

ELKS PLAN FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Astoria Lodge of Elks has issued a special invitation to the Grand Lodge of Elks to attend the Clam Bake which they are to give as a feature of the Astoria Centennial pageant on August 11, 12 and 13 next. E. C. Judd, who is also chairman of the Regatta committee of the Centennial, extended the invitation to the members of the Grand Lodge of Elks when they were in session at Atlantic City, just after they voted to hold the next convention at Portland.

According to the plans of the Clam Bake committee, Friday and Saturday will be devoted to attendance at the Centennial festivities.

Friday there will be a concert by Ellery's Band at Stadium, Indian war dances at Stadium and spectacular sham battle on Coxcomb Hill. Saturday, August 12, there will be a program composed of the Elks parade and Elks ceremonies at Centennial grounds, a grand military parade, United States Infantry, Artillery and Oregon National Guard, and maneuvers and reunion at Centennial grounds, followed at night by Hitt's pyrotechnical production on the water front, destruction of the "Ship Tonquin," and championship wrestling matches and boxing exhibitions in the auditorium.

Sunday there will be a big clam bake at Clatsop Beach in the afternoon and in the evening there will be a big bon fire and general jollification with no one but Elks to make up the program.

Reduced rates are in effect for all these days and the Astoria Elks are looking for a 30,000 crowd

The Bible for the Brewer

Edited by Rev. F. M. Burch.

"Do you know," said the gentleman with the red nose, "that drinking is upheld in the bible?" It does seem sometimes that the devil studies the Bible more than does the average Christian. The old rascal had quotations from its pages to present to the Saviour himself, and has been furnishing his followers with choice selections for use as excuses, these many centuries, while the average Christian can quote Shakespeare, Browning and even Rider Haggard, much better.

In the days of old, the slave holder was wont to quote scripture to excuse his nefarious business. The polygamist Mormon of our own day has carried portions of it with him on his pilgrimages to far off lands. Now, the brewer, hiding the wolf-skin with a cloak of self-righteousness, as he feels the ground slipping from beneath his feet, begins to prate of Model-license leagues of temperance and the Bible.

How passing strange that, since the Bible upholds drinking, some brewer has not advocated the keeping of a Bible on each saloon bar, for the use of its customers. What about it? We must be consistent. If the Bible offers any encouragement whatever to the liquor business, you and I, who believe its teaching, must stop our fighting and join the crowd who boost for King Alcohol. Bring in the book and let it speak for itself. Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. 1 Cor. 6: 10. Now to begin with, that looks bad for the man who drinks to excess. It might be well to make a mental note just here—every drunkard was once a man who thought he could drink, or let it alone.

"Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him, and maketh him drunken also." Hab. 2: 15. That strikes the man who sells the stuff but it also includes the man who treats, or who even urges another to drink. How is this, in the same chapter? "Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood, and stablisheth a city by iniquity." When the Almighty God pronounces 'Woe' upon a man, I want to be excused from standing in that man's position. So, under the circumstances, I am glad that I have never voted to raise revenue for a town or county through licensing saloons.

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Prov. 20: 1. You sir though, are simply advocating moderate drinking. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder. Prov. 23: 31, 32. In other words, drink unfermented grape juice (which was also called wine) all you wish to, but do not even look at fermented wine. Pretty sane advice! You will never fill one of those 100,000 drunkard's graves that are required in this nation each year, if you follow it.

Extracts From the Bible.
Be not among wine bibbers; among riotous eaters of flesh; for the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty. Prov. 23: 21.
Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness; not in chambering and wantonness; not in strife and envying. Rom. 13: 13.
It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offered, or is made weak. Rom. 14: 21.

The summer resorts around Mt. Hood have been well patronized during the past week of warm weather. The automobile road is in better condition than ever before. Three auto stage lines now make daily trips from Portland and Boring to all the mountain resorts and hundreds of people in private machines visit these places every week.

"From Portland to the mountains look out for the Outlook."

While picking blackberries east of Lents, a woman living near Gilbert found a small keg containing the corpse of a baby. A man was sitting on a stump nearby. The woman who became quite frightened ran home and when her husband came home in the evening the authorities were notified. They were out there soon but could not find any trace of the keg or man.

BORING.

The ball given by the "Live Wires" on Saturday night was a decided success. Everybody had a fine time and enjoyed the good supper and music.

The ball game on Sunday between Pleasant Home and Boring on the home ground, was a victory for Boring, the score being 7 to 4.

Charlie Palmer made a trip up to Welches on Saturday and came back on Sunday evening. He took up a load of Boringites who will have a weeks' outing during the hot weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Haley and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Turner went up to the mountains on Saturday to camp out for a week. We hope they won't catch all the fish as some of the rest of us want to catch a few of them a little later.

Miss Ruth Childs and Miss Deana Verhagen came out from Portland on Saturday evening to attend the dance and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roseboom over Sunday.

Everybody in the vicinity who has hay is busy getting it taken care of. They believe in making hay while the sun shines, even if it is 98 in the shade.

Mrs. A. L. Clawson and little son Scott from Portland visited Mrs. Frank Roseboom on Friday. In the afternoon they went out of town a couple of miles and returned with about sixty pounds of dandy cherries. Cherries are not quite so plentiful as in previous years, the rain damaging them considerable. Logan berries, raspberries and blackberries are plentiful and of fine quality.

"Uncle" Morgan has a brand new turr out to add to his livery equipment, a two-seated rig and a lively little team. Anyone wanting a nice ride, either in auto or carriage will find "uncle" is "Johnny on the spot with the goods."

Roy Roe had quite a misfortune the other day. As he stepped through the front gate a rope, which holds a pulley, striking him on the left leg just below the knee cutting it to the bone. He was confined to the house a couple of days but is able to be out on crutches now.

Several Boring people attended camp meeting at Tremont the latter part of the week and Sunday.

As "ye scribe" was passing a wheat field belonging to Mr. Andrew Vetsch, he stopped and pulled up several stalks which he measured, the shortest one was over six feet long and one was nearly seven feet. The heads were long and well filled. This will certainly be a bountiful yield.

The elocutionary entertainment given by Mrs. Marie Elliott Wave at the M. E. church on Friday night, was well attended and proved very interesting to all.

Dr. Pfifer was called out to J. B. Neals on Friday to see Mrs. Neals, who has such a severe cold. It is almost pneumonia. She is reported some better at the present writing.

Mrs. John Russel and children have returned from a week's visit with Mrs. Russel's mother, Mrs. Larson, of Oswego.

SECTION LINE

H. Ruhl has gone on a business trip to The Dalles for a few days.

The rock crusher at Kelley Butte is again running. The engine house which burned this spring has been rebuilt and the necessary repairs to the machinery made.

There was a small brush fire east of the seven-mile house on Tuesday burning over about 10 acres and for awhile endangering the road house and hayfields. It was put out before any harm was done.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY NEWS

The work of drilling has been resumed on the Stone oil well and things are moving finely. Louis Vierhus on whose place the well is located expects that oil in large quantities may be struck at any moment. The hard stratum of rock which is believed to be the oil cup has been penetrated several feet and experts are confident.

The Telegram of July 20 reports the following narrow escapes from drowning: Mrs. S. A. Dunkus of Brooklyn, Portland, nearly lost her life by drowning in the swift waters of the Clackamas river, at Gladstone, Tuesday afternoon, and had it not been for the timely arrival of Richard Freytag, a merchant of Gladstone, and his heroic efforts, Mrs. Dunkus would have died.

Mrs. Dunkus, with her two children and a woman friend from Portland, left their home in the morning to spend the day in the shade along the Clackamas. After taking lunch they decided to go in wading. The Clackamas river is treacherous and deceiving. The water is clear but in many places there are deep holes near the shore, making bathing or wading dangerous. Mrs. Dunkus, not realizing the danger, went farther into the stream until she struck one of those deep holes. She was swept from her feet and tried down rapidly.

Mrs. Richard Freytag, near her home, heard the woman's screams and called to her husband, who was waiting on a customer. Freytag, finding a long pole near the bank, tried to rescue the woman with it, but as she had already gone under the water five times she was exhausted and unable to help herself. Then Freytag leaped into the Clackamas and, seizing the woman, swam to shore with her. Before reaching it was necessary for Freytag to call for help. Several men rushed to his assistance. Mrs. Dunkus is stout and it was with trouble she was pulled out. It was some time before she was resuscitated. She was provided with dry clothing and taken to her home in Portland. Her friend was in such a nervous state it was necessary to send her to her Portland home on a car.

A Good Plan.

When you hear of good in people—tell it.

When you hear a tale of evil—quell it.

Let the goodness have the light, Put the evil out of sight. Make the world we live in bright—Live to make the big world bright.

You Can.

You can climb to the top of the loftiest hill,

If you work. You can make yourself whatsoever you will,

If you work. A faith you must have, rooted deep in your soul,

A purpose unshaken, a firm self-control;

Strive on; without ceasing; you'll reach to the goal.

If you work. —Cincinnati Enquirer.
