IN DOUBT. Grange road measure. DEFEATED MEASURES. To abolish capital punishment. Placing state printer on flat salary immediately. Single tax measures. Creating Cascade county.

Now Part of Portland. The suburb of Lents, heretofore the largest settlement without corporate limits, in the state and probably in the United States, is now a part of the city of Portland. Annexation was carried by only 33 majority. The annexed district covers about two square miles and contains nearly 10,000 population.

Supporters of annexation made their campaign on the ground that the district will be provided with cheaper insurance and water rates, better fire and police protection and better telephone and electric line service. The fact that the handsome school building at Lents was built by the Portland school board also entered favorably into the question of annexation. Two years ago the annexation issue was defeated by a small majority.

Card of Thanks. We wish to express our thanks for the kind sympathy and help given by the people of Gresham and Cottrell in the recent bereavement we have met in the parting with our mother.

ETTIE S. HART, CHARLES HART, B. F. HART. Dr. Lowe November 19.

MANY THINGS AT FAIRVIEW

A very interesting session of Fairview Grange, No. 344, was held Saturday, Nov. 2. The attendance was large, a number of visitors being present. The usual grange dinner with plenty of pumpkin pie was served at noon. The lecture hour under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Townsend was public. The program was well rendered and enjoyed by all. The most important feature of the program was a debate on Woman's Suffrage. Miss Ivy Cornett, Mrs. J. C. Windle and Mrs. D. W. McKay, supported the affirmative and C. H. Stone, W. E. Tegart and Thomas Robinson the negative. Miss Fox and Miss Isom of the Portland library were present and gave a talk on library work.

FAIRVIEW, Nov. 7.—Postmaster Wilcox furnishes the following report of rural carriers for the month of October:

Delivered—First class 3183 pieces weight 651 pounds; second class 3896 pieces, weight 999 pounds; third class 923 pieces, weight 124 pounds; fourth class 85 pieces, weight 62; penalty matter 152 pieces, weight 63 pounds. Total pieces 8155, total weight 1313 pounds.

Collected—First class 1207 pieces, weight 24 pounds; third class 39 pieces, weight 16 pounds; fourth class 14 pieces, weight 7 pounds. Total pieces 1260. Total weight 47 pounds.

Material is on the ground, and work has commenced of lathing and plastering the city hall, post office room, and council chambers, the hall will be floored with the best flooring obtainable in Portland, and the gentlemen in charge of the work are determined to have the best dance floor in Multnomah county east of Portland. Several parties are waiting the completion in order to give the largest dance ever given in Eastern Multnomah.

Notices have been posted for a mass meeting called November 16th, 1912, for placing in nomination city officials for the ensuing term, consisting of five councilmen, mayor, recorder, treasurer and marshal. A special election will be held in December for the purpose of voting for and against amendment to city charter regarding liquor clause and is causing considerable agitation, and no doubt there will be two tickets in the field in order to secure an anti-saloon council.

The young folks congregated in the upper rooms of the schoolhouse Saturday evening to enjoy Halloween festivities such as biting the swinging apple, the doughnut, diving for submerged coins, walking the cedar log in the willow swamps, conversing with spooks, etc. Light lunch was served seasoned with Christmas candles. The social broke up at 11 o'clock and all returned home in a heavy down-pour. Our sister towns, Gresham, Rockwood and Troutdale were well represented and all in all about 150 were present.

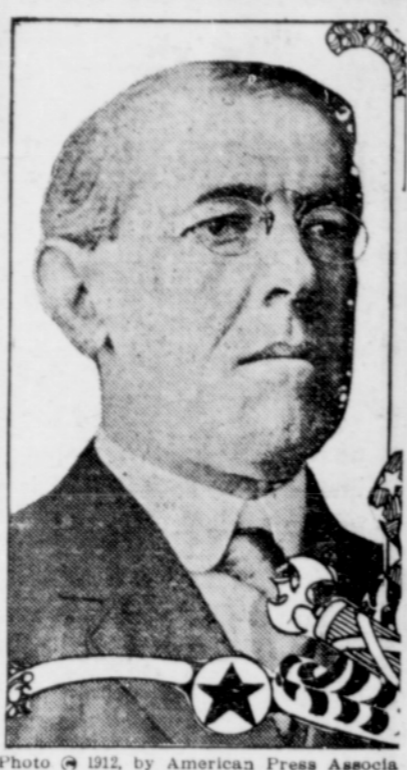

Claude Hurst has moved into and is occupying the house just vacated by Frank Axtell, corner First and Depot streets.

Martin Nelson, who has been occupying the Province house, corner of Third and Cedar, is packing his household goods preparatory of moving to Montavilla where he will be engaged in the butchering business.

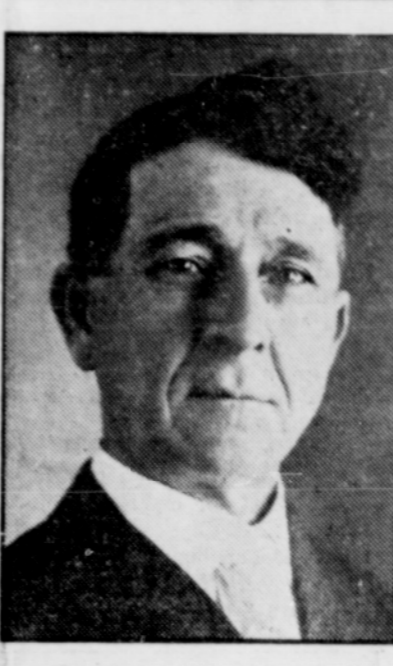

Grant Shaw has been employed by T. R. Howitt of Gresham to assist in feeding and caring for the stock this winter on the Stone farm. Richard Moller, who has been employed there the past few weeks has resigned his position.

TWO SUCCESSFUL DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

WOODROW WILSON.

HARRY LANE Elected United States Senator from Oregon.

PORT OF PORTLAND IMPROVEMENTS

In the plans now being made, by the Port of Portland for the improvement of the Willamette river, the Oregon slough and the Columbia slough as far as the eastern boundary of the city, and the whole of Multnomah county should be interested. It is unfortunate for us who live outside the city limits of Portland that we cannot vote on the question of extending the powers of the Port of Portland for it would mean considerable to Eastern Multnomah to have the Columbia slough dredged to Troutdale, a steamboat channel opened up and thousands of acres reclaimed that are the best in the state.

It is easy to foresee that such a result is sure to be brought about in a few years, but there is no authority to do the work outside the city limits. That the city of Portland is going to fix its boundaries further eastward some day is apparent because the city is growing and will cover the whole country westward from the Sandy river. The reclamation of the Columbia slough territory may then be brought about and we of this section will have a voice in the matter.

There are plans on foot now to consolidate the city and county government in one governing body which can easily be done, as in San Francisco and Denver, for instance, but it would not enlarge the city boundaries. That would require extra legislation, but a larger Portland is not far away and when it gets here we may expect to see a steamboat arriving at Troutdale soon afterward.

The greatest incentive for the enterprise is the rich garden land that would be available for the support of a greater Portland. A strip of land, now practically worthless except for pasture, two miles wide and 18 miles in length would be reclaimed. The coming of the steamboat would be a secondary importance, a mere detail, but it would be useful in taking a portion of the crops to market. Nor would one steamboat do the work when we have a city with two million people, which is sure to come before 50 years more have passed. There would be a fleet of steamboats and the shores of the waterway would be lined with docks and the greatest system of gardens and marketing of produce would unfold itself right here before us, where now the catfish and carp are, next to the pasturage, the greatest sources of wealth.

Oregonians are never in a hurry but they are enterprising, so we will wait; but its coming.

Freeman-Elliott.

John P. Freeman of Gresham, and Mrs. Adelaide Elliott of Lents were married yesterday afternoon at the court house, Judge Morrow performing the ceremony. Mr. Freeman brought his bride to her new home yesterday morning where the happy couple was accorded a pleasant reception by numerous relatives, friends and acquaintances. Mr. Freeman is well known here, having recently resigned from the rural mail service after nearly six years of active duties on several of the Gresham routes. Mrs. Freeman has been a resident of Lents for a number of years where she is well known and highly respected. Among those present at the reception last night were William Stanley and family, J. C. Stanley and family, J. M. Stanley and E. L. Thorpe and family, Ed. Spath and family, Earl Middleton, Alma Middleton, Eby Carlson, Mrs. Cora Robertson, Mrs. Viola Ingberg, Roland Quisenberry and Mabel Pullen. Congratulations and well wishes were freely accorded Mr. and Mrs. Freeman, who will continue to make their home among us.

CHERRYVILLE IS NOW POSTOFFICE

[Special Correspondence.]

We the Cherryvillians never will give up. We keep right after what we want until we get it so we have kept right after the postoffice until we got it back. Parnell Averill is to be postmaster and it is understood that he will put up a building for it and take personal charge, and we have every confidence in him that he will make a successful postmaster. However, we the Commercial club, wish to thank through the columns of the Outlook, Senator Bourne and Congressman Hawley for their good work in helping to have the office reestablished here. The Commercial club voted a letter of thanks to them at a recent meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Howard of Welches will leave in a few days for Lake county, Oregon. They intend to drive overland. They have bought a fine young team and think they will make the trip in five days. Tom Galarna, their carpenter will go with them to build a house on their ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison of Beaverton will take charge of the Howard place near Welches for three years. They are hustling people and will be sure to make good.

The High Jinks social at the school house Nov. 1st was well attended. Everyone reports a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Friel, Jr., and family took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Howard of Welches.

Mrs. J. T. Friel, Jr., spent a few days in Portland last week. She was a guest of her friends, the Howards, and had a pleasant visit.

Frank Rhodes made a business trip to Portland last Friday. Mr. Rhodes is very much afraid he will have to have his thumb amputated which he had injured some time ago.

The Commercial club will give a box social and dance at Hotel Cherryville Saturday evening, Nov. 9th. Everyone invited and a good time is promised.

Memorial services were held in the Methodist church here Sunday for W. A. Rugh, son of W. O. Rugh, who died in Gary, Ind., recently after sacrificing all the skin from his crippled leg to save the life of a young girl who was burned in a motorcycle accident. After having the skin all removed the leg was amputated at the knee. Mr. Rugh sank rapidly after the operation and died in a few days. He certainly was a hero and deserves great honor.

In Memoriam.

He Hill was born in London, England, Nov. 5, 1829. In 1854 she and an only living sister came to New Haven, Conn., to be with a brother, the three being all that remained of their father's family. In 1857 she married Isaac P. Hart of Bristol, Conn.

She was a member of the Baptist church all of her christian life. A prayerful, earnest and faithful abiding christian, and an exemplary, loving and faithful wife and mother. "Of such is the kingdom of Heaven," Matt. 19: 14.

Estacada lost its county fight but it went "dry." There is no great loss without some small gain.

States going for equal suffrage last Tuesday were Oregon, Michigan, Arizona and Kansas. There are now ten states in which women can vote. The measure lost out in Montana.

NEW HOME ON WALLULA AVE.

Probably the finest and costliest residence to be built in Gresham this year is the one now nearing completion on Wallula avenue, owned by George F. Honey. Built in the colonial style, with gambrel roof and massive pillars supporting the balconies it shows to great advantage overlooking the finest possible view of Gresham, the historical Powell Valley and further eastward to the very summit of the Cascades. There's a land in the west where the sunset

Sinks with a crimson flush O'er the heavens that herald the breaking

Of day with the morning's blush. And the morning's blush is first seen from the Honey home, and it is perfect in the rosy-tinted atmosphere as Mount Hood—

Where the sunbeams silently shedding Their rays of mellow light, Awaken the world from its slumber

And scatter the shades of night—Rises from the gloom of darkness as a Titan among the majestic mountains that stand guard along the continent's western slope from the Cordilleras to the Shastas.

Mr. Honey has shown advanced ideas in the building of a home. It is 40x46 feet, outside dimensions, and two stories in height with a cement basement under the whole building 8 feet 7 inches in the clear. It contains eleven rooms, with baths and closets and with water in all the living and sleeping apartments. With electric lights throughout it ranks with any metropolitan residence in every respect.

In its minor details the house is as perfect as money and good taste can make it. Mr. Honey has spared no expense in building and improving the surroundings the total cost being somewhere near to $7000. Built back a hundred feet from the street the house has a frontage of sloping lawn bordered by a cement and iron fence with serpentine walks and driveways, everything being neat in its simplicity and evidence of perfect taste in planning and construction. The interior is rough finished with flax fiber walls and ceilings. The floors are polished oak and the wood finishings are paneled in native fir, showing a beautiful natural grain in mahogany finish.

None of the conveniences are missing, as the arrangements disclose. Tiny closets for toilet sets are embedded in the walls of each bedroom, the doors of which are beveled plate glass mirrors. The closets each have an electric light which is turned on automatically by opening the closed door and extinguished by closing it. At the side of the stairway landing along the hall are the linen drawers and closets, all convenient to the rooms surrounding it.

At the rear of the main building is a 20-foot annex, the upper room of which is a model sleeping porch. Below this with an entrance from the outside, is Mr. Honey's "den," where he finds solace from his daily burdens in reading and otherwise amusing himself as fancy dictates.

The contractors are Witter & Robinson, of Gresham, and they are to be congratulated on their ability to erect such a home as this, for it requires skill and executive ability to satisfy a man with the discriminating tastes shown by Mr. Honey and his wife in preparing for themselves such a beautiful and palatial residence.
