HHS grad to participate in ASB through U of O's Service Learning Program

This spring break HHS graduate Mahaley Huddleston applied for and was selected to take part in an alternative spring break program through the University of Oregon's Service Learning Program. Alternative spring break programs "encourage students to learn leadership skills, become active citizens, explore social justice issues, reduce stereotypes and build friendships while engaged in direct service within communities." "The program is structured around eight key elements: strong direct service, diversity, education, orientation, training, reflection, reorientation, and a drug and alcohol free environment. These elements are integrated into all aspects of the ASB experience."

This year the group is working with Tenderloin

Health in San Francisco, CA whose mission is to optimize the health of the Tenderloin's homeless, poor, and most vulnerable residents.

Mahaley Huddleston

The group will be traveling to San Francisco on Sunday, March 23, and returning Saturday, March 29. The group will be driving in vans, staying in a hostel and sharing meals to reduce the cost for each participant. Each student pays $200 toward the costs of the trip, with the rest of the costs paid for by the Service Learning Program and other ASB sponsors.

Anyone wishing to help sponsor Huddleston's trip can make checks payable to her. Checks can be sent to her school address at P.O. Box 3583, Eugene, OR 97403. The University of Oregon Alternative Spring Break is offered through the Service Learning Program and the Holden Leadership Center. Huddleston's fundraising efforts are for her individual trip expenses and do not become part of the Service Learning Program's budget. For this reason any gift made towards her service experience is not considered a charitable donation under the IRS guidelines.

To show her appreciation for any gifts, Huddleston would enjoy setting up a time after the trip to talk about her experience and share pictures.

USDA seeks public comment on changes to CRP managed haying and grazing

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that it will hold a public meeting on March 12 at 1:30 p.m. on proposed changes to managed haying and grazing on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) land.

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) will hold the meeting at the Pendleton Convention Center, 1601 Westgate in Pendleton.

FSA is proposing rule changes to the frequency that managed haying and grazing is allowed on land that is enrolled in CRP. Public comments will be accepted at the meeting and the public may also comment on changes to primary nesting season dates, during which managed haying and grazing are not permitted.

FSA will consider public comments when it prepares state-specific environmental assessments that will evaluate the effects of the proposed changes. The environmental assessments will aid USDA decision-makers and the public with an analysis of the benefits and potential impacts of the proposed changes to managed haying and grazing on CRP land.

Public comments can be submitted both electronically and by regular mail. They must be received by the close of business on April 11. Direct comments to: MHG EAs, Geo-Marine Incorporated, 2713 Magruder Blvd., Suite D, Hampton, VA 23666-1572 or send them to this Web site: <http://public.geo-marine.com>.

This meeting is one of 13 public meetings that will be held in 13 states where USDA is proposing rule changes to the managed haying and grazing program. More information on meeting dates and locations is available on the project Web site: <http://public.geo-marine.com>.
