Pleasant Home

Owing to the inclement weather there was not as large a crowd at the drama Saturday evening as usually attend, such affairs. The play "A Cheerful Liar" was very successfully produced. S. J. Newsome directed the play and took the part of Judge Hursell, Carl Shetterly was Randolph Dearborn, the young man who eloped with Flora Boomer, who was Mildred Brower. Harry Schneider being General Boomer, who was greatly enraged by his daughter's actions. James Hillyard acted as Guy McGuffin, Albert Quay, the gold cure, Ezra Stiggins, Alice Stevens, a very attractive old maid, Mrs. Spriggins and Mrs. Alt, the troublesome Birdie Sweetlove, who very ably acted her part. The Northups furnished music between the acts and all ate peanuts, which were sold by little girls. Coffee and cake was served afterwards, followed by games.

The smallest baby girl of the Trimble triplets, who were born the 24th of October, died Saturday night at 8 o'clock. All of the babies have been in a serious condition for the past few days, but the remaining two are now better. Mrs. Trimble is at present much improved. The funeral services were conducted at the Pleasant Home cemetery Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The sympathy of all is extended to the Trimble family and it is hoped that the baby boy and girl may gain strength and health.

George Carpenter is home from Gresham where he has been carpentering for several weeks. He has secured employment at Montavilla and intends to move his family there soon.

Elmer and Wm. Beyers of Montavilla spent a few days with their uncle, A. R. Goger.

Tribute to Warren J. Howard

The following tribute to the memory of Warren J. Howard was written by his daughter-in-law, Desa A. Howard. Mr. Howard died at his home near Gresham, October 14th. An obituary of his life appeared in The Outlook of October 27.

Only a Memory.
 Only a memory of father
 And things he did on earth.
 Only a memory of him,
 Of sadness and simetimes mirth.
 We miss him, I guess we do now,
 - And things he used to do,
 Well, all will miss him greatly
 Will miss him all life through.

He died in bleak October,
 When the leaves were turning red,
 I hope he's resting now in peace,
 May flowers bloom o'er his head.
 To save our father we tried,
 But God, He called his soul away.
 He loved, he lost, and died.

His children all will miss him now
 The father who went away.
 He left them all so quickly
 They will all recall the day
 That their father's life was ended
 And turned to mortal clay.
 Though he's gone and left us here
 We'll meet again some day.
