Local student Cami VanArsdale was Morrow County's first-place winner in a recent Family and Community Education (FCE) nationwide essay contest.

Oregon and Morrow County Family and Community Education members joined with members across the nation in sponsoring the essay and artwork contest for fourth-grade students. The contest is held annually; this year's theme was "citizenship."

Students each wrote an essay and created a hand-drawn picture. The FCE nationwide contest provides an opportunity for students to improve literary skills and develop ethical values. As first place winner for the county, Cami received $25 from the Pine City Study group. She also placed third in state and received a $50 savings bond.

Two honorable mentions for Morrow County are Kamille Holtz and Tresslyn McCurry. All three students are from Sue Gibbs' fourth-grade class at Heppner Elementary School. The students were honored at the HES assembly on Tuesday, May 1; certificates were also given to all participants.

Next year's contest theme will be "trustworthiness."

St. William's first communicants

Eight children from St. William's Catholic Church in Ione made their first Communion on Sunday, May 6. The sacrament took place after a year of study under the direction of Eileen McElligott. Father Gerry Condon is the parish priest.

First communicants were Tom Rudolf, Grace Ogden, Faviola Juarez, Hailey Peterson, Cecilia McElligott, Maricarmen Aguilar, Kayla Rodriguez and Jessica Medina. The youth were honored by family and friends at a parish breakfast following mass.

Irrigon High student selected as Gates Millennium Scholar

Maritryn Mejia, a senior at Irrigon Jr./Sr. High School, has been selected as one of 1,000 Gates Millennium Scholars for 2012. Mejia was chosen from a pool of 24,000 applicants nationwide—the largest and most competitive group of candidates in the program's history.

As a Gates Millennium Scholar (GMS), Mejia will receive support for the cost of her college education at any accredited college or university based on the cost of tuition, fees, books and living expenses, as well as the availability of grants and other scholarships. The scholarship is renewable pending academic progress. Should Mejia choose to pursue a graduate degree in the area of computer science, education, engineering, library science, mathematics, public health or science after completing her undergraduate degree, the GMS program will help fund that as well. Mejia also will have the opportunity to participate in leadership development programs with distinctive personal, academic and professional growth opportunities. The GMS program, established in 1999, was initially funded by a $1 billion grant from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Since then, 15,000 students across the country have been named Gates Millennium Scholars. To be eligible, a student must have a 3.3 unweighted GPA.

The goal of GMS is to promote academic excellence and to provide an opportunity for outstanding minority students with significant financial need to reach their highest potential.

Local farmer lends a hand

Ione farmer Wayne Rietmann (pictured) recently "farmed" a small area of land to be used for a garden by relative newcomers Bill and Janette Johnson, who moved to Ione a year ago. Rietmann would take no compensation for his efforts, but did accept a loaf of homemade banana bread. -Photo by Janette Johnson
