LOTTERY

The commission also received a monthly report from the Sheriff's Department, which said there were 44 arrests in November with 34 of those lodged in jail. There were also 28 warrants issued, three assaults, three thefts and one each of the following: DUI, possession of meth, stalking order violation, parole violation, driving while suspended, criminal trespass, criminal mischief, disorderly conduct, custodial interference and dog as a public nuisance within the department's jurisdiction area (does not include the city of Boardman which has its own police department).

In other business at a Dec. 13 meeting the commission heard a report from Undersheriff John Bowles who presented an idea to offer transitional housing for males just released from jail or prison but still are on parole or probation. These individuals are required to be released back to the county of conviction. Correction Lieutenant Dan Robbins explained that Oregon Department of Corrections is releasing inmates early to reduce the prison population. This however, shifts the burden to the counties to find places for them to stay for up to 90 days while they are under the county's supervision.

Bowles said these individuals are already in our communities, often times moving from place to place when they have no family or residence. He said it makes it harder for parole and probation to monitor them. Bowles said in the past the only option was to house these people in local motels. Sheriff Ken Matlack is proposing to fix a foreclosed property in Irrigon owned by the county for use as transitional housing, with the stipulation that no sex offenders could be there. Because there were several unanswered questions surrounding this topic, Commission Chair Melissa Lindsay requested the sheriff send the proposal to the Local Public Safety Coordinating Council with possible action by that group.

In other action the commission reappointed Don Russell to the Columbia River Enterprise Zone board, with Greg Sweek as the alternate.

The commission also heard that Kathy Neal had resigned from the Morrow County Planning Commission. Planner Carla McLane said Bobbi Childers from Ione had expressed interest in being on the planning commission, but at this time there are no vacant positions there. The commission discussed ways to use the at-large position to shift representation for current members and that a south county member might be resigning which would open up a vacancy for Childers to serve. The Boardman vacancy created by Neal's resignation is still unfilled with no interest expressed from the community, McLane said. The commission voted to reappoint planning commission members Mifflin Devin and Rod Taylor.

In other discussion the commission heard from Boardman Police Chief Rick Stokoe, who talked about the situation regarding people with mental health issues and under the influence of controlled substances, who find themselves incarcerated. Stokoe said these people are often out of control but cannot be treated because they are under the influence. He said in most cases they do not belong in jail but are there because of no other alternatives. He said these people cannot be housed in the general jail population but jails do not have the staff to deal with the issues. Stokoe said these people often take up space in the jail that needs to be used for people who have committed a crime, but there is no space available.

Stokoe said this is a nationwide problem explaining that in the past there were facilities for detox and then that treatment went away "many years ago." He said he met with Representative Greg Smith who plans to convene a meeting between law enforcement and legislators to address these issues. Stokoe asked the commissioners to consider drafting a letter of support if the need arises. Commissioner Doherty said he would support Chief Stokoe's efforts to find funds at the state level.

Or Did You Buy a TV or Computer Monitor That Contained a Cathode Ray Tube ("CRT"), During the Years 1995 through 2007?

You May be Entitled to Compensation.

Please read this notice carefully as your legal rights are affected whether you act or do not act.

PARA UNA NOTIFICACIÓN EN ESPAÑOL, LLAMAR O VISITAR NUESTRO WEBSITE.

Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum has resolved two lawsuits she brought on behalf of Oregon natural persons against certain manufacturers of liquid crystal display ("LCD") flat panels and cathode ray tubes ("CRTs"). The lawsuits allege the manufacturers illegally agreed upon the pricing of LCD flat panels and CRTs.

Oregon has settled with all defendants for a total of $36,900,000 ("Settlement Fund"), and you may be entitled to a portion of the Settlement Fund.

Who Is Included?

Natural persons who indirectly purchased at any time during the years 2002 to 2006, for their own use and not for resale, LCD panels incorporated into flat panel TVs, computer monitors or laptop computers; or who indirectly purchased at any time during the years 1995 to 2007, for their own use and not for resale, CRTs incorporated into TVs or computer monitors. A purchaser must have been an Oregon resident at the time of the purchase. An indirect purchaser is someone that purchased products containing LCD flat panels or CRTs from someone other than the company that manufactured the LCD flat panel or CRT component, such as from an electronics retailer or a device manufacturer other than one of the Defendants. "Natural persons" means a human, not a business.

How Do I Get Settlement Funds?

File a claim: Consumers need to file a claim to obtain benefits in this settlement.
