2. Follow Evacuation Orders: If evacuation orders are issued, evacuate immediately as directed by law enforcement and emergency personnel. Have an evacuation plan ready and know your evacuation routes.

3. Prepare Your Property: Take proactive measures to protect your property from wildland fires. Clear debris from roofs and gutters, trim vegetation around your home, and maintain a defensible space.

4. Emergency Supplies: Keep an emergency kit ready with essential items such as medications, important documents, clothing, and non-perishable food and water for each family member and pet.

5. Air Quality Awareness: Be aware of changing air quality conditions due to smoke from wildfires. Limit outdoor activities if air quality is poor, especially for individuals with respiratory conditions.

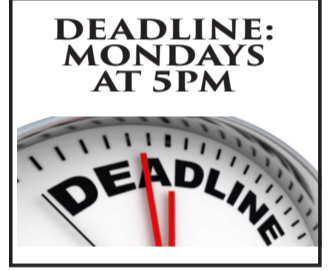

6. Report Suspicious Activity: Report any suspicious activity or signs of wildfires immediately to local authorities. Early detection can help prevent fires from spreading uncontrollably.
