"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 2, 1911, at the post office at Gresham, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

The poundmaster in Portland has been ordered to catch and kill all stray dogs. Would that some one would order the Gresham poundmaster to do the same.

Seaside, which grows prize dahlias, will have a dahlia show August 24 and 25. There is a movement on foot to make Seaside known as the "Dahlia City." It is claimed that nowhere else do the flowers reach such perfection.

Oregon and Washington nurserymen, at their meeting just held, determined to wage a vigorous campaign for members during the coming year, so that when the American Association of Nurserymen meets in Portland next June, the visitors will be met by strong delegations from the two Northwest states. It is hoped to swell the enrollment of the Oregon-Washington Association of Nurserymen to 500 by next June.

Scouring Interior Oregon, picking out the best routes for a flying squadron of automobiles that will make the run to Lakeview late in August for the convention of the Central Oregon Development League, is a party of men interested, headed by C. C. Chapman, secretary of the Oregon Development League. This path-finding trip is occupying two weeks of strenuous road-finding and map-making.

Never address letters to "city." It is a bad habit, and responsible for many of the letters which go astray for which the postal clerks are blamed. A letter recently received in the Gresham postoffice was properly addressed with name, street and number, but said, "city." Only the return card on the envelop, saved it from a long journey through the cities having that street name, or from being finally sent to the dead letter office.

Outside Cities Help Portland Entertain Elks.

Community spirit was demonstrated to a remarkable extent by Oregon cities at the recent Elks convention in Portland. This was one of the most noticeable features of the gathering. The various places where Elks lodges exist made a surprisingly good showing in the big Elks parade that opened wide the eyes of Portlanders and of visitors.

Those who have believed Oregon to be a state with one city changed their minds when they saw the parade and the long column of Elks from the four corners of the state sweep along Portland's streets. The active support of the state cities made the parade the big success it proved. The occasion further proved how much Portland relies on its friends in the interior in accomplishing any really big thing.

Lafferty Declares for Roosevelt.

[Special Correspondence.]
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Declaring that not only must Roosevelt be elected president, but that a majority of progressive congressmen must also be chosen, if the country is to get relief within the next four years, Representative A. W. Lafferty, of Oregon, announces that he will support Roosevelt, and that he believes the Colonel will win a sweeping victory. Mr. Lafferty is the regular republican nominee for re-election to Congress from the third Oregon district, and is the Oregon member of the Republican national congressional committee.

"How a genuine progressive can support either Taft or Wilson is more than I can see," said Mr. Lafferty. "Dr. Wilson may be a progressive at heart, but as president he would only be a cog in the machine of the Democratic party, which is so tinctured with conservatism that we can expect nothing from it."

"What reason have we to believe that the next House, if Democratic, would be different from the present one? Until someone on answer that question, the Democratic party certainly has no right to appeal to 'Progressives demand a parcels post or a parcels express. Less than two months ago the Democratic party voted both those propositions down. Progressives also demand the physical valuation of interstate carriers, and the fixing of rates based thereon. Yet, bills for that purpose introduced in the present House by progressive Republicans, have been ignored by committee, much less has there been any good faith attempt on the part of the Democratic majority to pass such a law."

"No one will be deceived by the Baltimore platform promises to do the very things that the Democratic party during the present Congress has refused to do. It is a reflection upon the intelligence of the voters to expect them to believe that another Democratic congress would be any more progressive than the present one."

"Nothing short of a complete political revolution will put the public in charge of the machinery of the government. Roosevelt is the only man willing to lead that revolution, and I firmly believe that he will be elected."

"From ocean to ocean the special privilege men are now in control. They are charging the public with spending millions to retain the privilege of charging the public such prices as they see fit to enact. Congressmen nominated and elected by them are mere puppets in Washington. Such Congressmen do not represent the public. They fear to vote for any law interfering with special privilege, lest the power that put them in office will put them out at the next election."

Much is made of the fact, by the special privilege men, that George W. Perkins is supporting Roosevelt. Perkins is consistent in so doing, for the reason for two years past he has been publicly advocating governmental control of industrial corporations, as well as public service corporations. Perkins is far sighted enough to see that unless the public is given a fair deal, Governmental ownership is bound to come at no distant date.

"All capitalists who realize that their interests are in common with those of the public, will gladly acquiesce in the demand of the progressives that a Governmental tribunal be given the power to control all monopolies, industrial as well as carrier monopolies. To control a monopoly does not mean to make it be good or go to Sunday school. It means for the Government to stand between the monopoly and an otherwise defenseless public, and see to it that the monopoly does not charge exorbitant prices or rates. It means the putting of a limit on the prices of commodities when controlled by an absolute monopoly.

"Roosevelt has seen the remedy and the people are with him. It is not unreasonable to believe that capital will also be with him, because decent control alone will prevent chaos and disaster. Roosevelt is the greatest man since Gladstone, and I will miss my guess if he is not elected to the presidency for a second time in November, as he has a right to be under the precedents. The hackneyed remedies of Taft and Wilson, which propose to deal with the burning industrial questions of the great country by filing a few tedious lawsuits under the Sherman anti-trust law, will be thrown into the discard by the voters when the Roosevelt platform is announced at Chicago, and his campaign gets fully under way."

Tillman Reuter, who makes grain grow on the semi-arid lands of Central Oregon where none grew before does not want any one to overlook the forthcoming International Dry Farming congress to be held at Lethbridges, Alberta, October 21-26. He is collecting exhibits of the products Oregon grows by dry-farming, and as usual, expects to win the leading prizes with products of Oregon dry farms. He has got into the habit of winning firsts for this state and expects to repeat his success this year.
