Heppner I.O.O.F spends day cleaning Hardman Cemetery

The I.O.O.F. Willows Lodge #66 spent April 26 as a work day at the Hardman Cemetery. The cemetery is founded by I.O.O.F. Lone Balm Lodge of Hardman. Recently the Heppner Willows Lodge took over the title and agreed to maintain cemetery. Bob Lovgren, Bob Stevens, Bob Allen and Louis Carlson have been acting as volunteer caretakers for the last several years.

The work group consisted of Tom Wolff, Tim Key, George Koffler, Dan Brosnan, Charlie Graybeal, Bob Jepsen, Al Riney, Bob Lovgren and Butch Laughlin. The group used three riding lawn mowers, two push mowers, two string weed eaters, and a small tractor with a brush cutter. Laughlin used his flatbed truck to haul away the debris. The group also straightened several leaning headstones under the direction of Al Riney. While working, workers noticed a headstone from approximately 1893 that read "Unknown found on trail dead."

A childog lunch was provided for the group.

on the land Grant County acquired last fall, which increased the park another 1925 acres. With the snow having melted off almost all of the trails the riders had a chance to experience a variety of challenges along the course.

The event went off without any serious reported injuries. There were a couple machines that broke down along the way, all of which were transported back to the main campground by the park staff and volunteers.

Cards were drawn at the end of the ride and were ranked according to the deck number and face value of the card. Riders had a large variety of prizes to select from. Cathy Heller from Hermiston Fun Runners Club found one of three stuffed bears worth $25.

There was also a short ride for the kids and S & B Concessions donated fruit smoothies to the kids who participated in the ride. At dark one of the campers signaled with a blast from his trucks air horn the lighting of the "OHV Bon-Fire." Campers flocked to see the fire and feel the warmth of the fire and discuss the day's happenings.

No political signs on state highway right-of-way

With Oregon's primary and other local elections only a week away the Oregon Department of Transportation reminds campaign supporters that it is illegal to place political or other signs on state highway right-of-way. Signs will be removed without notice and held at ODOT district maintenance offices for 30 days. Signs, advertisements and other items placed along the state highway right-of-way are a safety concern for motorists, ODOT workers and the people who may be stopping along the roadway to install or remove them.

"There is a reason why it is illegal for signs or other messages to be placed along the highway right-of-way," said ODOT Public Information Officer Tom Strandberg. "For one thing, it's not safe to be stopping along the highway to install or remove them. Those who are installing them are also putting others at risk because the signs can be a distraction for drivers."

Since ODOT crews have to remove illegally placed signs it also puts state workers at risk and takes time away from other tasks that need to be done to keep the roads safe.

"We understand that people want to show support for their candidate or cause, but please be mindful of the rules that help protect everyone's safety," Strandberg said.

The width of state highway right-of-way can vary considerably depending on the specific location. If you're uncertain whether you are placing a sign on private property or highway right-of-way, check with your local ODOT district maintenance office.

Temporary political signs are allowed on private property within view of state highways with the following restrictions:

* New signs are limited to 12 square feet.

* No flashing or intermittent lights, animated or moving parts are allowed.

* Signs must not imitate an official highway sign or device.

* Signs are not allowed in scenic corridors.

For more information regarding signs along highway right-of-way, contact your local ODOT District Maintenance office at 541-276-1241. Interested parties can also contact ODOT Public Information Officer Tom Strandberg at (541) 963-1330, email Thomas.m.strandberg@odot.state.or.us.
