Mustang golf takes clean sweep at Enterprise invitational

Despite playing in some very challenging weather conditions, the Heppner Mustang golf teams came away with team and individual victories at the Enterprise Invitational. The tournament was held at the Alpine Meadows Golf Club. The golfers played in a steady 20-mile-per-hour wind that made the mid-40 degree temperature seem much colder. A light and steady rain fell throughout the day and added to the tough conditions.

The Mustang girls' team took the team title with a solid round of 428.

Shrine players honored at local banquet

The Tri-County Shrine Club hosted a banquet to honor the local boys who will play in the Portland Shriners Children's Hospital football game in Baker City on Aug. 6. The players who were chosen to represent their team, school and community in the game were Patrick Collins and CJ Kindle from Heppner and Freddy Vera from Irrigon High School. Also honored were alternate selections Weston Putman and Kaden Clark from Heppner High School and Cougar Kroske from Irrigon.

These young men were nominated by their coaches and then selected by a committee on three criteria. Their athletic accomplishments, their academics and their community service were why these players were chosen to represent the Shriners in their cause to help children receive medical care. The game in Baker City is a major fundraiser for the Portland Shriners Children's Hospital, which was opened in 1924. More than 60,000 children have received medical care at the hospital since it opened.

The team members, families and friends in attendance were treated to a dinner at the Heppner Elk's Club. Tri-County Shrine Club President Archie Ball welcomed everyone in attendance and talked about the Shriners and the work they do. Each young man then got up and spoke. They all thanked their parents, coaches, communities and the Shriners. They all honored their teammates, their coaches and opponents who were in the room.

Jim Kindle then spoke about his great experience as a Shrine Team member and playing in the game. It is rather unique to have a father and a son both be selected to play in the game, as is the case this year with Jim and CJ Kindle.

Irrigon football coach Steve Sheller talked about the special characteristics that his two players, Freddy and Cougar, have that make them both great leaders. Heppner coach Greg Grant then talked about the Shrine game experience he knows about from coaching in the game six times. He finished up the night by talking about this special group of seniors that led the Heppner Mustangs to a state football championship this year. Those who know them say the leadership, unselfishness, character and hard work by Collins, Kindle, Putman and Clark will be missed in the halls of Heppner High School. It was part of the reason that led them to be selected for this honor and will serve them in the rest of their lives.

The Tri-County Shrine Club members who attended the event were Archie Ball, Merlin Hughes, Gene Orwick and Herman Winter. Anyone who would like to place an ad in the Shrine Game program in support of any of the players can contact Herman Winter.
