"The Linotype Way is the Way that Wins."

Official paper of the Town of Gresham, Oregon.
Official paper of the Town of Fairview, Oregon.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the post office at Gresham, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

"Let 'er buck," at Pendleton. The attendance is said to be very large and exhibits unusually fine at the great Eastern Oregon "Round-Up."

All eyes will be upon Gresham next week. Why not put our city in just as clean and attractive condition as possible? A little thought and effort on the part of each property owner or renter would make a welcome improvement.

The Portland Floral society will stand sponsor for a number of flower shows each year. A chrysanthemum display will be the first of the series and will occur in November. Another show of flowers is planned for next spring and in the late summer a dahlia show will probably be held.

ENTHUSIASM.

The coming fair will be the sixth annual exhibit at Gresham. While during these years the fair has grown in size and scope it is doubtful if any year has shown quite the "enthusiastic interest" that the first year's fair did. Then it was the talk of everyone for weeks before hand, and there was a general scurrying to find suitable things to put on exhibit. The superintendents of the various departments were swamped with articles for display. The accommodations were not as good then as now, and that fair would look small by the side of this one, yet it had that characteristic which made it longer to be remembered than any other. We believe that this is the only thing that has been wanting to make our fairs a great success. There is every indication that there will be good large displays in all departments this year. Let's be enthusiastic over the prospects of a good fair and help to make it such.

Give the Boy a Chance.

"Just two kinds of boys attend college, those who come and those who are sent." So spoke the president of an agricultural college. "With the former the faculty have no trouble. Such boys mean business and as a rule, they make their mark in the world."
"This thought should be of great assistance to the farmer confronted with the question: Shall I send my son to college? College may be the making or marring of a career—so may staying upon the farm. Every normal father desires the welfare of his children. How decide? Watch the boy! Give him a chance in the direction his taste naturally lies. Many a boy cut out to be a merchant fails because his parents won't give him a chance. Many a boy fails as a farmer because he should have been a blacksmith or a lawyer. His heart is not in the farm, therefore he can not succeed. Every normal boy is by nature better equipped for some one thing than for anything else. Here is the father's cue. If the son has a mania for making things, cultivate that mania.
"The boy will largely train himself up to a certain point. Then if he wants a college education enough to work his way more or less he may safely be trusted to make a start if he is half-hearted about being sent, it is not safe to send him. The safest college for such a boy is the agricultural college, because he will there associate largely with farmers' sons, and be in contact with farm subjects. Should he return to the farm he will not have departed so far from the farmers' line of work as he would had he been sent to a different kind of college."
At the Oregon Agricultural College last year there were 253 students who earned every cent of their expenses, 160 more who worked for half the money they spent, and 243 others who earned some part of the money for their college course.
For the boy who wishes to go into the business world, there are both two and four year courses in the school of commerce; for the boy who would like to become a blacksmith or a carpenter there are special courses in forge work and carpentry in the school of engineering; for the boy who has an appetite for electricity, surveying, mining, or road building there are also special engineering courses.
Farmers' sons and those from the fruit and cattle lands, however, are offered a wide choice of agricultural branches of training, in which they can prepare themselves either for special work in some line, or for general farming, either under the conditions of the moist western part of the state or those of the dry-farming regions in the east.

"Within ten or fifteen years the women of this country from the Pacific to the Atlantic, will be given the just and equal rights of American citizenship."

THE WAY TO WIN.

It takes a little courage
And a little self control,
And some grim determination
If you want to reach a goal.
It takes a deal of striving
And a firm and stern-set chin
No matter what the battle
If you are really out to win.

There's no easy path to glory
There's no easy road to fame;
Life, however, we may view it
Is no simple parlor game,
But its prizes call for fighting
For endurance and for grit,
For a rugged disposition
And a don't-know-when-to-quit.

You must take a blow or give one,
You must risk and you must lose,
And expect that in the struggle
You will suffer from a bruise.
But you mustn't wince or flatter
If a fight you should begin
Be a man and face the battle
That's the only way to win.

A large number of special trains will run to Pendleton from Portland to carry the thousands who will attend the Round-up, September 26-28. Other sections of the Pacific Northwest will send big delegations and Puget Sound will be well represented. Indications are that this year's show will be bigger and better both in attendance and program than ever in its history.

F. M. Gill Against Single Tax

Hon. F. M. Gill, of Estacada, who has been in the state Legislature one or two terms and is a candidate this year, and is a careful student and writer has the following to say, through the Estacada News, on the Single Tax proposition:

Do we wish to adopt the single tax? I think not. We must vote on two measures Nov. 5th which, if adopted, will give us the single tax. They are the Graduated Single Tax, ballot Nos. 364 and 365, and the Clackamas county single tax bill, Nos. 376 and 377.

In the official pamphlet and in the papers and magazines single tax is being discussed merely as a system of taxation. It seems to me we ought to look at the end aimed to be attained by the Single Taxers. Henry George, father of the single tax propaganda, says: "This simple method would satisfy every economic requirement; free labor and capital from the fetters that now oppress them (for all other taxes could be easily remitted) it would enormously increase the production of wealth; it would make distribution conform to the law of justice, dry up the springs of want and misery, elevate society from its lowest stratum; and give all their fair share in the blessings of advancing civilization."

What is this simple method? George says: "It is a very easy thing to sweep away all private ownership of land, and convert all occupiers into tenants of the state by appropriating rent." "It," says George, "is necessary only to tax land up to its full value," that is, rental value.
The land owner "would be left the absolute and unqualified possessor of his deeds of title and conveyance."
Again he says, "The only true and just solution of the problem, the only end worth aiming at, is to make ALL the land the COMMON PROPERTY of ALL the people."

Here then is the end aimed at by the single taxer. The Graduated Single Tax and the Clackamas county single tax bill would not bring these results but they are a big step that way. If we adopt them we will be asked to go still further toward the ultimate end of single tax. Single tax is not a tax reform. It is an attempt to reform or change the very foundation of society.

Do you wish to hold an empty title to your land and pay a rent to the state in place of a tax? If you do, vote for single tax. If you do not, vote against it.

Crater Lake Praised as Greatest Wonder of Continent.

That Crater Lake is the greatest scenic wonder in America was the decision of the party of seventy noted scientists who have just visited Oregon. They were amazed at the spectacle and as a result of their visit this great attraction will be widely advertised throughout the whole world. Hundreds of photographs were in the party, the pictures of Oregon's great scenic feature will appear in many scientific magazines of the world.

With a 20 per cent increase over the grain crop of last year, the Pacific Northwest states have their granaries full to the bursting point and the railroads are hustling to furnish cars enough to haul the grain to market. Receipts in the Portland yards already aggregate 800 carloads more than for a like period last year and the movement continues heavy.

Thousands of young Douglas fir trees will be planted in the forest reserves of Oregon and Washington this winter. Twelve thousand acres are to be reinforced and reseeded. For this purpose 100,000 saplings, mostly two years old, will be used, also a large quantity of seed. In the Siuslaw mountains 6,000 acres will be planted and the Mt. Hood region 3,000 acres additional.

Oregon has started to export hogs. A breeder with a stock farm near Aurora reports a sale of blooded swine to Honolulu people, where they will be used for breeding purposes. It has long been a reproach to Oregonians that the state does not produce enough pork for its own use, but this situation is being slowly overcome.

There will be things worth seeing at the Tri-County Fair, to be held at Condon, Oct. 15-17. Sherman, Morrow and Gilliam farmers will have exhibits that will show as never before the possibilities of that section of the state. The Condon Business Men's association will have full charge of the fair and it seems that each of the three counties will have large showings of products. Wheeler county has asked for space to install a collection of products that are not intended to be put in competition with the three counties but will be simply an advertising feature for Wheeler.

Prizes for agricultural and livestock exhibits amounting to $3,000 and an additional $3,000 for racing purses will be distributed at the central Oregon fair, to be held at Prineville, October 15-19. Improvements to the fair grounds have been completed and the most successful fair ever held in Crook county is anticipated.

Loggers and lumbermen are again having their inning. After a summer in which there was less loss from forest fires than for many years, the lumber market is in better condition than for a long time. Both rail and steamship business is good and indications are that the winter will be a good one for the sawmill business.

Salem and Albany are interested in the movement on foot to have the government deepen the channel of the Willamette river from Portland to Eugene. The commercial bodies will bring the matter to the attention of congress and it is hoped to increase the depth of the channel six feet by proper management of the water by building wing dams and dredging.

Asabel Smith, of Ladner, B. C., who won a silver cup valued at $1,000 at the New York Land show last year, will come to the Pacific Northwest Land Products at Portland November 18-23, with exhibits of 100 varieties of potatoes. He is confident that he will win the chief prizes and Oregon growers should bestir themselves lest he make good his threat.
