St. Pat's plans VBS

The St. Patrick Parish will hold vacation bible school "A Radical Ride on the Wings of Prayer" at the parish hall from Monday, June 10, through Thursday, June 14, from 8:45 to noon.

Kids in kindergarten through sixth grade are invited to attend the VBS and anyone older may come and help the leaders.

The week will include songs, crafts and snacks. Children will come to better understand the power of prayer and how to put it into action in their daily lives. "We want this to be a whole family experience, so we invite parents to attend any of the VBS days," said Kathy Cutsforth, VBS director.

On Thursday, the VBS will have a special celebration and swimming at the Heppner pool. Parents and grandparents are invited to attend and participate with the children.

There is no charge for attending. For more information, call Kathy, 541-980-2352.

Local woman graduates from medical school

Local woman Emily (Thompson) Jack recently graduated from Oregon Health Science University with a degree in family medicine. Dr. Jack, 27, graduated from Heppner High School in 2010 and from Oregon State University in 2014 before receiving her medical degree at OHSU. Graduation services were Monday, June 3. She is the daughter of Brian and Susan Thompson of Heppner, and her husband's name is Keenan.

Dr. Jack said she is excited about finishing school and eager to start her residency and start seeing patients. She will be doing her residency in Boise for three years, and then coming back to practice in Oregon. Her specialty is family medicine and she is in a program which pays her entire schooling costs if she practices in a rural area of Oregon for five years. Right now she does not know where in Oregon that will be. "I'm very excited and can't believe people are going to be calling me doctor," she says. "After all these years of schooling and all the people I have met, I am so thankful for the support the Heppner community and my parents have given me."

Dr. Jack also recently returned from an interesting trip abroad where she spent 11 days in Japan as an OHSU exchange student observing and studying rural medicine in that country. "OHSU chose me to represent them in this exchange," she said, explaining how she traveled to rural areas with Japanese doctors while they treated their patients. While in Japan she also went to the city of Kyoto and attended a primary care conference where she spoke to the association members. She also visited with students at Miyazaki University and discussed rural primary care.

Summer reading begins at library

The summer reading program, "A Universe of Stories," will get underway at the Heppner branch of the Oregon Trail Library starting with sign-up on June 7 at 11 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded for reading.

"The benefits of summer reading programming for children include:

-Children are motivated to read;

-Children develop positive attitudes about reading, books and the library;

-Children maintain their reading skills during summer vacation;

-Children have access to experiences that further their sense of discover;

-Children have access to experiences through which they can learn to work in cooperation," says an OTLD spokesperson.

Some weeks there will be time to work on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) projects with wind.

The next teen night will be June 13 at 6 p.m. Teens will be able to explore recipes that they can cook in the microwave.

Books for June include James Patterson, "18th Abduction", Jennifer Chiaverini, "Resistance Women," and Diane C. McPhail, "The Abolitionist's Daughter."
