Matt Orem (Heppner) and Jake Heideman (Ione) were selected by Columbia Basin Electric Cooperative to attend the youth electric cooperative tour in Washington, D.C.

Morrow County high school juniors, Jake Heideman from Ione and Matt Orem from Heppner, were selected to attend a weeklong electric cooperative tour of Washington, D.C. June 13-20.

Jake Heideman visits with U.S. Senator, Greg Walden and his Chief of Staff, Lorissa Bounds, on the capitol steps in Washington, D.C.

Each year, Columbia Basin Electric Cooperative selects two juniors from their service district to represent their area. Applications are due in December and more information can be found at <https://cbec.cc>

Over 50 attend grower crop tour

This past Thursday, Larry Lutcher, agronomist with Oregon State University Extension Service, hosted a grower crop tour in cooperation with Proudfoot Ranches and Starvation Farms. Over 50 growers in the area attended the tour in an effort to learn more about currently available wheat varieties and production. Pictured is Larry Lutcher (in the hat), along with Bob Zemetra, wheat breeder from Oregon State.

Mustang basketball hosts two-day boys and girls instructional camp

The Heppner Mustang basketball programs recently hosted a two-day instructional camp. The camp was open to boys and girls entering the third through 12th grades. Over the two-day camp, 60 current and future Mustang basketball players attended.

Coach Jeff Lavender, the camp instructor, led the younger attendees through a lot of fundamental and shooting work as well as letting them participate in many skill development games. The high school teams received more advanced instruction which included seeing new and different offenses and defenses. They also worked on lots of ball handling and shooting.

Several high school team members helped instruct and work with the younger players at the camp. They were Kason Cimmyotti, Derrick Smith, Trevor Nichols, Blake Carter, Brock Hisler and Maddie Nichols.

The Mustang coaches met with coach Lavender several times to discuss the game of basketball and learn new things from him. "Overall it was a great camp and a tremendous value for the youth of Heppner to get some awesome instruction," said a spokesperson. Plans are already being made to bring coach Lavender back next year.

Funding for the camp was provided by the Heppner Booster Club.
