Methodist Christmas Eve service to include blast from the past

Former Sunday School students of the Heppner United Methodist Church will have a real treat tonight (Wednesday) during the Christmas Eve Services. Slides from Christmas pageants performed many years ago have been converted into a movie that will be shown at the church during fellowship time beginning at 6:30 p.m.

A service of carols and readings will begin at 7 p.m. Songs will include O Come, O Come, Emanuel; Infant Holy, Infant Lowly; While Shepherds Watch; Angels We Have Heard on High; Silent Night; Joy to the World; Go Tell It on the Mountain; and Tell Out My Soul. The choir, under the direction of Jean Brazell, will perform Will We Know Him.

Refreshments will be served during fellowship

Kirsten Green (Harrison) was the Angel Gabriel speaking to the shepherds during a Christmas Pageant held at Heppner United Methodist Church in the early 1980s. Shepherds included Bobby Krein and Brian and Rick Koffler, among others. A movie developed from these early slides will be shown tonight (Christmas Eve) at the church. -Contributed photo
