IN GRESHAM AND VICINITY

Rev. Melville T. Wire preached a memorial sermon last Sunday morning at the M. E. church, which was much enjoyed by all. The church was appropriately decorated and the music was in keeping with the occasion. A number of old soldiers and members of the W. R. C. were present.

Mr. Clanahan was taken sick with appendicitis that night, and has been under treatment there ever since. He is much improved.

Jackson Jones is feeling quite keenly the loss of a piece of his work which was evidently stolen from the workshop of the manual training class at the schoolhouse. The article in question was a pedestal about a foot high, made of mahogany and teak wood, and which was all ready for the finishing touches. It was left in a shelf, and when it disappeared he thought at first some one had hidden it for a joke, but he is now forced to believe that some one has stolen it, or that it was taken by some small child who did not realize that he was taking some one's property, or the loss that it would be to the owner. It is hoped that the article will be returned to him soon.

The Gresham Drug company is fitting up a neat little room for a soda fountain and ice cream parlor. It will be in one of the front windows and have entrances from both the drug store and telephone office.

Ever since the Thursday sales day of last winter the proprietor of the C C Store has realized that the grocery stores of Gresham could do a larger volume of trade if the prices of groceries were reduced for every day instead of for one day in each week, only. Acting on this idea the C C Store made a half page announcement in the last issue of the Outlook which will be the every day prices at that popular store on the list of goods published. It is solving the problem of the high cost of living.

Miss Helen Metzger, daughter of Mrs. Grace Quick, well known in Gresham but now living at Seaside, was a graduate from the eighth grade of the Seaside public schools last week. She was one of the class of fourteen who were successful.

Miss Mabel Pullen has been seriously ill for several days. Her early recovery is anticipated.

Bates Shattuck, of Maupin, Central Oregon, was a Gresham visitor on Saturday, renewing old acquaintances.

Samples of rhubarb, the largest measuring four and one-half feet from the root to the tip of the leaf, were received at the Outlook office yesterday from the farm of W. F. Cummins, three miles northeast of Gresham. The largest stalk measured four and three quarters of an inch in circumference. Mr. Cummins' locality is noted for rhubarb and he states that the specimens grew in an open field. He has nearly an acre and makes its culture pay handsome returns.
