Powell Valley

Charles Dahlquist has rented his farm to some Japs and is building a house for them to live in. Grandma Kesterson's place is also worked by Japs, who live in a cabin built for them. The Jap element is a menace to all social enterprise and should not be tolerated. This is a matter that should receive deep consideration and some means should be adopted which would check the influx of the people.

Mr. Weber is building a small house on his land, which is for the accommodation of the parties who have taken the contract to clear up the entire tract.

G. W. Metcalf is building an addition to his barn. Improvements are going on in all directions.

The Early Bird.

The sprightly hen that is always off the roost early in the morning and on hand with a fresh egg as soon as she eats her breakfast, and then goes directly to work scratching about and does not hover about the nest on a hunt for sunny spots to lay in is usually the hen which pays her board bill with interest at the end of the year. The hen you see out in the fields hunting grasshoppers when you first get out to do the chores in the morning and is sharp enough to get to the feeding place just in time for breakfast, and is sure to be at the back door when crumbs are thrown out, is the paying hen.—Globe-Democrat.
