Scenic

Fred Lantz has finished his contract for painting the residence of J. R. Duncan. The work is so neatly and well done, the color so cheerful and harmonious, that it adds another beauty spot to the already beautiful Scenic.

Two carloads of potatoes were shipped from Scenic Saturday and one Tuesday.

Edith Hale was a guest of Ellen DeHaven Sunday.

Charley DeHaven, who was so severely injured last Tuesday is improving.

James Hite and wife, Jesse Hite, and Mrs. John Underwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ghrist Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sieret visited their summer home at Welches Sunday.

Raymond Miller was a Portland visitor Monday.

An accident, similar to the one that befell Mrs. W. J. Wirtz, though not so serious, occurred when a Scenic lady kicked at a dog. The dog was too quick, and the lady had a fall, the result of which at times she feels keenly. The dog was not a "houn' dawg."

GRESHAM

Kenneth Rugg, the six year old boy of F. L. Rugg, met with a painful accident last week. He was riding on the handle bars of his brother's bicycle when he fell off and broke his left arm above the wrist. He is getting along nicely.

The sixth annual convention of Presidential Postmaster's association of Oregon and Washington meets today in Portland, the convention continuing four days. Postmasters of Idaho are invited to meet with the convention. There are about 200 members. A banquet at the Hotel Portland, to be presided over by Postmaster Merrick of Portland, on Wednesday will be one of the enjoyable features. There are among the members eight or ten women postmasters.

Miss Laura V. Bulkeley received two pleasant surprises on Saturday. When she boarded the Mt. Hood train in company with Miss Emma Johnson who was to be her guest over Sunday, she was greeted by a number of her friends who had been spending the day at Bull Run. They were the Wednesday Club of Montavilla, friends, who had recently arrived and were on their annual picnic trip. Miss Bulkeley and Miss Clarissa Halle, the librarian, are also members of this club, but were unable to attend the picnic. Upon arriving home she was again surprised by finding there one of her old college friends, who had recently arrived from Spokane, Washington, to make Portland her home.

The Portland Railway, Light & Power company is putting in poles for an electric light line along Wallula avenue, which will serve the residences on that street.

A. Watson, well known in this part of the county as an auctioneer, will have charge of R. R. Carlson's new Furniture Exchange department to be located on Powell street.

Henry R. Hopkins, of Chicago, is visiting his son, Rev. Geo. F. Hopkins. He is a retired trainmaster of the Illinois Central Railway.

L. L. Kidder and wife and Miss Gilbert spent Sunday with relatives in Portland.

J. J. Wodaage spent Saturday and Sunday in Pendleton.

Albert Rodlun, of Rodlun Bros., well known sawmill men, has purchased six acres of Mrs. Osburne being the east half of her tract on the Section Line northwest of town. The price paid was $550 an acre. He expects to cut it up into residence tracts and probably will build for himself a fine residence.

Ray Todd has fixed up the new sign of the Gresham Grill and it looks very artistic.

Wm. Knighton has purchased the cleaning and pressing business of H. C. Todd and has moved into the old postoffice building recently vacated by the Gresham Millinery Emporium. Mr. Knighton is from Borleng and is well known here. He has two small boys whom he will take care of and educate. Mr. Knighton is experienced in the cleaning and tailoring business and hopes to build up a good business.

Mrs. Gordon and daughter Edith were guests of Mrs. Jas. Lawrence on Sunday and called on many Gresham friends.

C. R. Wheeler, who has had a chair in Knighton's barber shop for over a year has taken a vacation of two months and, with his wife, will go East on a visit. Ed. Collins has taken Mr. Wheeler place in the shop.

Tom Glinder thought he would relieve the monotony last week by going fishing. He went by Mt. Hood railway to Bull Run and walked 13 miles to Brightwood where he has a cottage. He spent a few days at that delightful resort and returned early this week, looking refreshed from his trip.

H. L. Goodrich, who has cleared up a fine small farm northeast of town, reports that he had new potatoes on May 31, and has had garden peas for nearly two weeks.

Mrs. A. E. Wrightman and son of Silverton are guests of Mrs. W. H. Johnson.

Miss Lottie Davis is home for her vacation after a year's study at O. A. C.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cotton, who have been touring Europe for the past few months, arrived home last Friday. Both are well and have had an enjoyable trip.

H. C. Todd and George Raney left today for Great Falls, Montana. Mr. Todd has sold his cleaning business to Wm. Knighton.

Last Sunday D. M. Roberts, E. G. Kardell, F. L. Everson and Jas. Elkington, went by auto to Welches, leaving here early in the morning and returning at evening. They had a good day fishing.

Andrew Tollyson of Troutdale is slowly improving and can walk around a little. For several weeks, since his accident, he has required very careful, constant nursing.

Clyde Hopper is assisting in Shattuck & Lindsey's store.

During the week the main streets of the town and some of the county roads around have been given the annual coating of petroleum which will effectually lay the dust for the remainder of the summer. Many are using the water to lay the dust in front of their places on the side streets. This is a luxury which our people greatly appreciate.

Miss Florence Honey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Honey, who has been attending Stout's Institute at Menomonie, Wis., arrived yesterday, and is at her home on Wallula avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Towle of Minneapolis, Minn., are visiting with the Honey families. They will return to Minneapolis in a few weeks, but later will come to make their home here.

Miss Inez Lusted is assisting in the postoffice during Mrs. McColl's attendance at the Postmaster's convention.

Will Hessel and party went fishing near Washougal, Wash., the latter part of last week and came home loaded down with beautiful rainbow trout. The largest one caught, which seems to set a record for the season, measured 21½ inches. Will is an expert with the hook and line and finds his greatest enjoyment in landing the wily trout.

There will be enough fine roses left in Gresham and vicinity next Saturday to make a good showing at the rose reception at Regner & Co.'s store. Quite a number have already expressed their intention of bringing the prize bouquet.

Unity

John Robertson of Kiester, Minnesota, is spending the week with his old friends, C. M. Oliphant and wife.

J. R. Pitts of Everett, Wash., spent Friday with his uncle, S. F. Pitts.

E. C. Wihlon and John Palmquist have finished putting up their hay and now think it is time for rain.

Quite a number from Unity are attending the Rose Festival.

S. F. Pitts has sold his duck egg to John Palmquist and is going out of the duck raising business.

C. M. Oliphant has sold his Gresham property to Daniel Wright of Indiana.

Mrs. Moore of Seattle, a sister of Milton Sandborn, who so mysteriously disappeared a few weeks ago, has written to E. J. Gradin to the effect that she has received no word as yet, from her brother.

H. C. Wihlon and Ray Palmquist spent Sunday at Springdale.

Frank Gustafson is hurrying his barn to completion.

Quite a number in Unity have purchased the self-heating flat iron of Fred Rugg.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Landon and daughter Melba, are spending the week with Mrs. Landon's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. D. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Oliphant went for an extended drive out through Clackamas county recently.
