GRESHAM

J. B. Gilmore of Hood River was in town Friday and Saturday. He is looking for a business location.

One of the pluckiest teachers in this part of Oregon is Mrs. W. R. Biddle. She is making a record for courage and ingenuity. Each school day, rain or shine, snow or sleet, she drives her little auto from her in Gresham to her school at Melrose where she is proving herself a successful teacher.

The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be a Mother's meeting and will be held in the Baptist church at 3 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. All mothers cordially invited.

J. F. Wilmarth and Hans Anderson of Boring were callers in Gresham today.

The big roof on Shattuck & Lindsey's store began leaking this morning about 6 o'clock and all hands were busy several hours shoveling ice and snow, covering up goods and placing pans to catch the water. The damage to goods is very slight. Between mail boxes. The storm beat

Norman L. Smith and Percy Smith returned yesterday from San Diego, California, where they went about two months ago on account of E. P. Smith's health. Percy is now quite helpless, his right side being badly paralyzed. He had to be helped from the sleigh. He was taken to the home of his father, N. L. Smith, where he will receive the best of care.

Children in the fifth and sixth grades were excused early this morning on account of the illness of their teacher, Miss Chenault.

Bert Thomas killed a timber wolf Sunday in the Beaver Creek section northeast of town.

W. H. Bachmeyer has accepted a position as traveling salesman with headquarters in Portland.

Every old thing with runners is brought into commission as a sleigh or sled just now, but there is a noticeable absence of bells. There are many good hills in this vicinity and the boys and girls are enjoying the novel sport of coasting.

Mrs. Bachmeyer attended a missionary board meeting in Salem last week.

Miss Frances Tucker, who left here shortly before Christmas for Illinois, was married on December 21 in Rock Island to S. E. Hartley and is now living at Gardner, Ill.

Lovers of pictures will not forget the Horace K. Turner Art Exhibit for the Gresham school from January 31 to February 2. Of these pictures the New York Post says: "Genuine artistic merit is the quality for which the pictures have been chosen, their value as an aid to general school work, although great in some cases, being a minor consideration. Old masters as well as modern artists are represented."

Attendance at school was light on Monday on account of the bad roads and severe cold. The attendance was cut down about one-third. All teachers were present except Mrs. Woodard whose home is at Montavilla. Several teachers were kept in Gresham over Sunday because of the uncertainty of train service.

If your house stands on low ground, it better be staked down for a nice little flood is headed your way.

Dudley Shattuck of Maupin, Oregon, is visiting relatives here.

W. C. Burch is home again from Southern Oregon where he has been looking after some mining interests.

Emory Roberts dropped in on his people here a day or two ago, coming from Eastern Oregon where he has been surveying. He has been making his headquarters at the Stanfield hotel of which Mr. Stuart, formerly of Gresham, is proprietor.

Geo. Kellar has returned from a visit to Castle Rock, Washington.

The council has called a special election for Saturday, February 10, for voting on the annexation of territory to the town. At a special meeting of the council last night, the following were appointed judges and clerks of election: Judges—Geo. Leslie, S. S. Thompson, W. H. Bond. Clerks—Dan Metzger, W. C. Burch. The description of the tract it is proposed to annex is found in the notice of Election in this issue.

Dr. Lowe's glasses are death to headaches.

An effort is being made by Principal Robinson to get enough boys together to form a high school orchestra. The young people who play suitable instruments are coming to the front. Among them are Glenwood Miller, cornet; Quinn Metzger, violin; Wallace Wilkinson, clarinet; Roland Quisenberry, violin; Miss Gladys Miller, piano. Principal Robinson plays the violin and is willing to help train the young people. This is thought to be a worthy move for the high school and if it can be accomplished will be of great benefit to the school and those who take part.

The Pernoctalian club, a newly organized young people's social club, gave a party and dance at the Commercial club hall last Saturday night. It was an invitation affair, attended by many young people of the town, who, notwithstanding the severe storm outside, had an enjoyable time. A short program was given consisting of a vocal solo by Miss Viola Mathews; reading by Bessie Strebin; solo by Miss Butler, and a mock trial by the boys. Willie Raney was charged with a grievously trifling offence and was found guilty and condemned to do a stunt which was perhaps more of a punishment to others than to himself. There were other amusing features which added to the general good time. The evening closed with a few dancing numbers. The chaperones were Miss Butler and Mr. Pateneude and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Aylsworth.

List of Letters.
The following list of letters remain uncalled for in the Gresham postoffice for the week ending January 7, 1912:

Letters.
Gentlemen—H. Itah, T. Odanaka. Cards—H. Itah, 3; Geo. E. Towle, A. S. Anderson, David Wieland, Frank Rodgers, Ernest R. Brown, John Greves, Kate Maloney, Miss Lend Bell, Greta Axter, Edith Catherinewood, 2.

These letters will be sent to the dead letter office on Jan. 21st, 1912, if not delivered before. In calling for the above, please say advertised, giving date of list.

Orchard Management.

An important bulletin on "Orchard Management" by Prof. C. I. Lewis has just been issued by the division of horticulture of the experiment station at the Oregon Agricultural College. It is a 96-page book illustrated by forty-one half-tone engravings, drawings and diagrams.

Opening with a discussion of Oregon as a fruit state, it covers the ground of the choice of site, clearing and preparing the land, buying the fertilizers, irrigation and pruning, profits and overproduction.

The rejuvenation of old orchards that have run down is discussed, together with the value of dwarf fruits and the choice of varieties for different localities. Pollination on problems, winter killing, frost fighting, budding and grafting and the care of the grafts are given some space, as is also the combatting of orchard pests, such as rabbits, mice and gophers.
