Boat Racing at Astoria

With more than 3,600 of the Columbia River fishing boats in commission at Astoria there is every evidence of sharp competition in race No. 7 during the Astoria Centennial Regatta. This is the race to which these little sailing boats are eligible and with substantial cas-prizes in sight and the rivalry incident to the claim to prowess, every skipper is determined to cross the finishing line first.

From 26 to 30 feet in length and a beam of from six to eight feet, these craft are about the most sea worthy vessels in the world. And, with accurate construction for safety, splendid sails and manned by men who know how to sail, these craft are ideal to furnish the race over the five miles sailing course which will keep them within sight o thousands during the whole race.

Every navigator on one of these little money makers will be a past master in the art of seamanship, with perfect knowledge of currents, eddies and air eccentricities. These men make their living by knowing how to sail boats and fish; make their bread and butter from knowing all the currents and channels and during the race they will use al the information they have taken years to gather.

There are more than 6,000 of these fishing boats at Astoria but many of them are equipped with motors. These will be barred from the sailing race but race No. 6 will be where these little six-horse power fishers will shine in their competition. This will not be so spectacular a race as the sailing event but it will be plenty interesting to all and especially to those who have cast aside the sails for the more economical and more adaptable motor boat. The motor equipped fishing boat race is bound to be hotly contested for the fishing season is closed this week of the Regatta and the boats will be all available without loss of time to the owners.

Ever since the adjournment of the last biennial session of the Oregon legislature there has been a rumor that the large appropriations voted for the University of Oregon Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural college would be held up through the referendum movement until the people could decide the matter at the general election in November, 1912. The time for filing referendum petitions with the secretary of state expired last Friday night and when it had been reached the only evidence of carrying out the proposed threat against the institutions was that of the petition against the first-named school, the Agricultural college having escaped; therefore, the college authorities will be enabled to perfect their plans for expending the sum thus appropriated which amounts to about $400,- 000. Several new structures will be erected on the college grounds among which might be mentioned a dairy building, a farm mechanics building, livestock judging pavillion, and horticultural building, all of which are of direct interest to all farmers.—The Pacific Homestead.

Forgetfulness.

A Perthshire farmer on his way home from market one day suddenly remembered that he had forgotten something, but what he could not recall. As he neared home the conviction increased and three times he stopped his horse and went carefully through his pocketbook in the vain endeavor to discover what he had missed. In due course he reached home and was met by his daughter, who looked at him in surprise and asked: "Why, father, what have you done with mother!"
—Selected.

An Epidemic.

"Bugs" Raymond, pitcher of the New York Giants, is a wit on the field," said the sporting editor at the Pen and Pencil club in Philadelphia.

"Raymond was disgusted one day at his team's wretched outfielding.
Batter after batter sent up high flies, and these easy balls were muffed alternately by left and center.

"'Bugs,' at the sixth muff, threw down his glove and stamped on it.
"There's an epidemic in the outfield," he said, "but, by jingo! it isn't catching." — Spectator.

It's easy enough to be pleasant.
When life flows by like a song, But the man worth while is the one who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong

For the test of the heart is trouble, And it always comes with the years;
And the smile that is worth the praises of earth
Is the smile that shines through tears.

The male hatched from an egg of the best-laying hen is likely to produce a strain of layers.
