FAIRVIEW

Margeurite Bailey is out of school on account of the measles.

Ulrich Gantenbine of the firm of Gantenbine Bros., dairymen for what is known as the Union Meat company ranch on Sandy road near No. 3 school house, has bought eighty acres of land near Boring and is moving to his place to engage in general farming. John Gantenbine will move to the Columbia river on a place he has rented. The place just vacated will be for rent after April 1st.

The bridge crew of the O. W. R. & N. company on St. Johns cutoff, are established at the Legg place on the Slough road, putting in concrete piers for a bridge over wagon road at that place, the bridge being thirty feet high. Grading of the road bed is in progress across the Reynolds farm, removing only enough of the concrete fence and large maple trees around the house for actual road bed.

The machinery is being placed in the shops here as rapidly as possible and actual repairing will begin in a very few days. Several more men have been added. Some difficulty was encountered in getting sleeping apartments as Hotel McMains is filled to overflowing.

Mrs. H. M. Shaw and daughter, Ruth, who have been living in Portland the past winter have returned to and taken up there abode here once more. Mrs. Shaw has been in quite poor health the past year. Her son, Lee, and daughter, Mrs. Harry Donley of Spokane, are visiting her.

Mrs. Grant Shaw, who has been sick for some time is no better and the doctor has advised her removal to the hospital at once. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Frank Axtell has also been confined to her room. Mr. Green is a sufferer of pneumonia. Mrs. Clara McDaniels is afflicted with fever. J. H. Schram was in bed for several days from a strain lifting. With several cases of measles Fairview is holding her own.

Mrs. W. G. Muckle of St. Helens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Turner came up last Sunday, accompanied by her husband in a dandy auto. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Landon of Portland were also out and spent the day.

Miss Agnes Howlett of Eagle Point is with her sister, Mrs. Grant Shaw.

TROUTDALE

The ladies of the M. E. church cleared over twelve dollars on the recital given last Friday in the Masonic hall.

Mrs. Frank Dean will soon leave for a visit with friends near Drain, Oregon. She expects to be gone for five or six weeks.

The dance given here last Saturday night was the usual successful affair. However, the extras on the program included a street fight (free for all) pulled off as the ladies were going to supper.

C. E. Bennett and family left for The Dalles where they will reside permanently.

The school observed Arbor Day ahead of time this year in order to meet the spring season properly. The school grounds were cleared and a number of rose bushes were planted. The school now has a rose garden started that will soon be a thing of beauty.

The local growers interested in strawberry culture have enlarged their acreage over last year and announce prospects for an excellent yield with repeated good quality.

Since the Mt. Hood people will soon run their power wires into town, Troutdale can offer the best of sites for industries. This last adds power to our present choice location and transportation. All we need now to put the town on the map is to organize a live Commercial club and then "boast."

The next parent-teachers club meeting will be held on the afternoon of the fourteenth inst. President Francis May Fox will try to secure for that time, the services of Mrs. Trumbull of Portland who will address the club on the value of home training.

Azalea Bell of Gresham has been visiting here for the past week.

The O. W. R. and N. Construction companies have begun to establish permanent camps here preparatory to the work of double-tracking the railroad from here east. The work will consume about two years and should bring a good trade to the town.

You and your children's eyes are safe if you wear Dr. Lowe's superior glasses. Eyes safe and price fair. He doesn't go from house to house. Consult him about your eyes and glasses at Fieldhouse's jewelry store, Wednesday, April 12. More than 20 years experience. Dozens of references.

Dr. Lowe, the optician, will be in Troutdale hotel, Thursday, Apr. 13.

PLEASANT VALLEY

G. N. Sager has just made a trip to Alderdale, Wash., looking after property interests.

Mrs. Henrich is very sick with lung fever, but Dr. Hickman, the attending physician has every hope that she will soon be on the road to recovery.

Mark Baxter has sold his place for $6,000 cash to a Mr. Johnson from Minnesota. They will remain on the place for two months. He has not decided, as yet, where he will relocate. We trust that it will not be very far.

W. N. Chilcotte has rented the John Thomas farm for one year.

A new route has been located for another power cable line through Pleasant Valley. No cedar poles will be used this time, steel towers will be erected upon a concrete foundation. This mode is a new departure and will not be as unsightly as the old-fashioned pole system. The towers will be fully five hundred feet apart.

Mr. J. C. Neppach and family of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Matt. Lutz of Seattle, were guests of their cousin, Martin Kronenberg, Thursday.

The funeral of Andrew Zenger was held Wednesday afternoon from his residence and followed to his last resting place by quite a large circle of friends and relatives. Six of his little schoolmates acted as pallbearers. As he was taken from his home the school bell was tolled. Both schools were closed in respect to him. At the church his little schoolmates sang a pretty and appropriate hymn entitled, "Not Dead, but Sleeping," which made it very effective. From there he was borne to his last resting place in the Gresham cemetery. His little grave was completely covered with beautiful flowers sent by loving friends, showing how he was beloved by everybody. Those acting as pallbearers were, Earl Middleton, Coe Durland, Victor Hendrickson, Glenn Harmon, Carl Hornecker, Arthur Henderson.

DECIDE

Decide, the Percheron stallion, well known in Gresham and vicinity, will make the season as follows:

Monday, at livery barn, at Sandy.

Tuesday, at E. F. Donahue's barn, Boring.

Wednesday, till Thursday noon, at Transfer barn at Gresham.

Friday and Saturday, at home barn at Cottrell.

Straus Lumber Co., Owners.

BRIDAL VEIL

There has been some snow in this vicinity recently. The hills near Butler Station, across the Columbia, were white with the beautiful down nearly to the river's edge and at Larch mountain the snow covered the entire hill as far as could be seen. At the Bridal Veil Lumber camp it was several inches deep.

The Bridal Veil Lumber company has a pay roll of about 350 men, divided into three camps. The lumber is sawed at Bridal Veil, from logs brought down by rail. The company has several locomotives an about 15 miles of logging railroad. The lumber is run down a flume to a sorting table where many men are employed to sort the lumber.

Bridal Veil is noted for one of the best paying stations between Portland and The Dalles.

Some young men from this place attended the dance at Troutdale last Saturday night.

R. T. Smith lost a fine three-year old-colt last Sunday. This is the ninth one he has lost in 13 years.

Frank Preston is putting in a few acres of potatoes.

Rev. C. C. Coop has a fine garden in but fears the late frosts will injure it. Mr. Coop expects to put an ice cream parlor here in the near future.

Mr. Hudson is busy getting his barber shop in shape. He goes to Palmer once a week.
