Morrow County now up to 59 COVID-19 cases

According to the latest press release dated June 29, Morrow County Public Health has confirmed the Morrow County total of COVID-19 cases is now at 59. Ten more individuals tested positive June 29, five from Boardman and five from Irrigon.

Previously five new cases were reported June 26 and eight on June 25. The June 24 press release stated that one of the individuals who had recently tested positive turned out to be living in another county, so the total that day was reduced to 35. Later that day, one more individual tested positive bringing the total back to 36.

The 59 reported cases consist of 28 in Boardman, 25 in Irrigon and six in the Heppner/Lexington/Ione area. Of those, 15 have recovered, 42 are in home isolation, one is hospitalized and one person died.

Morrow County Public Health said, "This is in all of our communities and we all need to take precautions to protect ourselves and our loved ones. Be extra cautious if traveling to some of our neighboring counties; some of them have almost 10 times our positive case numbers and some are higher."

According to the report, the largest increases in positive cases in the county are not from people getting it at work, but from things like a backyard barbecue or a family celebration. Everyone is reminded to be diligent in public as well as weekends with friends at a backyard gathering or camping.

Investigations are on-going and any individual deemed at risk will be contacted by Public Health. Continue to practice six feet social distancing and washing your hands often. Masks are now mandatory statewide when going out in public. If you are sick, do not go out in public and do not go to work.
