"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the post office at Gresham, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Coroner's Cocktail.

Mix three chorus girls with as many men, and soak in champagne until midnight; squeeze into an auto and add a dash of joy and a drunken chauffeur; shake well and serve at seventy miles an hour.—The Gimlet.

An exchange advertises how to cure fits of sneezing. The remedy would be useless in Gresham—fits don't sneeze here.

Mrs. Florence Elwell Atkins, a national W. C. T. U. lecturer, gave a splendid address at the Baptist church Monday. She is a speaker of forcefulness and grace. She outlined the successive steps by which the W. C. T. U. have come in the training of childhood in the principles of temperance, first in the home, then by Loyal Temperance Legion organizations, then in scientific instruction in the schools, and last by the gospel temperance in the Sunday schools.

"This work" said Mrs. Atkins, "is now bearing fruit in splendid men and women who are the leaders in the fight against the saloon and the kindred evils. We have a mighty foe, but our cause is right and must ultimately win."

Outlook Appreciated.

"Our people" are coming in splendidly with renewals these days. They feel that they cannot get along without the twice-a-week visits of the Outlook. One man said this week on renewing his subscription, that he would take it if it cost him $2.00 a year instead of $1.50.

vocal endorsement to the broad, progressive, national and state platform of the Prohibition party.

"The past history of the country proves that no political party, which depends on the liquor vote for its success, can be depended upon to prohibit the liquor traffic or to enforce the laws against the same. We therefore renew our demand that the opponents of the liquor traffic get together in the only place where they can hope for success—a political party which opposes the liquor traffic.

Other resolutions favoring equal suffrage, calling the attention of parents to the conditions in our cities as set forth in the report of the vice commission, commending the governor and other officers in the law enforcement campaign, especially the action to prevent the shipment of liquor into dry territory.
