

APPROPRIATION FOR FOUNTAIN

Steps were taken at the special council meeting last night which will probably result in the erection of an attractive, substantial fountain at the intersections of Powell and Main streets.

On recommendation of Councilman Kenney, of the Water committee it was voted to appropriate $150 towards a fund for a drinking fountain.

The matter was referred to the Water committee, consisting of Kenney, Howitt and Pateneau, with request that they obtain plans and estimates and report to the council.

This brings near the accomplishment of an object which has long been desired and needed. The Commercial club has recommended and urged this for some time. Mr. Kenney, the road supervisor has been working, partly under direction of the county commissioners to secure a drinking fountain here. Now that Bull Run water is available the time has come to install the fountain. Several citizens have lately been encouraging the move by saying they would gladly contribute towards it.

The request will be made of the county that it donate a reasonable sum toward the fountain. There is good reason to believe this will be done.

Mr. Kenney stated that he did not have a watering fountain in his whole district, and that there was urgent demand for one in Gresham. The site proposed is thought to be ideal.

STRAY SHOTS JUST MISS LITTLE GIRL

Three shots were heard early this morning in the vicinity of the houses in Cleveland's addition. On investigation, the marks of three 22 special bullets were found on the east side of Mr. Radcliff's house. One had struck the window sash sidewise and dropped to the ground, one had lodged in a studding and the other penetrated the wall, knocking off the plaster five inches above the head of little Ruth, and dropped on the bed where she was sleeping. There is no evidence of any mal-intent but an indication of careless handling of firearms.

MUCH WORK ON FAIR GROUNDS

With the time for opening the Multnomah County Fair only a little over three months away there are many who are beginning to look anxiously to see needed improvements to buildings and grounds under way.

We are assured that plans are being undertaken which will make the buildings and grounds more attractive and commodious than ever and more in keeping with the larger idea of a county fair.

The Outlook scribe has been making inquiries of the members of the fair board and finds that certain things have been agreed upon and definite work will begin soon.

A new building to be known as Machinery Hall, is contemplated; also a new horse barn. Some of the old shacks will probably be torn down and a general re-arrangement effected. An archway at the entrance will undoubtedly be erected and the ticket office will have to be moved if "Culy" street is opened. The inside of the big pavilion will be changed in its arrangements, as there are going to be so many exhibitors that all available space will be taken up for farm exhibits. With only a few exceptions there will be no other displays in the building.

There is a plan to overhaul the grounds, and the work is now under way to some extent. The horticultural gardens will be made attractive and water from the city mains will be piped all over the grounds, with fountains for public use. The grove will receive some attention, but just how much cannot be determined just now; and the electric lighting scheme will be changed somewhat.

There is every assurance that the fair grounds will be in better shape this year than ever before, and they are going to look better anyway which will be some satisfaction to our people when visitors from all over the Northwest are with us and are sure to make critical observations.

DECORATED FAIR AUTO ATTRACTS ATTENTION

While the decorated Gresham autos at the Rose Festival were not all that we had expected, those which were entered were very creditable indeed and the one advertising the county fair attracted special attention. This was D. M. Roberts' car and was made to represent a huge market basket. On the handle extending from front to rear, were the words "County Fair" in marguerites. The principal flowers used were roses, but wild flowers and ferns also entered into the decorations.

Other Gresham cars in the parade were entered by A. Meyers, S. S. Thompson, Lewis Shattuck, J. N. Clannahan and J. W. Parker and Dan Murphy.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY BUILDING ASSURED FOR GRESHAM

Ten Thousand Dollar Fund Is now Available and Portland Library Committee Is Preparing Plans. Building Can Be Ready by October 1 if Site Is Secured.

The Outlook has received word direct from the Portland Library authorities that the fund of $10,000 or more for a Carnegie library building in Gresham is now available and the plans are already being prepared by well known architects. The first draft has been made and is acceptable. It now only remains to work out the details for the building. The building as planned is said to be a most beautiful edifice. It will be constructed of stone or other durable material. The work can begin as soon as the site is available and if there is no delay the building can be ready by about October first.

All this is conditioned on the leasing of the site to the trustees of the fund. The full site as required by the committee who selected the location on Main street is demanded.

There should now be united, hearty and immediate action on the part of committee and citizens to take up the options secured on the site some months ago.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH THIS YEAR

The council at its special session last night ordered that all shooting of firecrackers and pistols be cut out, in connection with the celebration of the Fourth in Gresham.

An ordinance forbids the shooting of fireworks and firearms at all times except on proclamation of the mayor. This year the usual proclamation will not be made and the law will be strictly enforced. This was a unanimous action on the part of the council seconded it was said by nearly every citizen. While it will be a disappointment to some small boys every parent will be glad, and all who wish a safe and sane celebration can feel assurance of such at Gresham.

Sad Death of Helge Lundborn.

Helge Lundborn, who was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, Tuesday, May 28, and operated upon for appendicitis, died there Sunday, June 2. He was born in Sweden, April 22, 1890. In 1906 he came to Aberdeen, Wash., and 1908 moved with his parents to Powell Valley. He leaves to mourn his death a father, mother, four brothers, one sister and a host of friends and relatives. The funeral services were held in the Swedish Lutheran church of Powell Valley, Friday, June 7, at 2 p. m. He had made many friends during his short stay here, and had sung in the choir. He will be greatly missed among the young people.

How good it is to know that when his life was ended here, the Savior had called him home. Oh, what we might all be ready, that when he calls upon us, we may all meet again to part never more. Interment was made in the Douglass cemetery at Troutdale.

JEWELRY STORE CHANGES HANDS

W. R. Burke has purchased the jewelry business of Fred Fieldhouse and will take possession at once. Mr. Burke is recently from Clatskanie where he was in the jewelry business. He was formerly with Friedlander in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Burke were in town today looking for a house and expect to move here as soon as arrangements can be made.

Mr. Burke was elected mayor at Clatskanie last December, which office he has resigned to come here. Mr. Fieldhouse, who came from Wisconsin several years ago, will remain in Gresham. He started the jewelry store here and made a good success of the business.

Mr. Burke says he was attracted to Gresham by its favorable location and many business advantages. The Outlook bespeaks for him a growing and successful business.

LOCALITIES BID FOR CANNERY

There is much enthusiasm over the prospect of a fruit cannery somewhere in this vicinity that at least two rivals are contending for the location. During all the time that the matter has been under consideration it was supposed that Gresham held the key to the situation and every effort to have a cannery established has been with the idea uppermost that it would be located here. The capital stock that has been subscribed, amounting to over $1000, was obtained through the efforts of the local union of the Farmers' Society of Equity and a large percentage of that amount has come from other localities under the assumption that Gresham would have the cannery. So far has the affair proceeded that a piece of land has been promised here, and other available sites have been considered in the plans that are now under way.

It was only a few days ago, however, that the Gresham promoters had a rude awakening that shattered their dreams. The new town of Gillis, three miles eastward, has put in a claim for consideration and is being backed by the townsite owners and the Powell Valley Union of the Farmers' society. It was reported that Umbendenstock & Larson, owners and promoters of the Gillis town, had made an offer of $500 as a bonus. When the news was made public some of the members of the Powell Valley Union were so enthusiastic that at their meeting Tuesday afternoon they were ready to subscribe $800 toward the capital stock of the company on condition that the cannery be located at Gillis. They were restrained, however, on a promise that the matter would be fully investigated by the Board of Directors of the County Union, which will hold a meeting next Tuesday for that purpose.

The Board of Directors is composed of five members, Theo. Brugger and A. R. Lyman from Gresham, Hans Anderson of Boring, C. R. Keller of Powell Valley and W. M. Hicks of Corbett.

Upon their decision and report will probably hinge the selection of the site for the proposed cannery, and it is now that Gresham should stir itself in the effort to hold the wavering forces solid to prevent the loss of what would probably be a great enterprise. If the cannery succeeds, as there is every assurance that it will, it would be a disaster to have it located elsewhere.

From every economical standpoint there is no sound argument for letting the cannery get away from Gresham. This place is more nearly central than any other locality and has better shipping facilities than any other point. Here are stores and hotels and houses ready for occupancy, and every other accommodation that can be thought of in connection with the building up of such a business.

But there is still another feature

WORK STARTS ON M. C. RY.

Mr. E. R. Ernsberger, president, and W. G. Van Kuren, vice president of the Multnomah Central Railway, passed through Gresham yesterday afternoon accompanied by their wives, on their way from Sandy to Portland after making complete arrangements for construction of the new road from Cottrell to Sandy. Definite assurance was given that the road will be built, as the contracts for grading, bridge building and track laying will be let within the next week for the entire distance between the two places which are about six miles apart. From Cottrell to Sandy the road will pass through several well known farms including the Ruegg, McDonald, Andrews, Haughlum, Dunn, Cumings, Yerex, Strong and Mickleson places. Right of way has been fully secured and there only remains the task of building the road and beginning its operation.

The Sandy people are very enthusiastic in their welcome of the road and have more than expressed their good intentions by raising a bonus of $5,000 through the efforts of the Sandy Commercial club. The money has been paid in and is now deposited in the Clackamas County Bank subject to the conditions applying to the construction and operation of the road.

In addition to the bonus the Sandy Land company has donated the right of way for one-half mile through the town of Sandy and has further contributed three blocks for depot and shop sites.

The road will be in operation about the first of November with steam power, but will eventually be operated by electricity when power houses are built further eastward where two sites are controlled by the company and where one or more power plants will be constructed.

From Sandy eastward two preliminary surveys have been made as far as Welches, running through Salmon and Brightwood, along the south side of the Sandy river. Further than Welches the location of the road is indefinite but it will eventually be continued across the Cascades to some point in Central Oregon where it will connect with another road.

more important than all the rest: This is more nearly the fruit center of this section and that one thing alone should be considered in deciding the location of a fruit preserving plant. Growers of fruit are not disposed to haul or ship their products three or four miles further than is necessary.

To the business men of Gresham, singly and through their organized bodies, the proposition is put up—are you going to have the cannery located here?
