PUBLIC NOTICE
Forest Service publishes revised Blue Mountains Forest Plans
The USDA Forest Service has published revised Land Management Plans (revised Forest Plans) for the Malheur, Umatilla, and Willowa-Whitman National Forests. The revised Forest Plans are supported by a Final Environmental Impact Statement, a Draft Record of Decision, and other documents, all of which are available online at www.fs.usda.gov/goto/BlueMountainsPlanRevision. Documents will also be on reference at local public libraries.
The purpose of these revised Forest Plans is to provide an updated framework to guide the management of approximately 5.5 million acres of National Forest System lands in eastern Oregon and southeastern Washington. The revised Forest Plans will replace the existing 1990 Plans, addressing changes in local economic, social, and environmental conditions over the past 28 years.
The revised Forest Plans:

- Honor the many years that diverse interests have invested in this process since 2004 – reflecting vital input from the public, local governments, states, tribes, federal agencies, and other stakeholders.
  - Represent a Forest Service commitment to promote rural prosperity and well-being, treat fire-prone areas, provide forest access, and promote healthier watersheds.
  - Support the Forest Service mission "to sustain the health, diversity, and productivity of the Nation's forests and grasslands to meet the needs of present and future generations."
- The next step is the objection process. This gives an individual or entity (who provided substantive comments during the 2010 formal scoping period and/or the 2014 formal comment period) an opportunity for independent Forest Service review and resolution of objections before final decisions are made. The 60-day objection-filing period begins on the first day after the publication date of the Forest Service's legal notice in The Oregonian, the newspaper of record for Regional Forester decisions in the Pacific Northwest Region of the Forest Service. The date of the legal notice in The
