Nurses: Making a difference every day

By Molly Rhea
National Nurses Week is celebrated annually May 6-12 throughout the U.S. Traditionally, the week is devoted to highlighting the diverse ways in which registered nurses, the largest health care profession, are working to improve health care. The week culminates on the birthday of nursing pioneer Florence Nightingale.

Nurses are essential members of the medical team who touch people's lives in significant ways. Without the caring and expertise nurses bring to patient care, lives would be in serious jeopardy, as would the entire American health system.

Morrow County Health District employs thirteen registered nurses. Of those, six staff the hospital 24 hours a day, caring for the sick and infirm as well as handling the emergency department; four provide home health and hospice care throughout Morrow and Gilliam counties; two work at Pioneer Memorial Clinic; and number 13 would be me.

Nurses face some of life's challenges with courage and grace. At any time: day, night, weekend, holiday, several of these 13 are either on the job or on-call. They are the ones there with you at 3 a.m. And willing to do it again tomorrow.

bleeding and cancer. The patient was transported to Pioneer Memorial Hospital. MCSO assisted with the call.

March 17: -MCSO, Boardman Police Dept., Boardman ambulance received a report from a caller in Boardman that a male subject who just had heart surgery would not wake up and was not breathing. The subject started breathing but was having trouble. The caller later called back and advised the patient was released from the Hermiston hospital but was having trouble breathing and having seizures again.

-MCSO received a report from a caller in Heppner that a neighbor, who is mentally challenged, damaged the caller's vehicle and yard fence.

-MCSO received a report from a caller in Heppner that they had received a bad check.

-MCSO received a report from a caller in Irrigon that neighbors cut a fence and were using the caller's easement. This was an ongoing situation.

-MCSO received a request for deputy contact from a caller in Irrigon regarding the laws of spotlighting a house. Contact was made with a suspect.

-MCSO, Irrigon ambulance received a report from a caller in Irrigon who believes she is being drugged. She was seen at the hospital previously for dehydration but it was unknown if this could be the issue.

-MCSO received a report from the Umatilla Police Dept. that Steven Ray White, 21, was arrested on an Irrigon Justice Court warrant for Failure to Appear/Driving while License Suspended.

CASUALTY LOSS DEDUCTIBLE

What can you do when you have serious damage to your home but not enough insurance to cover the loss? If the damage was not fully paid for from insurance proceeds, you can take a deduction on your federal income tax. What kind of losses qualify for this deduction?

Generally, to qualify for the federal casualty loss tax deduction, the cause must occur quickly and unexpectedly and not be a routine event. Examples include a fire, flood, theft, accident, earthquake, vandalism, tornado, broken water pipes, hurricane or earth slide. You should be prepared to prove such losses in case of an audit. To prove your losses, you should have before-and-after photos, professional appraisals, repair bills, police reports, purchase receipts and insurance settlement appraisals.

The amount you may deduct on a casualty loss is the decline in the property's market value, less insurance payments and a $100 deduction. Frankly, you're better off having enough insurance.
