mike Rich will receive honorary doctorate degrees from the university.

The OSU-Cascades Campus also has a separate ceremony, scheduled for June 16 in Bend. Some 190 students are expected to graduate and the state's first branch campus will award its 1,000th degree.

Scratch-it for SCHOOLS

Just like the school year, the 11th annual Oregon Lottery Scratch-it for Schools is now history. With their Scratch-it for Schools ice scraper in-hand, 600 team members representing 75 participating schools from across the state had some great fun earning over $85,000 for their schools this year! Since the Scratch-it for Schools program began, schools participating have won over $800,000!

Over the years, schools have used their Scratch-it for Schools winnings to pay for digital cameras, books, field trips, assembly programs, playground equipment, computer hardware and software, and many other things.
