Fair welcomes hypnotic performer

Russ Peak

Will seeing this year's performer give you an edge when it comes to reading the fair judges' minds?

Probably not—after all, most contest judging will be over by the time he has his first performance on Wednesday—but it's still guaranteed to be an entertaining experience.

Russ Peak, recognized as one of the world's most skilled mentalists, or "thought readers," will be performing throughout the day Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Anyone who attended the Valentine's Day fundraiser up at Heppner High School will remember what fun everybody had with Russ. Those who missed out now have the chance to come and check him out during fair week.

Peak is a hypnotist with comedy included. He believes that it was his combined roles of husband, father of four (both boys and girls), businessman, educator and role model to the youth for whom he performs that first dictated his choice to make every one of his performances not only incredibly entertaining, but also informative and representative of the ethics by which he stands. More than 15 years after making that choice, his act is still 100% clean and appropriate for any audience.
