

Local students inducted into National Honor Roll

Four local students have qualified for induction into the 2006-2007 National Honor Roll. The National Honor Roll recognizes high-achieving high school and middle school students. The students are Stefanie Archer and Sarah Stillman, both Lone High School, and Tony Haguewood and Josie Miller, both Heppner High School.

"Young people such as our inductees, who work hard to attain academic success, deserve to be congratulated," says Lynn Romeo, publisher of the National Honor Roll. "Honoring their achievements provides motivation and encourages them to continue striving toward their goals. We're proud to include them in the National Honor Roll."

The National Honor Roll offers several benefits that can contribute to the success of its student members. For students in the 2006/2007 school year, National Honor Roll set aside $25,000 to be shared among 25 of its qualifying inductees. All members are entitled to compete for these National Honor Roll Awards for Academic Achievement, which will be awarded in December. National Honor Roll's College Admissions Notification Service notifies the admissions offices of as many schools as the inductees designate that they have been accepted into the National Honor Roll and that they are interested in obtaining information about those colleges. (A copy of the student's biography is sent to the colleges along with the notification.) Each United States senator and state governor receives a complimentary copy of the National Honor Roll Commemorative Edition, along with a list of the students from their state who have been inducted into the National Honor Roll. Additional complimentary copies of the book are sent to selected school libraries across the country.

The National Honor Roll contacts potentially qualifying students after reviewing information about their academic performance. Each student is asked to submit information about his/her GPA, interests, activities, and future goals. Only students with a B or better average are eligible to be listed in National Honor Roll. Two-thirds of the inductees in the 2006-2007 National Honor Roll averaged an A- or better; one-third averaged B through B+; 24 percent were seniors (class of 2007); 27 percent were juniors (class of 2008); 24 percent were sophomores (class of 2009); 19 percent were freshmen (class of 2010); and 6 percent were from the class of 2011.

Maryhill Museum offers a free admission weekend to local residents

The Maryhill Museum of Art invites residents of Morrow, Gilliam, Grant and Wheeler counties to visit the museum for free during the weekend of July 28-29. Persons who reside in those counties need only present their driver's license to receive the complimentary free admission.

This is the 15th year the museum has offered this incentive to its neighbors.

"This is a great opportunity to experience the new exhibits on view," said Colleen Schafroth, director. "Special exhibit this year is 'Gadzooks, Amazing Books by Northwest Artists,' a very engaging exhibit. More than conventional books, these creations are visual journeys where illustrations and letters pop off the page or unfold like origami." The exhibit includes books by 15 contemporary Northwest artists and historic manuscripts from Persia, Spain and the Middle East. The exhibit is sponsored by the Walter Bailey Foundation.

Other new exhibits include 'Master Glassmakers, Orthodox Icons, New Acquisitions' and the return of the 'Theatre de la Mode' which features French fashions from 1945.

The annual 'Outdoor Sculpture Invitational' is now on display in the sculpture garden. It features 17 large-scale works by contemporary Northwest artists. Subjects range from whimsical and lyrical to thought-provoking abstractions, including a stainless steel man in mid-step that virtually disappears when the viewer walks past it, said a news release. The exhibit is sponsored by Bob and Kathy Moco.

Founded by Northwest entrepreneur and visionary Sam Hill, and opened to the public since 1940, Maryhill Museum of Art contains a world-class collection of artwork that ranges from early 20th century European works to Native American objects. Outside the museum is an Outdoor Sculpture Garden, Lewis and Clark interpretive panels and a life-sized replica of Stonehenge.

The museum is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., March 15 through November 15. Admission fees are $7 for adults, $6 for seniors, and $2 for children age 6-16. The museum is located off Highway 97, 12 miles south of Goldendale, Wash. Visit www.maryhillmuseum.org for more information.
