Spiritually Speaking

DISCIPLESHIP IS HUMBLING ONESELF

This coming Sunday, we turn our attention to a very important Christian virtue: humility. It is an attribute of God that all His children must strive to possess and live. We are called to imitate the humility of Jesus, who is the mediator of the new covenant. Humility was a distinctive mark of the life and ministry of Jesus. So it must also be for us as Christians. The author of the Book of Sirach also reminds us that pride is a disease. However, the good news is that it can be cured through the imitation of Christ's humility. The Scripture readings will help us to reflect on the discipleship theme again, as humbling oneself.

Fr. Thankachan Joseph

Generally, people try to impress others through their outward appearances. We want to be noticed by others through our status; and in stark contrast with this attitude that is very much prevalent in the world today is the teaching of the first reading from the Book of Sirach (3:17-20:28-29). The author tells us that what is important and of real significance is our inner attitudes, and that our inner attitudes should inspire our outward conduct. To put this in context, we need to address in all honesty: All that I have, all that I own, all that I am, is it mine? Where have I gotten it from? Unless we realize and acknowledge that all that I have are gifts from God, that I have nothing of my own to boast about, that all is given to me by God above, I am lost and doomed.

The Lord Jesus Christ gave us this virtue of humility at the Last Supper. The Gospel of John, chapter 13, is a beautiful example of the virtue of humility for us to imitate. Jesus got up from the dining table and went down to the feet of His disciples and washed them, leaving us an example to imitate. This teaching comes to us in the context of a meal. As we have heard in the Gospel, "Jesus went to dine at the house of a ruler..." A meal is always shared in an atmosphere of fellowship. We do not invite strangers to share a meal with us. Colleagues we might meet in a restaurant over a cup of tea. But people who are dear to us are invited to a meal. And we prepare for the meal. The house is cleaned, a special menu is prepared, special dishes are cooked. And all this is done because the person is dear to us. And what we share at the table is not just food, but a sharing of our inner selves. And so what Jesus is sharing with the people who were present for the meal is a significant teaching. This shows us that humility is of importance in the Kingdom.

The Gospel of Luke, too, deals with the same topic (Lk 14:1, 7-14). Jesus describes the virtue of humility through the parable of the wedding guests invited to a wedding banquet. Humility cannot be manipulated or earned. When the man at the banquet goes to sit at the lower place in true humility, he is invited to move higher up. But imagine if he had gone to sit in the lower place thinking "If I sit here, the host will invite me to go higher up." If the host does not do so, the person becomes bitter and curses the host because his manipulation and false humility have been exposed and have not served his purpose.

Jesus says in the second parable to not invite people so that they might invite you back, or repay you in some way. When you invite someone to dinner, invite the poor who will not be able to pay you back. Do it out of true love. True humility comes from our acceptance of God, and this, in turn, depends on our acceptance of our neighbor. When we truly accept others as they are, we truly accept ourselves because the other is not a threat to us. And the other will not be a threat to us only when we accept that we are fully dependent on God. The example of true humility is our Blessed Mother, who said to the angel at the Annunciation, "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. Be it done to me according to your word," an invitation to us to imitate our Blessed Mother and practice her true humility.
