

FAIR SECRETARY MAKES REPORT

Dates Are Fixed for Next Fair Earlier. Fair Regarded Generally Successful.

Next year there will be five days of the fair, commencing on the second Tuesday in September. It was decided by the Board of Directors at a meeting held on Tuesday afternoon, and it was decided unanimously by the ten members present. All entries will close at noon on the opening day and the revised premium list will be published before the first of March, so as to give everyone an opportunity to prepare for the event.

The Board met to close up the business of last week's fair as nearly as possible. The secretary made a partial report, showing the receipts of the fair and some of the expenses. A more complete report will be made at the next meeting.

From Secretary Kardell's report the following figures have been obtained:

RECEIPTS.
Daily admission tickets	$1757.00
Season tickets	421.50
Concessions	448.70
Entry tickets	150.08
Exhibitor's tickets	34.65
Baby show	4.90
Miscellaneous	18.65
Total	$2918.18

To this sum should be added the $2000 received from the county. After all bills have been paid, including the premiums, there will be a small balance left—just about enough to pay off the interest on the mortgage against the property, which amounts to $3000. An exact statement will be made as soon as possible.

A finance committee consisting of Directors Brugger, Howitt and Roberts was appointed to examine all bills and accounts. Anything approved by them will be paid at once. This committee will act for the remainder of the year.

There were seven juvenile displays and only four premiums. As all of them were meritorious the Board awarded three more prizes of lesser value to those not receiving awards by the judge of that department.

Miss Echo Jones was awarded a special premium, equal to the first prize, for best collection of free hand drawings, no award for such a display appearing in the premium list.

Sick headache is caused by a disordered stomach. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and correct that and the headache will disappear. For sale by Gresham Drug Co., and Dealers everywhere.

Gill brothers presented an exhibit of 600 varieties of dahlias and 200 varieties of roses. They are the largest growers of dahlias west of the Mississippi. Their exhibit was the most beautiful feature of the fair and lent a tone of sweetness to the large hall that filled one with cheer on first entry.

Saves Leg of Boy.
"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctor's treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25 cents at all Druggists.

Chicken Pie Supper
The Rebecca Lodge of Rockwood will give a chicken pie supper, Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, in the Macabee hall. Card games will be the feature of the evening. Everybody invited. *66

MANY BABIES WIN PRIZES

D. C. ASHMUN.
THE BABY SHOW

There were blue-eyed babies and brown;

They were the sweetest and dearest in town;

Some laughed, some cried, others only looked down

But the sunshine of home rested in even the frown.

No mother all day, I'm bound to declare,

Thought that baby ought not to be there.

Her baby, a jewel, the purest of all

Should have the first prize to hang on the wall.

I could see in the eye, as I gazed o'er the crowd,

Each mother was sure it would be allowed

To the sweet little babe, her own little bright,

That was prettier to her than gold en sunlight.

And when the judges, with cold squinting eye,

Passed her sweet jewel without e'en a sigh

Fell my heart heavy as a lump of cold lead,

While the fond mother sank with a turn of her head.

To see the mother, of the cherub that won

Say she'd never believe to her it would come

The pride on her face and the father's fine air,

Fairly made babies look off with a stare.

But this is not an old bachelor's dream, but poor newspaper man's effort to report a baby show and he is stuck on the start out.

There were more babies than a father in Utah could buy baby food for by seven year's labor, but they were not all prize winners because the judges ran out of prizes and some ran out of patience. The prizes awarded were as follows:

Prettiest baby under 1 year—Mrs. R. F. Gongwer, Lents, 1st prize; Mrs. T. F. Goodwin, Hillsboro, 2d; Mrs. Robt. Speer, Montavilla, 3d.

Baby under 1 year, best head of hair—Mrs. L. R. Allen, Troutdale, 1st prize; Mrs. A. Dowsett, Gresham, 2d. Fattest baby under 1 year—Mrs. C. L. White, Lents, 1st; Mrs. L. R. Allen, Troutdale, 2d.

Best dark haired baby under 3 years—Mrs. J. R. Lindsay, Boring, 1st; Mrs. R. P. Sprouse, 2d; Mrs. L. McCalm, Portland, 3d.

Best light haired baby under 3 years—Mrs. Roy Kern, Gresham, 1st; Mrs. E. G. Inglesfield, Portland, 2d; Mrs. J. Alex. Chambers, Lents, 3d.

Prettiest dark eyed baby under 2 years—Lolla Spath, Gresham, 1st; Mrs. J. B. Kellough, Portland, 2d.

Prettiest light eyed baby under 2 years—Mrs. B. Mathews, Gresham, 1st; Mrs. R. L. Robertson, Cleone, 2d; Mrs. T. J. Cruder, Lents, 3d.

They are small boned for their size, have a fine silky coat, rich elastic skin, and other attractive

OUTLOOK DELAYED BY ACCIDENT TO POWER

The Outlook has been delayed and this issue reduced on account of the absence of electric power since Saturday evening. The Outlook motor was one of the first put in operation on the new 60-cycle current supplied by the P. R. L. & P. Co., since the burning out of the transformers Saturday night which supplied the town with 33-cycle juice. Not a motor was turned in until Tuesday evening.

The company is rather to be commended for promptness in replacing the old motors and making the necessary changes to adapt machinery to the new current with its differences in speed.

As all the Outlook machinery, both linotype and presses, are run by electricity nothing could be done on Tuesday's issue until Tuesday evening, the time it should have been in the mails. As it is necessary to mail a Tuesday's issue this one is being sent out in order to meetall requirements

A great deal of news matter and correspondence has accumulated, much matter pertaining to the fair, which will appear in Friday's issue.

The P. R. L. & P. Co. has had a force of men working to make the changes of motors and lines to put the wheels to turning again in the various shops, dentist's office, feed mill, schoolhouse and other places in Gresham.

MANY PRIZE-WINNERS IN LIVESTOCK EXHIBIT

Gresham nestles down in the center of a beautiful valley devoted to diversified farming with a decided tendency toward dairy farming. While the time is not far distant when it will give place to small intensified farms the present time is demonstrating untold future possibilities.

The showing of livestock this year was not as large as it ought to have been, yet it showed the class and disposition of the farmers. Every exhibit was that of high grade, pure bred stock selected for quality regardless of cost or effort to secure the best.

The first to attract attention in the display was that of T. Brugger of this city. Mr. Brugger has made a specialty of raising Brown Swiss cattle. It is a well known fact that Switzerland stands pre-eminently at the head of European milk and dairy sections, and the Brown Swiss has proven the prize winners on most occasions especially at Paris and Hamburg. Their native home is in the famed center of Schwyz, which is noted for its dairy industry. In 1869, Henry M. Clark of Belmont, Mass., saw the Brown Swiss cattle and after due investigation purchased and shipped to America seven heifers and a bull. From this importation 200 animals sprang and their merits so attracted attention and demand that in 1882 Nelson B. Scott of Worcester, Mass., and G. W. Harris of Wethersfield, Conn., made a second importation of a carefully selected herd of ten animals, nine heifers and one bull. In 1883 another importation added to the herd, since then the importation has been more general and the demand has grown as the knowledge of their merits spread.

It is claimed this breed is of oriental origin. It is characteristic of the Brown Swiss cows to show high degree of efficiency in converting feed into milk or flesh and a freedom from nervous disorder, something of the utmost importance to the dairyman.

They are small boned for their size, have a fine silky coat, rich elastic skin, and other attractive dairy points. The cows are so plump and compact that they appear smaller than they really are. An average herd of cows in milking condition weighs on an average of about 1300 or 1400 pounds, each. Bulls in good condition average from 1500 to 2500 pounds each. The Swiss cattle are hardy and active. Many cows yielding from 60 to 80 pounds of milk daily which is rich in butterfat and of excellent quality.

Mr. Brugger's exhibit and prizes were as follows, including name and number:

Mark, No. 3322—Bull, 1 year or over, 1st prize; Puss, No. 3352—cow, 3 years or over, 1st prize; Susan, No. 4012—cow, 3 years or over, 2d; Sarnen, No. 5497—heifer, 1 year old, 1st; Mouse, No. 5439—heifer, 1 year old, 2d.

David McKeown, also of Gresham, came next with the well known Holstein bred cattle and a good showing of horses. His exhibit and prizes ranged as follows:

Nancy—mare, 3 years or over, 1st prize; Kate—mare, 3 years or over, 2d; mare with foal at side, 1st; horse colt, under 1 year, 1st; farm team over 2600, 1st; Plumb Prince, No. 15095—Bull, 2 years or over, 1st; Sir Oregon Calantha, No. 86453—bull, 1 year or under, 1st; Rilla Canary, No. 122,294—cow, 3 years or over, 1st; Queen Phoeba Veeman—heifer over 1 year, 1st; Cornucopia, heifer over 1 year, 2d; Violet Blossom Fayne, calf under 1 year, 1st.

First and second sweepstakes on bull and first on cow.

J. F. Barns of Lents, the well known fruit grower had his prize-winning Durrock swine and took all the prizes in that class. His herd are all registered and none are better in the Durrock class.

Chas. Cleveland was on hand with a fine showing of Jersey cattle, Essex hogs, Dorseth Horn sheep, Shetland ponies, all registered, and of which he is an extensive breeder. Mr. Cleveland's herd is too well known to need a lengthy comment, but his showing was a most satisfactory one.

SANDY PEOPLE 'DOING THINGS'

SANDY, Oct. 7.—Work is progressing in the new camp of the Firwood Lumber Co., on the DeShazer place. Foundations for the engine and machinery have been built, the engine and some machinery placed and the mill building is going up.

C. W. Stuart of Portland was in Sandy on business Friday and Saturday.

C. A. Hill, formerly of Gresham, has rented the Cassedy place opposite the M. E. church and expects to move in soon.

Krebs & Miller, the contractors and builders, have about finished their work on C. W. Canning's house at Kelso and will soon begin building a new residence for Max Thomas at Bull Run.

The city council held its regular meeting Monday evening. As the September meeting was postponed and important matters are up for consideration this meeting was a spirited and interesting one.

On the first of the month the old firm of Bornstedt Bros. was bought by J. E. Rundell and J. Scales. Mr. Rundell and Mr. Scales have been associated in business for some years. They are optimistic of the future of Sandy and will enlarge and make improvements. The firm name will be Rundell & Scales and they will conduct a general merchandise business. Mr. Scales has also bought the residence of Geo. Bornstedt on Bruns street and will make his home there. George has taken a position as traveling salesman for the Ideal Candy company of Portland and expects to make Sandy a part of his territory. Ed. Bornstedt will remain in the employ of the new firm.

County surveyor Meldrum and road viewers Thompson and Dunn spent several days last week looking after county roads in this vicinity.

The mysterious stranger who was taken ill in Sandy Thursday was on Saturday taken in charge by Sheriff Mass and sent to Oregon City. The horse and buggy in which he came to town are still in Donahue & Bell's livery barn, the authorities being unable to find any trace of his owner.

Pete Swan is now employed in clearing land on the right of way of the Multnomah Central railway.

A. I. Eckelson and D. O'Donnell of the engineering corps of the Multnomah Central railway are in Portland.

Ed. Bruns has let the contract for the lathing of the house he is building on Proctor avenue to A. L. Powers of Portland.

Geo. B. O'Donnell, a new comer to Sandy has entered the employ of Henry Perret, the blacksmith.

Harry Woods spent Sunday in Gresham.

J. C. Cornog recently let a contract to clear fifteen acres on his ranch to E. F. Lockwood and H. Blake of Marshfield, work to start at once.

E. R. Ernaberger, president of the

BEST FAIR OVER; CHANGES LIKELY

Improvement in Methods Is Needed. Daily Papers Should Aid More.

E. L. THORPE.

Our greatest event of the year is over—the Multnomah County Fair—and we are settling ourselves down to the routine that was turned upside down for a whole week. It was a strenuous week for Gresham, it always is and always will be so long as we have a fair which means, we hope, indefinitely or until the cycles of time shall give us something else in its place. But we never started out to prognosticate the future, rather to convey a few impressions that came uppermost as a result of mixing with the management and the people who are mostly interested in the success of our agricultural interests.

While our pavilion was comfortably filled with a varied class of exhibits it was woefully lacking in some lines that would have been the means of making the displays more attractive. To bring about the best results and to lighten the burdens of the officers and superintendents a permanent business manager should be employed by the year and he should be appointed at once and go to work the next day. The idea of leaving everything to the public until the week before the fair and then to expect the best results is futile and negatively expensive. The salary of a competent manager would be much less than the difference that could be made in gate receipts alone to say nothing of the classy displays he would have as attractions to draw the crowds.

Then, too, the premium list is something that has to be revised every year. To leave this work to a committee of three busy men, and to expect them to make a perfect list in a week is sheer nonsense. One man with six months before him could do better work and he would be in a position to talk intelligently to those he might be soliciting for displays at next year's fair.

Then there is another idea, not a new one though for it was adopted successfully at the time of our first fair five years ago. The idea embraces the election of an executive committee from the board of directors, to include the manager, with full power to act in all matters that pertain to management and arrangements. Three persons are enough to do the present work of 15, thus lessening the expense and confusion entailed under the present system. To secure the best results the president, secretary and manager should be the personnel of the executive committee. They could work under hie direction of the board but should be allowed sufficient latitude to act independently in emergencies.

The matter of advertising a fair is getting to be a science, but there seems to be too much commercialism attached to the art on the part of the Portland dailies for the financial success of our exposition. Only those who know the business office methods of editing a big newspaper can understand that they don't care a snap for our success unless there is money in it for them. They should be shown in some way that their profits would be greater if they would attach less importance to the cash drawer and more to importance of boosting the rural districts, without which they could not exist any more than the city man who must eat to live and whose "eats" all come from the very farms that they impose an advertising tax upon in the guise of assistance for which they must have big pay or no space in their columns to mention the fair. Our experience last week in trying to get reporters and photographers here from the three big dailies of Portland shows apathy or lack of appreciation of a large and growing constituency on the very borders of the limits of the metropolis.

The matter of admissions to the fair grounds and the prices charged for the various concessions will probably be a subject of dispute for all time, but it is plain to the writer that all the fairs are charging too much for single day admissions and too much for the
