Navy and National Guard to hold public open house scoping meetings for Naval Weapons Systems Training Facility Boardman

The U.S. Navy, in cooperation with the National Guard Bureau and the Oregon National Guard, is in the initial stages of preparing an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) to evaluate potential environmental effects associated with current and proposed military training and testing activities at Naval Weapons Systems Training Facility (NWSTF) Boardman. Two open house scoping meetings will be held from 5 - 8 p.m. at the following locations: Port of Morrow Conference Center, Riverfront Room, on October 27; and Hermiston Conference Center, Rotary Room, on October 28.

The Navy and the National Guard are initiating the scoping process to identify community concerns and issues for analysis in the EIS. The Navy and the National Guard are seeking public involvement and input, which are fundamental parts of the EIS development under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). As part of the public participation process, the Navy and the National Guard will hold open house meetings in Oregon to obtain public input on the scope of the NWSTF Boardman EIS.

The Navy and the National Guard propose to implement actions to increase certain military training activities from current levels to support Navy and Oregon National Guard requirements; develop appropriate ranges and facilities; accommodate mission requirements associated with force structure changes and the introduction of new weapons systems; implement range enhancements; and maintain current training activities.

The proposed action would result in selectively focused but critical enhancements and increases in training that are necessary to ensure, NWSTF

Boardman supports military training and readiness objectives. The NWSTF Boardman EIS will analyze potential environmental effects from the training of U.S. military forces in military airspace above and land training areas within the boundaries of NWSTF Boardman.

The public is invited to attend open house style scoping meetings for information about the proposed action and to provide comments on factors to be considered in the EIS. The public may arrive at any time during each scoping meeting. There will be no formal presentation; however, Navy and National Guard representatives will be on hand to discuss the project and the proposed action.

All written comments must be postmarked or received during the comment period to be considered in the Draft EIS. Written comments must be postmarked by November 15, 2010, and mailed to: Naval Facilities Engineering Command, Northwest, Attn: Mrs. Amy Burt - NWSTF Boardman EIS Project Manager, 1101 Tautog Circle, Suite 203, Silverdale, WA 98315-1101. Comments may also be submitted online at www.NWSTFBoardmanEIS.com or submitted in person at the scoping meetings.
