Trail Library District will host author Rinker Buck for two author visits. Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m. at the SAGE Center, Buck will give a presentation with Q&A and book-signing afterwards. Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7 p.m., the same presentation with Q&A and book-signing will be in Heppner at a site to be determined.

Oregon Trail Library District continues to provide library services to the three communities of Boardman, Heppner and Irrigon. OTLD's mission is to meet the informational, cultural and recreational needs of residents of the district with information resources on a broad variety of topics, in as many different formats as are appropriate, and from a wide variety of viewpoints through the development of local collections and links with other agencies. Using the mission statement as a guide the board of directors will be developing a five-year strategic plan that provides services and materials to its patrons.

Library director Kathy Street may be reached with any questions at 541-481-3365 or otlddirector@centurylink.net.

4-H club uses their 'hands for larger service' to make fidget quilts

Sew Fantastic 4-H Club members with the small "fidget quilts" they are working on as a Hands-for-Larger Service project. The little quilts include different colors and textures of fabric with activities stitched to the top for restless hands to "fidget" with. They will be entered in the upcoming Morrow County Fair, then given to Alzheimer's patients or children with autism. Pictured L-R are club members Aubrey Smith, Harley Anderson, Grace Ogden, Madison Orem and Katie Spivey. Club members who also sewed quilts but are not pictured include Kylie Boor, Hannah Palmer, Lynn Williams and leader Nancy Jepsen. -Contributed photo

Boardman Quilt Group adds new exhibit categories for 2017 quilt show

Two new categories have been added to the October 13-14 Boardman Quilt Show. People's Choice Award for ages 9-11 and People's Choice Award for ages 12-14 will recognize the work and skills of younger quilters.

"Entries by younger quilters have always been included in the Annual Fall Quilt Show, and we want to encourage their work by having People's Choice Awards just for young quilters," said Kathy Hyder, long-time Boardman Quilt Group participant. Youth that exhibited quilts in 4-H or Open Class at county fairs are encouraged to display their projects.

The 13th annual show is open to all interested quilters. Now is the time to finish quilts in process, or to locate your Granny's treasured quilt. Both are welcome to be displayed at the annual quilt show. There is no fee to exhibit a quilt, but an entry form is required. Entry forms must be submitted by Thursday, Oct. 6, and may be obtained at Aunty Ida's Quilt Shop, 435 W. Hermiston Ave, Hermiston, OR 9 a.m.-
