"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the post office at Gresham, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

The country was aroused to indignation yesterday at the report of the assassination by a band of "moonshiners" of Judge, sheriff and prosecuting attorney and the wounding of some jurors and spectators, at a trial in Hillsville, Virginia. Only one member of the court—Dexter Goad, the clerk—escaped death. This was the culmination of a long struggle on the part of the officers to bring these outlaws to time. Clerk Goad is a brother-in-law of Walker Quesinbury of Rockwood.

Gresham ought to be represented at the Rose Festival by an attractive float which would not only be an expression of commendable public spirit, but would show to the thousands who will witness the grand parade that Gresham is alive and that she invites strangers to view the beauty of her situation and the richness of her resources. The Commercial club could do nothing better than to start the ball rolling for a Gresham float.

The Rose Festival will occur in June. With the new interest being awakened in rose and floriculture generally we should be in good shape to decorate a float.

One of the first things is to decide upon a design. The Outlook invites suggestions.

Mutual Agents' Club Started.

John Brown is an enthusiast for mutual fire insurance and is rounding out twelve years of service for the Oregon Fire Relief association. Last week he met with about 20 agents and officers of mutual companies at Salem and helped organize the O. M. A. club, or the Oregon Mutual Agents' club. E. H. Anderson, a former principal of the Gresham school, is secretary-treasurer of the club. F. J. Martin, of Seattle, gave the principal address at the meeting at Salem, his subject being "The Measures of Solvency for Mutuals." Mr. Martin organized the Oregon Fire Relief association about 18 years ago, and is now secretary-manager of the Northwest Mutual Fire association of Seattle.

Training for Leaders.

"Agriculture needs men for leadership in agricultural thought and activity," said Dr. James Withycombe, addressing the Agricultural club at Oregon Agricultural College, and it is expected that this college shall do its share in supplying this class of men for the farms of Oregon.

"The field for leadership is broad and open. We need men not only possessed with the art of making two blades of grass grow where but one grew before, but men with the ability to organize, to prevent economic wastes. The master of crop distribution presents one of the greatest agricultural problems of today. Note the waste annually occurring in our state. It is estimated that the farms of Oregon produced last year commodities approximately valued at $124,000,000. Fully half of this found its way to the channels of trade, and fifty per cent of this was consumed in the cost of distribution. In other words, it cost the farmers $31,000,000 to market $62,000,000 worth of produce. This tremendous marginal difference between what the producer receives and what the consumer pays must be reduced. Conservative, intelligent agricultural organizations are the solution of the problem."

Boy Phenomenon at O. A. C.

The 17 year old boy typewriter wonder, Parker C. Woodson of New York, demonstrated to the commerce course students at the Oregon Agricultural College this week the possibilities in speed and accuracy with proper training and a good machine. He wrote 239 words a minute without mistake from a "speed sentence" and took blindfold dictation of a difficult nature at the rate of 103 words a minute. He also wrote 114 words a minute from new matter while adding mentally five columns of figures and carrying on an animated conversation.

BOOKS ON ROSE CULTURE.

A Rose Bulletin.

"He who would have beautiful roses in his garden must have beautiful roses in his heart."

Barron: Roses, and how to grow them; a manual for growing roses in the garden and under glass. Crafton. My Roses. Davidson: Unheated Greenhouse. Roses, p. 89-93.

Duncan: Mary's Garden and How it Grew. Chap. VIII. Making a Rose Garden.

Durand: The Book of Roses. Earle: Sundials and Roses of yesterday.

Ellwanger: The Rose. Henderson: Practical Floriculture.

Hoffman: Amateur's Rose book. Hole: Book about Roses.

Holman and Gibson: Roses at Portland, Ore.; how to grow them. Jekyll and Manley: Roses for English gardens.

Kemp: Landscape gardening; how to lay out a garden. p. 213-16, The Rose Garden.

Kingsley: Roses and Rose Growing.

Milliar: Book of the Rose. Parsons: Parsons on the Rose.

Pemberton: Roses, their history, development and cultivation.

Robinson: English flower garden. The new rose garden, p. 179-195. Rosa, p. 772-84.

Sanders: Roses and their Cultivation.

Thonger: The book of the Cottage Garden. Chap. V. Roses.

The following is a list of interesting and profitable books in the Gresham library:

Russell, C. E.: Business the head of the Nation.

Morgan, James: Abraham, Lincoln, the Boy and the Man.

Foster, W. T.: Essentials of Exposition and Argument; a manual for High Schools, Academies and Debating classes.

Crawshaw, W. H.: The Making of English Literature.

Stevenson, R. L.: An Inland Voyage.

Pacific Poultrycraft: A new poultry magazine added to the library, issued each month.

Best Walnut Stocks.

To determine the value of different walnut stocks, the members of the Oregon Agricultural Experiment League are making an exhaustive investigation upon which they will report to the secretary, Prof. R. D. Hetzel of the Oregon Agricultural College extension division. Blanks are being sent out, on which the members will furnish information as to the kind of soil upon which their plantings were made, the elevation, and other matters.

The league requests that each person who starts this co-operative test secure three or four seedling trees each of the California Black, American Black and English walnuts and grow these as seedlings without grafting to determine their adaptability to the conditions of that particular vicinity.

If grafted or budded trees are not bought of the nurserymen to begin with, the league is suggesting to the members that an equal number of the American Black and California Black stocks be used in the test and given identical treatment if possible. The information blanks will show at the end of the test, the kind of stock used; age of nursery trees when bought, or of seedlings when grafted; the date of grafting or budding; the percentage of grafts on each kind of stocks to grow; the average amount of growth made on each of the stocks during the first season; the age that the trees came into bearing; and the comparative size and vigor of the trees at the bearing age.

The mere list of names of owners of walnut orchards, with their addresses, will be valuable in indicating accurately the walnut growing districts of the state as developed thus far.

Import What We Could Make.

That not one barrel of the 1,500,000 barrels of Portland cement, valued at $3,000,000, used in Portland territory last year, was manufactured in the state is one of the startling statements in the new bulletin on "The Economic Mineral Resources of Oregon" by Prof. H. M. Parks of the Oregon Agricultural College school of mines, who is also director of the State Bureau of Mines, which is publishing the new work at Salem.

Although Oregon produced approximately $4,000,000 worth of geological products in 1910, more than $12,000,000 worth were imported from other states and foreign countries, over three-fourths of which could have been produced within the state. More than $4,000,000 worth of clay products, such as brick, tile, pottery, terra-cotta and fire clay materials were used in the vicinity of Portland alone last year.

LET US RAISE YOUR SALARY

Every man takes two steps that have, perhaps, greater bearing on his life than any others he may take from childhood to old age. The first is when he decides on what vocation he is going to follow. That is a very important step, but, it is not even half so important as the step he takes when he decides HOW he is going to prepare himself to follow that vocation. If you want to BE SUCCESSFUL in any line, THOROUGH PREPARATION is ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY. There is no better way to prepare for success than by taking a course in the INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS. The history of our students is a history of success. We can furnish you with recommendations from thousands of students and from numerous of the leading educators of this country that prove conclusively that we can do all we claim, and more. If you have ambition and desire to better your condition, write for information and literature on any course you may be interested in.

and but $1,000,000 worth of these were manufactured in Oregon.

California and Washington have for some years spent thousands of dollars investigating the mineral resources of their territory, while Oregon has done practically nothing in this direction. Prof. Parks advocates a more thorough knowledge of the geological resources of the state, through a careful investigation the results of which may be published to the world. Thus the eminent man, for instance, will be attracted here to develop the limestone deposits just as they have hitherto been developed in the states north and south of us through the dissemination of accurate information regarding such deposits.
