CARP AND BASS ARE DRIVING OUT CATFISH, SAYS FAIRVIEW WRITER

FAIRVIEW, April 21—What has the largest bass ever caught here, become of the catfish. A few years ago it was no trouble at all to catch a nice mess of catfish in the early spring and all the sloughs and outlets, seemingly, were full of them. Last spring there was complaint that they would not bite as usual and nearly all that were caught, were caught at a place known to all fishermen as the outlet and a little later in the season somewhere caught in grass lake, Mud lake, first and second sloughs. This season things are different. The only real good fishing ground is at the mouth of Rock creek, where the largest and fattest catfish ever caught in Columbia sloughs are being taken this spring and not always is the fisherman sure of a catch even if he goes there but no fish are being caught in the sloughs. The only solution to this problem of the scarcity of catfish is that the carp, planted here a few years ago, have become so numerous, as is quite noticeable in all sloughs, that they and the bass are devouring the young fry and their only safety is the deep waters of the Columbia. As the carp feed in shallow water and as fast as the sloughs fill in spring, they follow out and can be speared with pitchforks, killed with clubs and caught with hooks. It was a serious mistake when they were planted here as they are a very poor quality for eating on account of small bones and the flesh has a peculiar muddy taste. They are very damaging to the early tender shoots of grass as they seem to bore down and tear the grass out by the roots. They have devoured the food for ducks and are despised by fishermen, duck hunters, as well as dairymen. While the bass is not despised so much they come in for their share of blame for the disappearance of the catfish as it is fully believed that they also devour the young fry. Blue Lake is their natural home where some nice ones are caught. Henry Moller, no doubt has the honor of landing

On last Saturday he succeeded in catching a 7½ pound one with hook and line at Blue Lake. There is a place in the creek flowing through Fairview the boys go and throw out suckers with a pitchfork. The stream seems to be fairly alive with them. It is just below the Sandy road at the foot of the Fairview hill. Why such a large amount of this particular fish congregate there is a question for some one else to answer.

It is stated on good authority that at least something is actually to be done in opening the road to the river and the news is hailed with delight. Mr. Jack Luscher and the Sun-Dial ranch have received notice to move their fences in right of way. While this will cost them several hundred dollars, as there fences reach the entire distance and that of the Sun-Dial ranch especially, as it is a sharp and hog-tight fence, they do not object as the road will be of value to the sum of several thousand dollars to them beside building one of the most important arteries of eastern Multnomah. In connection with this particular road the county and O. W. R. & N. Co. should co-operate in removing the Fairview hill, placing the road crossing under the track and then do away with this danger to vehicle travel as well as railroad travel. The dirt would be valuable in making a fill at the foot of the hill and would be of greater benefit to the city as a point of drainage or sewer system, and no doubt this matter will be seriously considered before completion of the road as it is said, that about all that can be done this season is to open the road so that it can be traveled during low water season.
