

DR. FREIDMAN'S CURE NOT SURE

Letter From Eminent Physician Who Will Wait for Developments.

So much interest is being taken in the Friedman cure for tuberculosis that anything concerning it is sure to be read with avidity. Dr. J. M. Short has come into possession of a letter which he sends to the Outlook with the following introductory remarks:

"A number of interested people have from time to time asked me concerning the Friedman cure for tuberculosis. As there is some difference of opinion in press reports it is hard to arrive at the correct judgment. However when calling on Mr. H. Ruhl recently he showed me a letter from his old friend, Dr. A. J. Ochsner, of Chicago, a man in our profession of world wide fame and a man who gives a very conservative and reliable opinion, giving him his friendly opinion. If you think this would be of interest to your readers Mr. Ruhl is willing that you print it.

"You will note that he is not willing to treat his patients by the Friedman method."

Dr. Ochsner in his letter to Mr. Ruhl, who is a well-known resident of Eastern Multnomah, has very little to say in the way of encouragement for the Friedman cure, but is apparently willing to give it a thorough test before passing final judgment.

The following extract is sufficient to fully understand Dr. Ochsner's opinion at this time:

"One of my assistants came back from New York City today where he saw a large number of Dr. Friedman's patients. I gave him a personal letter of introduction so that he was permitted to see the patients and also see Dr. Friedman administer the remedy in a number of cases. He remained in New York City for four days observing cases which had been treated by Dr. Friedman some time ago and also the more recent cases. He reports that he would not be willing to place his own patients under this treatment until further demonstrations have been made and until the patients upon whom the treatment has been used have been observed for a long period of time.

"I will remain in close touch with the work and if the claims made for this form of treatment prove to be true, I will inform you."

It is a wise want ad that can keep away from page two.

NEW PRACTICAL BOOKS ON POULTRY RAISING

The library wishes to call particular attention to the books on poultry. These are practical as well as theoretical and can assist very materially in the poultry business whether for profit or pleasure.

Brigham's Progressive Poultry Culture, unlike most such books, tells us what a poultry man's personality should be, his qualifications, faults, failings, etc. The advantages and disadvantages of the business and importance of the calling also receives the attentions of the writer. He seems to have had quite a field from which to gather his material as the book was commenced in New England, continued in Maryland and completed in South Dakota.

Sando's Poultry culture is essentially a book for busy people. Mr. Sando takes up separately the construction, plans and specifications of modern poultry house, yards and fixtures and concludes with a chapter on the parasites and diseases of poultry.

Salmon's Diseases of Poultry—the author is chief of U. S. bureau of animal industry and has given special attention to the diseases encountered in the poultry yard. He has examined monographs in German, French and Italian. It should save a part of the loss which now occurs from the different diseases affecting the fowls, or at least mitigate their suffering.

Johnson's chickens and how to raise them is a short treatise on practical methods of rearing chickens and instructions for the management of incubators, etc.

The Kellerstrass way of building poultry houses, incubators, cellars, public.

MAYOR OF TROUTDALE IS FORCED TO RESIGN

S. A. Edmundson, mayor of Troutdale, was arrested by two deputy sheriffs on Saturday evening last for selling liquor to a boy from Camas. He was taken to Portland but was released on Sunday morning on his promise to resign as mayor which he has done. It is also reported that the city marshal, who was found in the saloon at the time of the arrest, will be relieved of his office as deputy sheriff and his conduct investigated.

In defense of Mr. Edmundson it is asserted that the boy was asked his age and stated that he was 22 years old. He was given a glass of beer which it is claimed he did not drink immediately, but Mr. Edmundson was arrested and taken to Portland where he was locked up being refused bail. On Sunday morning Sheriff Word told him no complaint would be made if he would resign as mayor of Troutdale, which he promised to do, and he was released.

Social at No. 8.

There will be a hand-shadow social given at No. 8 school-house near Terry next Friday evening, April 18. There will be a musical program commencing at 8 o'clock. Ladies will please bring baskets. Everybody welcome. 14

JUVENILE AND GRANGE FAIR TO BE ORGANIZED

A committee of five from Multnomah grange, No. 71, with Prof. C. M. Quicksall, of Ori, with Prof. C. M. Quicksall, of Ori, as chairman, met in their hall Saturday evening and discussed the possibility of holding a grange and juvenile fair in the hall next fall on the same date. It was finally decided to unite our efforts and extend an invitation to adjoining districts to unite with us in making an exhibit that would be a credit to this part of Multnomah county.

The date of this exhibit will be announced later. The committee was divided on whether this exhibit should be taken to the county fair at Gresham, in the hope of winning the trophy prize there.

TROUTDALE GUN CLUB DEFEATS PORTLAND

Last Sunday's practice shoot of the Gresham Gun club, held here in the forenoon, resulted as follows: D. M. Wihlon—shot at 75, broke 67; H. Roberts—shot at 50, broke 40; H. Matthes—shot at 100, broke 71; Carl Shattuck—shot at 100, broke 66; Mr. Shaw—shot at 25, broke 18.

At Troutdale the club held two shooting matches, one with Portland, the other in shooting off a tie with La Grande. The score for the event with Portland was a victory for the home team by a score of 118 to 111. Following is the individual score of the Troutdale team shooting at 25 targets: Dr. Ott 25; H. Wihlon 24; Bert Edmundson 23; George Crowley 23; H. Matthes 23.

The result of the contest with La Grande has not been received yet.

Grow Legumes—the salvation of the soil. Interesting information by addressing L. F. Shinaman, Gresham, Ore. 13 coops, appliances, etc. Plans with measurements are clearly shown with instructions as to how to carry out these plans.

The Kellerstrass Way of Raising Poultry—The author discusses the advisability of starting poultry on a large or small scale. He gives many illustrations of the method used on the Kellerstrass farm.

The Cyphers Incubator company has published a 2-volume book on Profitable Poultry Keeping. This is a general treatise which gives us an idea as to what is being done, how to start right the houses and yards, egg farms, market poultry, standardbred poultry, duck growing and the use of incubators and brooders.

Other material can be secured from the main library on request. A bulletin of special books on the subject has been prepared for the public.

GREAT SMELT RUN SEEN AGAIN IN SANDY RIVER

The Outlook's Prediction, Made Last November, Recalled. Yearly Run of Smelt Is Now Expected.

"Smelt are running in the Sandy," was the welcome information that flashed over this section of the country on Saturday morning last.

Ever since the smelt season has been at its best the Sandy has been watched daily for a verification of the prediction made on the twenty-second day of last November in the Outlook. At that time it was told to Outlook readers that a big run of smelt was to be expected to again this spring, in spite of the fact that there was a big run last year. What is more remarkable is the fact that the smelt run before this year only came in the Sandy at intervals of about six or seven years, and it became an accepted belief that the famous little fish were following an instinct that brought them to the Sandy only on stated occasions.

For many years past, however, beyond the memories of all the oldest inhabitants, a smelken scow had laid in the channel of the Sandy river directly at its outlet to the Columbia. That old scow was undoubtedly the reason that smelt did not come up the river, as the waters were spreading out over a wider surface, seeking their way out through several smaller channels which the fish were not always able to find. Once in several years, though, they would stumble upon the way into the river in their procession of following the leader and then there would be a run of them to the great delight and satisfaction of thousands who would enjoy a week's sport and store away vast quantities for future use.

About a year and a half ago that old scow of half a century past was blown out by giant powder, leaving the mouth of the Sandy free and unobstructed. The waters resumed their natural course to the Columbia and as the fish came up that stream they found it easy to enter the tributary. The big run of last year, following immediately upon the removal of the obstruction was evidence that the delicious smelt were ready to come in and be caught if the way was easy. This year's run proves that such is the case and verifies the Outlook's prediction that there would again be here on time. There is no reason to doubt but that they will come again every year hereafter, but their numbers may vary somewhat from year to year, as it has been noticed that some years are better for smelt than others, as for everything else.

It is astonishing how the news of the big run spread over the country on Saturday. Within three hours it seemed as if everybody in Eastern Multnomah knew of it and by noon the crowd began to arrive in Troutdale in every kind of conveyance, some even coming on foot. By three o'clock there were several hundred persons engaged in scooping the fish out, using every conceivable kind of dip net from fancy woven meshes of cloth or wire to punctured coal oil cans and bird cages. Strings of smelt, baskets full, sacks full and boxes full were carried away, every one who cared for them getting all he could carry. Hundreds of people merely looked on and many were the recipients of enough to last a family for a week.

Sunday was the biggest day for the pastime of catching the fish or watching others. More than a thousand persons were in Troutdale during the afternoon, some coming from many miles away. Whole families went and took their lunch, spending nearly the whole day there.

At last reports the fish are running as thickly as ever and there are many fishermen industriously plying their dip-nets laying in a store for salting and smoking as the fish are not only deemed a luxury when properly cured, but are really great savers of money, for they will take the place of cures for that purpose.

The Outlook predicts another run next year and each succeeding year, as long as the mouth of the Sandy river is kept free from obstructions.

Lest You Forget.

Come bring your wife and have the time of your life at the Forester's hall at Eagle Creek's country club. You know the rest, so that's all. Remember the date and don't be late—Saturday night, April 26. Special train leaves Gresham 9:30 p. m., returning leaves Eagle Creek 4:00 a. m. Round trip tickets 65c. Dance tickets $1. Don't forget to bring the whole family to Aysworth's for Shoes.

The Woman's Home Missionary society met last week Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lewis Shattuck, twenty-five ladies being present. The lesson review was given by Mrs. G. M. Smith. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess during the social hour. The May meeting of the church on the 14th, when they will entertain the Queen Esther circle and have the annual mite box opening. This will be a public meeting.

FAREWELL SURPRISE TO MISS LAURA DOLPH

A farewell surprise party was given to Miss Laura Dolph on Friday evening last at the home of J. W. Townsend near Fairview. Miss Dolph and her mother intend leaving for Eureka, California, next Friday, where they will probably remain for several years. Mr. Dolph and sons, Perry, left Fairview several weeks ago for the same destination and the others will join them there.

Miss Dolph was decoyed from her home by Earl Townsend with the promise of an automobile ride and an early return. It was only natural that they should stop at the Townsend home for a brief visit and that was where the surprise came in. The house was full of young people anxiously awaiting their victim and then the fun of the evening began. It was a jolly party and highly successful in every particular. The others present were: Miss Ivy Cornett, Miss Jean Lent, Miss Frances Bliss, Miss Ada Robinson, Miss Ruth Shaw, Miss Eva Townsend, Miss Gladys Bliss, Miss Vesta Torgall, Miss Rose Albrecht, Miss Rosalie Luscher, Miss Lillie Luscher, Miss Ida Balmer, Miss Josephine Townsend, Cedric Stone, Lloyd Tegart, W. E. Tegert, Earl Stanley, W. E. Townsend, Chester Kronenberg, Rev. Thomas Robinson, Andreas Albrecht, Charles Baird and Blaine Turner.

SPECIAL ELECTION ON CITY CHARTER

Troutdale will have a special election on June 10, for the purpose of adopting a new city charter. At a regular meeting of the common council, held last Thursday the matter was taken up by ordinance which was passed.

There was some opposition and it is said that further opposition will develop which will be felt on election day, but the friends of the new charter are confident that the proposed measures will win out and that the charter will be adopted.

Basket Social.

Multnomah grange will give an entertainment and basket social at their hall at Orient, April 19. Ladies bring baskets. 19.

WANT AD. IN OUTLOOK SAVED A MAN $50

Do Outlook want ads. bring results? Our advertisers say they do. An advertisement for a horse, inserted in the last issue brought several answers and a buyer at once. The "Inquire at the Outlook" ads keep us busy answering questions and giving directions. One man assured us that an ad which the other fellow put in, saved him $50. It pays to advertise in the Outlook.

Queen Esther Circle Holds Open Meeting.

There will be a public meeting of the Queen Esther circle at the M. E. church next Friday evening, April 18, to which they invite all their friends and all interested in missionary work. Miss Greta Leigh of the south, a field worker for young people, will address the meeting. There will be some musical numbers.

The Correct Corset.

The corset determines the fit of the gown; therefore, it is of prime importance to get the right corset. Why not allow us to fit you in a Spirella corset that will impart the fashionable long, slender lines; stays guaranteed not to break or rust, samples shown and measures taken or appointments made. ## FIRE COMPANIES TO FORM LEAGUE

Probable Organization of Board of Commissioners to Handle the Fire Department.

The Gresham fire department is working hard to arrange a tournament with the firemen of other places. A league will be formed, if possible, among the volunteer departments of the surrounding towns, but so far only one—that at Lents—has made any definite promise to join. Several others are taking the matter under consideration, and favorable responses are anticipated. If the league is formed a contest will be arranged, probably at Gresham where there is a good water pressure, and the people will be treated to a sample of how they used to do things in the other days before paid departments came into existence.

Another matter which is engaging the attention of the Gresham firemen is the probable organization of a board of fire commissioners. The state grants all fire exemption from road and poll tax and jury duty and a service of seven years makes the exemption for life. But there must be some authority to grant the exempt certificate which towns like Gresham do not have unless through a lawfully constituted body of delegates. Those who remain in the service for seven years may withdraw after that time and get a certificate which is something to be proud of ever after. Then, too, a board of commissioners acts as the intermediary between the firemen and the city council in all matters pertaining to the department. It is made up of members elected from the different companies and to be a member of the board is quite a distinction almost equaling that of a councilman.

Such an organization would help to maintain the right spirit among the firemen and keep them together in the hope of getting an honorable discharge at the close of their service and make them more proficient in time of need. The matter will be investigated and such a board will be organized if found practicable.

Firefighters at Fairview.

A temporary organization was affected at Fairview last night which will be the nucleus of a fire department. Ed. Heslin was named as chief; Cedric Stone, assistant and J. H. Schram, secretary. Another meeting will be held next Monday evening to perfect the organization and enroll more members.

OVERLAND AUTOMOBILE IDEAL PLEASURE CAR

Several members of the Outlook force are indebted to C. M. Zimmerman, proprietor of the Gresham garage, for an afternoon ride in one of his new Overlands yesterday. The first spin was to the Sandy bridge at Troutdale, where the sport of smelt fishing was enjoyed for half an hour. From there the party went down the Sandy road to Parkrose, thence across to the Base Line and then back to Gresham.

The new Overland is one of the finest appearing cars in use and its action on the road is perfect. Mr. Zimmerman is the only resident agent of automobiles and is making demonstrations of the Overland which are attracting much attention to this beautiful and serviceable machine.

Owens a New Ford.

Earl Townsend, who lives with his parents on the Sandy road just east of Fairview, is the proud possessor of a new Ford automobile. Earl is a steady, industrious young man who has remained on the farm and drawn wages from his father which he has saved up instead of squandering in idle dissipation or needless luxuries. His father consented to the purchase of the car, notwithstanding he has one of his own. Earl is an expert chauffeur and will take considerable enjoyment out of the use of his new machine.

The dance given at Fairview by Boyles' orchestra on Saturday evening last was one of the most pleasant affairs ever held in the new hall. It closed at 12 o'clock.
