FAIRVIEW

W. C. Schantline and wife of Mont villa, former residents of Columbia View, have gone east on a visit to their former home in Wisconsin where their son-in-law, Dan Meyers and wife now live, who are also well known around Fairview.

Lloyd Axtell, who has been visiting his parents here, returned to Newberg last Saturday.

Some miserable miscreant entered the stable of A. Kronenberg on Sandy road Sunday night and poisoned a fine $200 mare. The timely arrival of the doctor saved her life. She is still in danger, but good hopes of her recovery. It is a perplexing question who would be so small in principle as to punish a poor dumb brute. Mr. Kronenberg does not know of having an enemy anywhere and such dastardly work at the hour of midnight is beyond all reason. The culprit would swing from a cross arm if he was known. The citizens are highly indignant over this act and no excuses will be accepted if caught.

The Watson Flagg company, which has bought out the Pacific Coast Construction company, after doing a little more repairing will move the shops from here to Spokane, Washington, to the work there where they have a million dollar contract of road building. Master Mechanic Lewis will have charge of the shops at Spokane.

J. R. Hughes, the city attorney, whose residence is in Portland has decided to spend one day if not more here in town to attend to the city's business and any other legal matters that may be brought before him. He is negotiating with J. W. Benecke for an office soon and when secured will hang out his shingle. He is a young man and from all appearances is an up-to-date attorney.

Mr. Goodnough is visiting his wife's folks, Mr. Hall, at Bairdsdale station.

The butcher shop in Fairview has closed its doors and Mr. Robertson has gone to work with his team. Too many meat wagons travelling through the country is the cause.

An item appeared in the Beaver State Herald that Rural Carrier Schram had been taken off of the Base Line and was traversing the Barr road, which is erroneous. Mr. Sahram is still traveling the Base Line with good prospects of one more mile of the Base Line added to his route in the near future.

The grading on the St. Johns cut-off has been completed and fifty men are now laying rails across the Reynolds and D. C. Powell places which put the track to No. 3 school house west, and the track is laid east, to the Legg place where a crew is putting in concrete foundation point. The pile driver is at work at various points where underground crossings are being made for stock passing to and from barn yard to pasture.

ROCKWOOD.

Mrs. Henry Schieffer of Columbia-view started for Wisconsin Monday evening to visit a sister who is a sufferer of a paralytic stroke received last December and whose health is failing fast. Mrs. Schieffer has just received word of the death of a brother in Montana. Mrs. Schieffer will spend one day in Tacoma visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. Brandis.

Mr. Horton, while working on his new house, fell from the staging Saturday last and received a fracture of a rib with other bruises which will lay him up for some time.

Ole Danielson, who has been spending the past six months on his place at Bairdsdale station building a house, digging a well and other improvements has gone to Portland to work for the summer.

Mrs. Mary Schantline of Columbia-view left last Wednesday for Wisconsin for an extended visit with her folks.

Martin Multhauf of Columbia-view had a bicycle stolen while attending the dance at Rockwood last Saturday night.

MELROSE

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry of Bridal Veil were visitors last Sunday at the home of I. T. Wood.

Carl Alder has returned from eastern Oregon where he has been at work for some time.

The teacher, Miss Alder, and pupils of Cedar school cleaned up the school grounds one day last week greatly improving their appearance.

George Hayton of Bridal Veil was at the home of his sister, Mrs. I. T. Wood, last week.

Oliver Robison has moved on the Douglass place which he has leased for three years.

H. J. Wallace was in Portland on business Monday.

W. B. Jones spent Sunday in Troutdale.

A. Dowsett and wife were in this neighborhood Sunday and incidental ly angled for fish in the Sandy.

Rev. C. C. Coop preached at Victor school house Sunday afternoon where a very interesting Sunday school is held.

Apply the Golden Rule.

Our rural mail carriers do not have the easy time that some people imagine. A little more thoughtfulness on the part of patrons would make the work more pleasant and successful. The following letter will show one or two sources of unnecessary annoyance to them.

It is strange that the human family in special the floating or transient population cannot learn the importance of addressing and having the proper address put on their mail. A stranger will come into the neighborhood, go to work for Smith or Jones, never giving any instruction to rural carrier or post master of his presence in the community. His mail will come, his name is unknown—never heard of such a man—don't know his whereabouts, and in a week or two comes out to meet the carrier with blood in his eye wanting to fight the whole post office department because he does not get his mail. Carrier tries to explain that they knew nothing of such a person and had he had his mail addressed to box number or care of person he is working for all this trouble would have been avoided and his mail would have been promptly delivered. Well, I never thought of it and I thought you knew everything as was evidenced by a man asking the other day what time the local would leave Fairview in the morning after its arrival. The carrier told him within three days' time. If the public could or would be educated to the fact that not one of the fifteen million pieces of mail which went to the dead letter office last year would have gone had they just simply put their postoffice address on the piece of mail sent out thereby saving this government millions of dollars annually and millions of dollars worth of worrying and uneasiness over mail matter. Uncle Sam prints, free of charge, on his envelopes your postoffice address with space for name to be written, and would print your name if he knew it. Yet people, or at least some, cannot see what advantage it would be to every person handling that piece of mail and above all guarantees to deliver to person addressed or return said letter to you. It is amusing and also disgusting to see the ignorance of those whom you would naturally suppose knew otherwise.

MAIL CARRIER.

Plans for Next Land Show.

Portland, Or., April 25 (Special) Plans for an Oregon land show, to be held next March, are now being developed by the Portland Commercial club. Manager Chapman believes the scheme would prove the best possible means of interesting colonists who reach Oregon at that time. Exhibits would be gathered from all the orchard districts of the state and the exhibits would be not particularly fruits but of the land itself and how it is cultivated, giving the prospective settler an object lesson in the care of the land and the successful methods of tillage.

It is thought the show will be participated in generally by the whole state and will give each section an opportunity to display its advantages. Such exposition would not only bring settlers but would also educate those already here and influence town people to settle in the rural districts.

The Georgia peach crop was nearly wiped out by freezing weather. In place of sending 7000 cars to the eastern market it will send less than 500 cars. The Tennessee peach crop is also a small one. This indicates good prices for the southern Oregon and California peach growers. There will be a bumper crop in the Rogue river valley.
